Former State Representative Tom Brunner Seeks District 28B Seat

Former Representative Tom Brunner of Nisland has announced that he will be seeking the Republican Nomination for South Dakota House of Representatives for District 28B. Dist. 28B is now made up of all of Butte, Harding and the upper 1/3 of Perkins counties.

Brunner served in the House of Representatives for 14 years as Rep. from Dist. 29 which was parts of Butte, Meade and Pennington county.

With the recent redistricting, reuniting all of Butte County with District 28B he feels this is the time for Belle Fourche and Butte county to have strong and experienced leadership in the South Dakota House of Representatives.

Brunner said; "After the recent redistricting by the Legislature, I realized it was the ideal time to get back in and represent this area in the House. It's been 30 years since Butte County was chopped up, and has been reshuffled the last 3 times there was redistricting."

Brunner has served mainly on the Agriculture and Natural Resources and Education Committees, having served as chairman of each committee. He also served on and chaired several interim committees in his 14 years in the House of Reps.

Brunner lives and farms in the Nisland area. He and his wife, Quin have 7 children, and attend the Nisland Ind. Community Church. He also serves as a Director of Butte Electric Coop, S.D. Rural Electric Association and Western Dakota Tech. Board of Trustees.

Brunner adds; "I'm proud to say that over my Legislative career I have always put families first, I'm adamantly pro-life, pro-business and pro-2nd amendment. I have sponsored or co-sponsored legislation in favor of these issues. I am opposed to needless Government expansion, and feel there needs to be less Government intrusion in our lives. I am for a state Government that exists within the confines of our Constitution".

BELLE FOURCHE – During 2021 the city of Belle Fourche collected $3.7 million dollars in sales tax revenue. That figure is all-time high according to city records. It represents nearly a half-million more dollars than last year's previous all-time record.

BELLE FOURCHE – Albany Farms continues to make progress transforming the former Permian Tank plant into a food manufacturing facility with national reach. Upon completion Belle Fourche will be the center of domestic US production of ramen noodles as the company plans to complete a manufacturing plant that will produce 300,000 units per hour to be shipped nationwide.

Last week Lyle Rogalla, Albany Farms Belle Fourche Plant Supervisor, led the first of what will be weekly meetings with a dozen local area contractors who will be involved in the build out of the interior and site work on the exterior of the plant. Albany plans to invest between $100 and $230 million in the site which will include an additional manufacturing plant, construction of a massive flour mill and climate-controlled warehousing facilities.

For the past several weeks contractors have been at work removing old tank manufacturing equipment, clearing the area, cleaning the floors, and painting the interior of the building. Rogalla told the Beacon that the next step will be installing the new ramen production line equipment. "We just got notice last week that 18 of the 27 containers have been loaded on a ship and we're hoping it can be here in 5-7 weeks," Rogalla said. "What you see now as a big empty space will be crawling with people, riggers, and millwrights soon."

Rogalla said most of the equipment is coming from ports out of Taiwan. If all goes according to plan the earliest the Belle Fourche plant could see production would be June.

"It's hard to put an exact date on it," he said. "But we're hoping to have the full line laid Albany Farms B4

Tourism Magazine Returns Home

The Belle Fourche Beacon is working with Belle Fourche businesses including Chamber of Commerce members, Center of the Nation Business Association members, business that are members of both, and businesses that are members of no association.

Wherever business is located, whether on State Street, National Street, Elkhorn, Highway 34, 85, or 212 we all have a common goal and that is to promote Belle Fourche and tell people what we have to offer as a community.

The local tourism magazine has been produced the last several years by an out of town entity and the primary reasons for the realignment is to return the production to local development and use the revenues produced to enhance the local businesses that have a vested interest.

The Beacon will be employing a Managing Editor for Special Projects and a graphic designer that will be dedicated to the project.

In addition two graphic design employees have joined the Beacon team to enhance the project. BHSU Senior Cody Robinson has been working for the Beacon since Christmas break. She will continue part-time until May graduation at which time she will continue as a full time graphic design and member of the production team.

The Beacon has also employed Bailey Sadowsky who owns Shadow Sky Creative as a graphic design specialist for special projects.

The Managing Editor will coordinate the development and production with local businesses and regional Tourism promotion outlets.

Distribution will include over 15,000 copies across the region as well as development of numerous online platforms for further dissemination to tourists or people who are looking at relocation to the area.

"Divine Adjustments"

I don't know anything about watches or clocks.

I'm even mystified by the mechanics I have to go through on a thirty-day month to get my stem-wound calendar watch advanced to where the date and day are both correct.

But I do know that balance, adjustment, and good timing are three clock-talk terms. They're also three terms that need to come to mind as we are praying.

I made a major calendar adjustment this past week. I was to have spent the whole month of next January ministering in conferences and churches throughout Australia and New Zealand major cities and many conferences

The trip had been scheduled for months. I was committed. But something was wrong. The whole thing tied into the same season last spring when I made a whirlwind set of bad decisions. I have since confessed it all to the Lord, and have marveled at how He has compensated, redeemed, covered, and forgiven.

But this particular trip, this residual, lingering remnant of that season remained. It had never occurred to me that it, too, might be wrong.

It was.

Two weeks ago, while I was up early one clear and chilly morning, walking a leaf-strewn back road in Maine, praying and communing with the Lord, He told me

He didn't slap me in the face with it. But like a Master of timepieces, He gently adjusted something in my understanding. It didn't explode, it didn't introduce a recorded announcement. Nothing dramatic happened. But one small, inner sense was awakened. It stirred and I then stood up and shook violently.

My sense of unsettledness.

I knew something was wrong. If my wristwatch started chiming on my arm it wouldn't have been any clearer. Something was badly out of balance. Out of timing. Out of synch. Father, I prayed urgently, stirred in the depths of my soul as though an ocean wave had struck, what's the matter?

I didn't hear a voice, but I did receive a clear, concise impression. A message from Headquarters. Pray about the Australia trip. I did. I began then and continued for seven days. I felt freed to ask the heavenly Father to give me firm confirmation as to whether I should go or not.

The events of the days which followed are thrilling to review: (1) the peace in knowing He was going to set the balance and establish timing for the trip; (2) the joy in knowing He never abandons us to our own imperfect planning, but will signal us in time; and (3) the confidence that He would take care of things on both ends. If I went in January, He'd cover all matters at home base in California. If I stayed home, He would supply the ministry needed in Australia and New Zealand.

When the seven days were past, a powerful and precious thing took place. The Lord sent the answer. It was clear. It was sure. It was as finely tuned and perfectly understandable as the time on the face of a clock. The precision of the message brought the confi-dence you would have in setting your watch by a giant steeple timepiece maintained by a master clockmaker.

Looking back on it all this morning, my heart is filled with praise and thanksgiving to the God who keeps us in time who keeps us adjusted to His will and His way for us.

Prayer for the Day

Dear Father in heaven, accept us as your children, whose lives are under your protection and who turn to you for strength. In the midst of all the struggles and temptations in this world keep us certain of your love and goodness. Grant that we may help your name to be honored on earth and your salvation to spread over all the world. May we help that the hope you have given us brings light and strength for our own lives and for all whom you love in Jesus Christ. Amen.

Broncs Boys and Girls Basketball Drop Contests to St. Thomas More

JIM TRIMBLE news@bellefourchebeacon.com

The Broncs traveled to Rapid City on Tuesday January 4th to take on the Cavaliers in a boygirl double header. The Boys suffered a 49-39 defeat to More, while the Ladies fell by a 48-24 margin.

In the Boys contest, both teams had trouble hitting the hoop in the first half as More only led 9-5 after one quarter. The Cavaliers got hot in the second quarter as Belle continued to struggle from the field and went to the lockers with a 23-8 cushion. Good shooting by the Broncs Anthony Budmayr and Ryker Audiss in the second half allowed Belle to outscore the Cavaliers 26-17 but came up 10 points short in the final margin. Audiss led Belle with 11 points with Budmayr adding 10 and Aiden Giffin 8. Giffin led the rebounding with 8 clears and Gabe Heck dished out three assists and had two steals. "The Broncs stuck together, and we fought them well all the way to the end," said Head Coach Clay Pottorff. The Broncs skipper cited Heck for his defense and Cole Hockenbary, Anthony Staley, and Nolan Wahlfeldt for their floor play off the bench. Belle falls to 3-2 on the year while More is still undefeated at 8-0. In the JV game More came out on top 49-25. Nolan Wahlfeldt paced Belle with 7 points and Jet Jensen and Jaden Sechser added 6 each. In the C contest More got the win 59-22. Issac Voyles notched 11 points for Belle and Jordan Sandoval had 5.

The Lady Broncs ran into a stiff defense employed by the Lady Cavs which held them to 24% shooting for the night while More was able to drop in 44% of their shots in the victory. The Lady Cavs opened the game with a 15-8 lead after one and held a 23-11 score after hitting 4 three pointers in the half.

in the third period as the Cavs stretched the lead to twenty points at 35-15 and coasted in the fourth period to the victory. Chloe Crago led the Lady Broncs in scoring with 10 and Mataya Ward chipping in 7. More outrebounded the Broncs 29-24 and had 13 steals in the game. Belle only shot 15% from the 3-point arc and made 46% of their charity tosses. "We struggled on the offensive end and STM plays good defense," commented head coach Bill Burr. "We need to be more patient and look for the open player," he added. The Lady Broncs are now 3-4 on the year while More improves to 5-1. The Broncs JV team suffered their first loss of the season to STM in a close game 46-44. Mataya Ward dropped in 14 to lead Belle while Lily Nore netted 10. In the C game the little Lady Broncs came away with a 34-32 victory. Lily Nore notched 12 points for Belle and Kailey Nowowiejski had 6.

That has been a drawback of being a paper that is printed on Monday morning. Anything that happens on Monday night at City council doesn't make it into the paper until the following week.

Canadian rodeo legend Jack Daines passed away on Dec. 28 at the age of 85. Born on May 18, 1936, Daines was the second of seven sons born to parents, Snowden and Ethel Daines. At a young age, Jack started his career as a competitor, announcer, promoter and organizer/builder. He founded and grew the Innisfail Professional Rodeo into a top rodeo in Canada and it is on the PRCA circuit. He was proud to champion a true 'cowboys rodeo.' In 1956 and 1957. Daines won the Canadian Novice Saddle Bronc. He was inducted into the Canadian Rodeo Hall of Fame in 2000 and the Alberta Sports Hall of Fame as a Builder in 2009. In 1961, Daines built the Daines Ranch rodeo grounds north of Innisfail, where the Daines Ranch Pro Rodeo has been held for more than five decades. Memorial Donations in Daines' honor may be made directly to St. Marks Anglican Church, Box 6126, Innisfail, AB, T4G 1S8; to the Canadian Pro Rodeo Hall of Fame, Box 18069, RPO Shawnessy, Calgary, AB, T2Y 0K3; or to a charity of the donor's choice.

Moscow, Texas and six of these 10 horses that I bought from Hi Lo are mares. "If you noticed at the Finals, I have horses that have been there 17 years, they get some age on them," Carr said. "We have some of the ries that listeners and readers send him and incorporates them into the program. It has been on the air for more than 10 years.

This would have to come as close as any written words to explain how I see my life, despite my mistakes and missteps. You're welcome to join me at the front of the train!

In Las Vegas, stock contractor Pete Carr made news by purchasing all 10 of Hi Lo ProRocoming, but sometimes you need a bridge. I just wanted to make sure we still keep our numbers (at the NFR). We took 15 this year and if we can get back to that 25 number, I think a couple of years ago I had 27. We pride ourselves in having great aimals and that's what our company is built around. We have had a lot of success with our breeding program and buying great animals like this from other people."

At birth we boarded the train and met our parents, And we believe they will always travel on our side.

However, at some station Our parents will step down from the train, Leaving us on this journey alone.

As time goes by, Other people will board the train; And they will be significant i.e. Our siblings, friends, children, And even the love of your life.

Many will step down And leave a permanent vacuum.

Others will go so unnoticed

The Train of Life Author Unknown

That we don't realize They vacated their seats.

This train ride will be full of joy, Sorrow, fantasy, expectations, Hellos, goodbyes, and farewells.

Success consists of having a good relationship With all passengers Requiring that we give the best of ourselves.

The mystery to everyone is: We do not know at which station We ourselves will step down.

So, we must live in the best way,

Love, forgive, and offer the best of who we are.

It is important to do This because when the time comes for us to step down And leave our seat empty We should leave behind beautiful memories For those who will continue to travel on the train of life.

I wish you a joyful journey on the train of life. Reap success and give lots of love. More importantly, thank God for the journey.

Finally, I thank you For being one of the passengers on my train.

By the way, I am not planning to get off the train anytime soon But if I do, just remember I am glad you were part of my journey. -jt

GFP Commission Holds January Meeting

PIERRE, S.D.–The South Dakota Game, Fish and Parks (GFP) Commission held their January meeting at the Matthews Training Center in Pierre

on Jan. 4-5. The Commission carried over parks proposals from their December meeting and passed several other proposals, which will now be up for public comment. PARKS PROPOS-ALS

The Commission continued the discussion to allow for the cancellation of campsites and lodging facilities without fee for a period of time after a reservation is made. After that period has lapsed, a fee of one-half of the first night's camping or lodging fees would be assessed for both types of overnight use. The Commission also continued to discuss two administrative rules to align business practices and requirements for license agents in preparation of launching a new online system.

> Go Outdoors South Dakota launched December 15, 2021. This system combines the purchases of hunting and fishing licenses with our state parks camping reservations and other purchases. For more information on these proposals, visit gfp. sd.gov/commission/information/.

WILDLIFE PROPOSALS

The Commission proposed the elk and bighorn sheep hunting seasons for 2022. For more information on these proposals, visit gfp.sd.gov/commission/ information/.

Black Hills Elk - The Commission proposed to adjust the total number of available licenses from 425 "any elk" and 700 "antlerless elk" licenses (total of 1,125 licenses) to no more than 600 "any elk" and 1,200 "antlerless elk" licenses (total of 1,800 licenses). These are maximum license allocation numbers, and actual licenses to be made available to hunters will depend on population objectives and status of elk numbers.

The Commission will propose actual elk license numbers at their March meeting. Updated population objectives and the recommended number of licenses will be shared at the March Commission meeting once preliminary harvest estimates have been obtained and population modeling exercises have been completed.

The Commission also proposed

Prairie Elk - The Commission proposed to adjust the number of licenses available from 78 "any elk" and 178 "antlerless elk" licenses (total of 256 licenses) to no more than 100 "any elk" and 300 "antlerless elk" licenses (total of 400 licenses). Like the Black Hills Elk season, the Commission will propose license numbers during their March meeting. These are maximum license allocation numbers, and actual licenses to be made available to hunters will depend on population objectives and status of elk numbers. The Commission also proposed to modify Unit PRE-9A. This proposal would split the current unit and establish a new unit to include the portion of Meade County. Also proposed was to correct season dates for units PRE - 11D, PRE-35A and PRE-35B.

Archery Elk

The Commission proposed to adjust the number of licenses available from 142 "any elk" and 80 "antlerless elk" licenses (total of 222 licenses) to no more than 200 "any elk" and 150 "antlerless elk" licenses (total of 350 licenses). These are maximum license allocation numbers, and actual licenses to be made available to hunters will depend on population objectives and status of elk numbers.

The Commission will propose more exact license numbers during their March meeting.

Custer State Park Elk The Commission proposed to adjust the total number of available licenses from 9 "any elk" licenses to no more than 20 "any elk" licenses. These are maximum license allocation numbers, and actual licenses to be made available to hunters will depend on population objectives and status of elk numbers.

More exact license numbers will be proposed at their March meeting.

Custer State Park Early actual licenses to be made available to hunters will depend on population objectives and status of elk numbers.

More exact license numbers will be proposed at their March meeting.

Bighorn Sheep Season

The Commission proposed to increase the number of "ram bighorn sheep" licenses from 8 to 11. They also proposed to change the mandatory orientation meeting from "preceding the opening day of the season" to "preceding the first day of hunting by the license holder" and to eliminate Unit BHS-ZZ1 for preference points, and to allow the bighorn sheep auction license to be valid for Units 2, 4, and Custer State Park.

Public Waters

The Commission proposed to remove no boating zones and allow for non-motorized watercraft within the Waubay National Wildlife Refuge and the Waubay State Game Bird Refuge.

GFP and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS) have been working in collaboration to align state and federal regulations within the USFWS Refuge System, resulting in more recreational opportunities within the refuge boundaries.

Additionally, the Commission proposed to establish a no wake zone at a new boat ramp at Lake Poinsett State Recreation Area in Brookings County. The proposal would also modify the no wake zone at Belle Fourche Reservoir in Butte County to include all boat ramps.

Lake Francis Case Walleye Regulations

The Commission accepted a petition to remove the regulation on Lake Francis Case that requires the first four walleyes not apply in this area. The petition cited the reduced opportunity for anglers and local businesses from this current regulation. The petition will now become a formal proposal and will be available for public comment.

Missouri River Pierre Waterfowl Refuge

The Commission proposed to increase the size of the Pierre Waterfowl Refuge. The expansion of this refuge would add the area downriver from LaFramboise Island to the tip of Farm Island on Lake Sharpe. The refuge would also include from Corp Bay to the tip of Peoria Flats on Lake Oahe. The DeGrey Waterfowl Refuge would remain unchanged. This proposal was brought by the Commission in response to a petition submitted regarding this refuge.

Public Comments Currently Being Accepted

If you would like to comment on any of these proposals, visit gfp.sd.gov/forms/positions. Comments can also be mailed to 523 E. Capitol Ave Pierre, SD

To hear the discussion on these proposals, audio from the meeting is available through South Dakota Public Broadcasting and will soon be available on the GFP website as part of the meeting archive. To see the proposal in its entirety, visit gfp. sd.gov/commission/information.

To be included in the public record and to be considered by the commission, comments must include a full name and city of residence and be submitted by 11:59 p.m. on February 27

The next GFP Commission meeting will be held March 3-4 in Pierre.

Before Christmas, Gramma Ronda Cordell was given a 'heads-up' that she was going to be getting a big surprise for Christmas. Two little girls were full of glee with their secret. A few days went by. Then their mother called to say, "Darby wants to talk to you". The girl's had planned just what they were going to tell Ronda, but when one took the phone, she was a bit speechless and forgot the plan. She blurted out, "We went to the hills and cut pine boughs and put them on your fence by your mailbox and there are lights at night". Their plan was to go down some evening, when the lights are on, and drink hot chocolate, but they haven't done that yet, due to the cold, but for sure they'll have too. Ronda says, "Thank you" to the elves that came, and prettied up the entrance for

On Wednesday, Clint Zolnoski's family headed to Spearfish, where Abby spent the day with 'Papa' Gene Secrest, while Clint, Denise and Darby went on to Rapid City. Darby had a molar extracted, and they came back to spent the night at Secrest's.

Rachel Melum, her sister Sarah, and nieces Bessie and Esther, went to the Hills for a get-away, this week. It is the last week of vacation before Esther goes back to California for college. It was a great time for just the girls to have together. On Sunday, Ernie, Rachel and Tommy went to church in Baker. Junior and Shirley have been staying close to home and keeping warm. Monday was Erma Albert's birthday. She visited the chiro-

for an eight hour layover. Then finally found a direct flight from there to Atlanta. When they got there, they rented a car to go to Huntsville airport where their car was waiting with a flat tire. Then, one-way spikes in the road would not let him drive out again with the rental car to get an air kit to pump up his car's tire. The country boy was not afraid of driving across the lawn with the rental car to get out to a hardware store, so they finally got their tire aired, and made it home on Friday.

It was a great visit while they were here. On a cold but sunny day, the boys and Doug preg tested. Bobby Cordell, Sandy, Sara and Caleb Davis came and Callie and Amanda helped Julia get lunch for the hands. Little Rory stayed in, but showed his love for cows when he could see them out the door. The adult kids went over to Dan's with Sara and Caleb to perform some reenactment pictures similar to pictures they had when they were together long ago. Donna Lewis had her eye surgery in December, and now has wonderful vision in that eye. The cataract surgery was done in Billings, and she stayed a few days with her brother, there, before heading home. She has been staying home during this cold weather, and has made lots of cakes for her freezer and candy to give away, too. Dorothy Padden went out on a cold Thursday, to watch the JV and varsity boys' and girls' teams play basketball at Buffalo. They played Macintosh, the the games were very good, and Dawn took some really excellent pictures of play during those games. Charlie and Karen Odell had a quiet week. Charlie went to Belle Fourche and Spearfish on Monday for some supplies. They went to church at the Camp Crook Methodist church on Sunday, and Charlie picked up supper from the Corner Cafe. The wind chill had been at 50 below zero on one night during the week; freezing their water and keeping all vehicles from starting. The hair dryer is a great invention and Charlie got the water going again. The battery charger is another great invention, and even the vehicles soon started. Karen decided the cold weather was a good time for sewing and scanning keepsakes. Micki's family tradition is to jump in Puget Sound on New Year's Day. All four, even Murphy, jumped in with his diving suit, but his expression was not one of joy. By Tuesday, they had lots of snow there, which us quite unusual. When the snow storm got to Jeff and Amanda in Iowa, it was not so unusual, but just as deep. Too bad all the people who really know how to run this country are bartenders, cab drivers and barbers.

Feeding Hay With My Dad Pt. 2

Another story about feeding hay with my Dad.

As I mentioned before, Dad was pretty upset when I got my first team. Claimed I wouldn't use them enough to warrant the expense of them. I don't know if I proved him wrong, but in my mind I did. When I started out feeding with a team, we had Haybuster stacks of loose hay. They really weren't too bad to pitch hay off from as

I guess I know how to drive a blankety blank team of horses!"

I had been working really hard to get this team to just ease into the load when I spoke to them, so they would just creep along and the ride would be nicer. But against my better judgement, I handed dad the lines (they are called lines on a team and reins on a saddle horses) and he steps up and says, real loud, "Get up!" When the team started to ease into the load he evidently decided they needed to do it quicker! Whap, whap, went the lines on their rumps, as he hollers,"I said Get up!" Get up in deed! Next thing he was sawing on the lines to slow them down! He gets them stopped and I tell him that it is too rough to ride and pitch while they are moving so just let me pitch some off then to move ahead and stop them again. You have to understand, that at this point in the life of these horses, they would obey voice commands and stop and go as I spoke to them without ever having to pick up the lines. Well, we got them fed and of course the girls were pretty jacked up from his driving. After about two weeks of steady driving I got them calmed back down to where they they just eased into the tugs when asked to move and everything was peachy again. About that time we had another real nice sunny day and he tells me he is going to "help" me feed again. Okay. I get the girls, hook up to the wagon, we drove out into the same small lot and he tells me he is going to drive. I told him that he was NOT going to drive as it had taken me two weeks to get my horses calmed down since the last time and that they didn't need a driver. Oh, he fussed and cussed and pouted, but the feeding went way better and he didn't screw up my nice team of horses. As far as I know, that may have been the last time he went along that year. Huh, I wonder why?!!! Hope you all have a very Happy New Year!

Gramma and all the passersby to see. It's very pretty!

Curt Zolnoski, and his family, came from Rapid City to Ronda Cordell's for Christmas Eve supper and gift opening. They spent the weekend at Clint and Denise Zolnoski's. Cristen and Jayda Westling also came from Rapid City, and they were overnight Christmas Eve guests at Ronda's. They headed back after they all ate Christmas breakfast at Clint and Denise's. Jayda was to go to the Westling's family gathering for Christmas in the afternoon. Ronda went home after breakfast, to do the chores. Denise's grandparents, Gene and Marilyn Secrest, from Spearfish, Toney and Linda Hannah, and Ronda, were Christmas dinner guests at Clint and Denise's. Chad, Debby and Roudy Zolnoski made a trip to Bend, Oregon to spend Christmas with family there. They returned on New Year's Eve, and watched 2022 come in at Clint's. Hannah's were also guests, but didn't make midnight before heading home. It was too cold for Ronda to even venture anywhere on New Year's Eve. She stayed by the fire, and watched a very entertaining country music show, New Year's Eve in Nashville. Chad's family stopped by on Saturday as they were heading home.

On Friday at 9:40 pm. Ronda's phone rang. It was a couple of coyote callers, who needed a jump start. Chad and Clint Zolnoski had entered the Ekalaka Coyote Calling Contest, and were spending time this weekend calling coyotes. The weather on Saturday didn't cooperate at all for hunting. The temperature Friday at 10:00 pm. had been 34 degrees. The wind blew all day Saturday, with the thermometer dropping all day to 0 degrees that night. Cheryl Burghduff and Rueben Balderas visited and had supper with Ronda Cordell this Sunday.

practor and got allergy shots on Wednesday. She waited until Friday to celebrate her birthday at Senior Citizens, and took cake and ice cream for everyone. Bobbie had made Salisbury steak for the Seniors and Erma especially liked the biscuits. On Sunday, Dick and Erma went to church at the Catholic church, and stayed for the pot luck and Bible study afterward. Some of the younger helpers removed Christmas decorations, and put them away for the year.

Alvin and Marlee Cordell saw 20 below on their thermometer on Wednesday and 22 below on Thursday. Marlee had an eye appointment in Rapid City on Thursday. Then she stayed over in Belle Fourche to watch Barrett Cordell play basketball. Ryan is the coach for the little boys' team. The girls had been playing in Rapid City. Jay Cordell came home for the weekend, and he and Alvin watched some football. On Sunday, Alvin found a couple of coyote callers up at the Horton place, and he hoped that Clint and Chad Zolnoski got some coyotes. The coyotes have been killing deer down on the river, and you can hear them at night. With calving season coming soon, he hopes the coyotes don't decide they prefer beef to venison.

Bruce and Lynn Gustafson made a trip to the Hills, on Tuesday. The week hurried by, and they spent their time trying to stay warm. Lynn wore three or four pairs of gloves out to feed the horses, but still felt nearly frostbitten. They went to church at Little Missouri on Sunday.

Doug and Julia Davis were excited to have everyone home this week. The trouble was getting them back to their own home again. Travis and Amanda's flight from Rapid City was canceled, and they couldn't get another flight to Atlanta until Thursday. They went to Denver they were laid in layer on layer and you could just start peeling them off and pitching them on. Probably took me a week to get very good at stacking hay on a wagon bed. It's a wonder I didn't starve them poor cows to death!

After I learned to stack it on, I could get quite a jag on a wagon. I had a wagon bed that was 10 foot wide by 14 foot long. I never knew how much one of those stacks of hay weighed, but I am guessing 4 ton and I could get a half a stack on at a time.

When I made this hay wagon, I used an old running gear that had big springs on it. When empty it was terrible rough riding. When loaded it was perfect. Kind of like going from a one ton Dodge pickup to a Caddy for comfort of ride.

One winter we had calves in a small lot close to the house and they had been there for a long time. It had been pretty snowy and cold and the frozen cow pies were numerous and really made that wagon bounce which was hard on the teams shoulders and on the people riding in the wagon, when you had about a half a load on.

One nice sunny day, Dad told me he was going with me to feed. Okay, that would be fine. I got the team harnessed and hooked up and away we went out to feed these calves. Once we got thru' the gate Dad said,"I'll drive." I mentioned that the team really didn't need a driver, but he shushed me and started grumbling and making pronouncements such as, "By golly, I have driven more horses than you've ever seen before and in economic activity to federal government COVID stimulus funds washing through the economy. Experts say it takes a while for those monies to reverberate through local economies but like ripples on a pond they do tend to flatten out.

Still others say the increase is due, in part at least, to new laws in which the state of South Dakota played a major role. On June 21, 2018, The United States Supreme Court ruled 5-4 in South Dakota v. Wayfair that the states can mandate that businesses without a physical presence in a state with more than 200 transactions or $100,000 in in-state sales, can collect and remit sales taxes on transactions in the state. In other words, when you buy something on, say Amazon, the state can collect sales tax, some of which remits back to the city.

If you factor in inflation, then sales tax figures will also rise. Nationally the country is seeing the highest levels of inflation since June of 1982, according to the US Bureau of Labor Statistics. This again, economists say, is mostly due to the amount of stimulus money flowing through the economy coupled with supply-chain issues brought about by the pandemic. If inflation subsides, sales tax revenue is likely to go lower.

And then there is the great migration. South Dakota ranked in the top ten of states seeing a net inbound migration as measured by two large moving companies, U-Haul and United Van Lines. As the population of our region increases so will economic activity.

In the end, time will tell.

The initial batches of the Twisted Noodle ramen product will be sent as a trial run to their largest customers, such as Walmart. The product is then tested, and product reviews are sent back to Albany for any necessary adjustments. Rogalla, who is widely known in the food manufacturing industry, says in his experience that process can be swift or it may take a while. Once the product is approved then full production will begin.

"The real way to judge where our plant is going is when we have a real high-density of machinery per square foot, which is the way you want to balance a manufacturing operation," Rogalla said. "We will have a very fast-turn warehouse arrangement set up. And when our flour system is at full power, we'll be turning a quarter million pounds of flour a day."

In the larger interior space on the southeast side of the facility Albany plans to build a second floor over part of the structure. That will house the company's corporate offices, test kitchens and quality control department. Rogalla says there will also be a restaurant on the mezzanine level that will be open periodically for the public to come in and sample product. It will have a view through a glass window to the production floor below.

"People in the restaurant will be able to look out and see how Comments about stuff performance should be made to the Moyoe or Department Head through private correspondence or conversation. Appointed officials should make their comments regarding staff to the Mayor.

Potential Sanctions:

The Code of Ethics and Conduct provides that councilmembers may be reprimanded or formerly censured. However, the Code also provides that arring infractions could lead to other sanctions, including removal from office.

State law (SDCL § 9-8-5) provides, in pertinent part, "The council determines its rules of procedure, and may panish its members for disorderly conduct, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds of the aldermen may expel a member."

Belle Fourche City Ordinance 9.48.020 defines disorderly conduct as follows:

- A. Disorderly Conduct. It is unlawful for any person, within the corporate limits of this City, to intentionally, knowingly or recklessly:
 - 1. Uner any level, ubscene, profame, slandering or fighting words in any public place, which words have a direct tendency: in the context in which they were attered, to cause any act of immediate violence by the person or persons to whom they were addressed;
 - 2. Utter any words in a public place, which words by their very utterance inflict injury or serious annoyance to the person or seriour to whom they are addressed;
 - 3. Utter any words or perform any acts which physically abuse or threaten any person or persons in any public place, or which their ramen is made," he said.

Rogalla says the next phase of development will be to build the flour mill. Originally that was to have been in latter stages of development at the Rail and Industrial Park but the timeline for that facility has been moved up. It will rely on a supply of hard red winter and hard red spring wheat, supplied by Dakota growers, for manufacturing the noodles. Originally planned to be a moderate sized structure, the plans for the flour mill have grown with interest coming in from the surrounding ag community.

"It's going to be a gargantuan building, perhaps 300 by 600 feet," Rogalla said. "We had originally planned a smaller space but we have been approached by some strategic partners in the cattle feeding business and with the access we have to rail we can move product. I think we have a really good plan to build a very competitive and modern mill here."

Albany plans to approach the Belle Fourche Development Corporation to purchase an additional nine acres of land in the Rail Park to build a shipping and receiving station along the RCP&E tracks near the expansion of the rail transloading facility. Rogalla says they plan to build climate-controlled storage to hold optimum moisture levels in the wheat for distribution when market conditions are optimal for both Albany Farms and producers.

"If we can be a benefit to producers, it helps them and it helps us," he said. "Our product is based on wheat. And to be more integrated with a higher relationship with our producers, it's better for everybody."

There is another project that has been on Albany's radar screen lately. According to Rogalla the company is looking at building a freeze-drying manufacturing plant in the park

Opportunity to be Heard:

You will have an opportunity to address these alleged violations during the Council's next regular meeting on January 18, 2022.

At some time thereafter, the Councilmembers will determine if your actions warrant sanction.

if they can find the space. With the city's proximity to cattle and ag producers it was a "no-brainer" investment in the community, according to Rogalla. Freeze-dried proteins would be integrated into Albany's product through a proprietary process, but the market may be larger.

"The northwestern part of the United States needs a huge freeze-dried facility," he said. "We have uses for it in our products and we also have the energy for it. It's a logical fit. We know how to do it and we know what to do."

Rogalla, who built a career working with national brands through Western States Machinery in the food processing and equipment business, says a successful plant is built upon people who can be strategic partners for decades. And to that end, Rogalla has set about to build relationships with local contractors and suppliers.

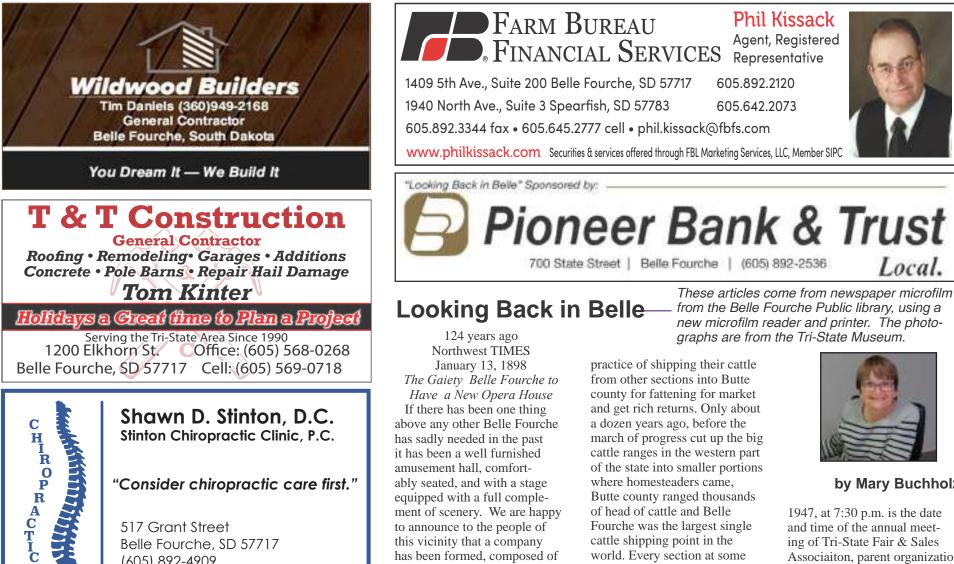

"Obviously you saw today we had a lot of young, strong contractors that are going to be around for 20 or 30 years," he said. "That is the key."

Albany Farms has hired a small handful of local employees already but plans to hire many more in the coming months. The company says there may be 700 people employed at the plant when the campus is fully operational. At the same time Rogalla says the plant will be using state-ofthe-art robotics for some of its manufacturing processes.

"The issue with employees really comes down to the population's desire to work," he said. "In today's world we would rather have people, but artificial intelligence is real."

Want It?

Does Belle Fourche want a woolen mill? There is one seeking a location in South Dakota, according to a communication received this week by the Belle Fourche Commercial Club, from Governor M. Q. Sharpe, speaking for the National Resources Development Commission of this state. Governor Sharpe enclosed with his letter, a communication addressed to him from the North Star Woolen Mill Company, represented by Dr. Derso Shybekay, director of market research for the company. The enclosed communication states that the firm has been doing business since 1864, and at present have two mills, one at Minneapolis, and the other at Lima, Oio. Its leading product is woolen blankets. Here is some of the information asked for: population, location, railroad, highway and air travel facilities, housing, churches, recreation centers, present industries. Specific information wanted is regarding number of sheep enterprise, sites, power and water facilities. In the way of water the newly established mill would require 2,000 to 15,000 gallons of water for each 100 lbs. of raw wool processed. The questionaire also asks about inducements offered. Belle Fourche is certianly THE ONE CITYof the middle west that is able to answer these inquires most satisfactorily. That is even acknowledged by Governor Sharpe when he stated tat "Belle Fourche already has been suggested because of a water supply including both the Belle Fourche river and Red

News dispatcher from Belle Fourche in Butte county recently recorded the fact that the government of Indiana and another man in partnership with him have just added to their extensive holdings in Butte county lands and now own or lease over 10,000 acres of irrigated and non-irrigated land there. They make a march of progress cut up the big cattle ranges in the western part of the state into smaller portions where homesteaders came, Butte county ranged thousands of head of cattle and Belle Fourche was the largest single cattle shipping point in the world. Every section at some time have some setbacks and a few lean years drove many of the homesteaders from the small farms and ranches in the western part of the state but they are coming back again. The lands are yet low in price and rich in pasture and cattlemen who were able, took advantage of this opportunity to range their herds from other sections wherever they could obtain acreage sufficient for their needs. The time is coming again when this will no longer be possible as the land advances in price and becomes settled and Governor McCray of Indiana is one of those who is taking time by the forelock.

75 years ago Belle Fourche Bee January 7, 1947 Officials Are Enforcing Brand Inspection Laws

Many stockmen in South Dakota are paying scant attention to the existing brand inspection laws and violations have been numerous, but officials are determined to rigidly enforce these laws. Sam Brownell, special investigator of South Dakota Stockegrowers Association, returned last week from the Timber Lake region where he had been assisting the state's attorney of Dewey county on violations of the brand inspection laws. Leon W. Williams, owner of the Diamond A Cattle Co., one of the largest outfits operating in that section; Ted Jennings, acting agent of the same company, and Ben Magnus, a cettle buyer operating in that locality, were tired, found guilty and paid fines and court costs on the charge of shipping cattle out of brand inspection area to point where no inspector was stationed, without inspection at shipping point. Mr. Brownell states these laws were created for the protection of the livestock growers, and it is is duty to enforce them, which he intends to do. If stockmen are not familiar with the brand inspection laws of South Dakota, they can find the provisions in the South Dakota Brand book, or the South Dakota Code or sessions laws. Otto Wolff, a Rapid City rancher, reviewed the problems of the wool grower, and the need in our area for a plant to take raw grease wool from start to finished product. Wolff stated that the Western South Dakota Sheep Growers Association had sanctioned the measure and suggested that in addition to the proposal, a lamb "kill and chill" plant be considered in the area. More Than $31,000 of Work Donated

WIT Coalition provides free lunch for workers and support staff.

NEWELL – After many years of bringing in the Delta Dental Mobile, which provides free service to nearly 40 children in the Newell school district each year, the Whatever It Takes Coalition has done it again. They wrapped up the weeklong service to the Newell students with a free lunch for the dental crew, WIT board members and other school staff who assist in this complex process.

This year coordinator Dane Hagen gave a report at the luncheon meeting on Thursday in the middle school room where physical education teacher Scott Wince teaches. The group set up worked from the bus which was parked just outside the middle school doors.

The bus ran continually with extra heating due to the cold temperatures, but that didn't hinder the quality care that was given to each and every student.

"I saw an ad (to be involved) and thought it was a great way to give back to the local communities," said Ross Johnson,

Johnson, along with the others involved, signed a contract to provide service to the students, many of which rely on Medicaid to help pay for the services. However, the group provides service to every student who is eligible and this year they did more than $31,000 for just under 40 students in the Newell system.

NEWELL – Tuesday, January 4, saw bitter cold temperatures and blistering wind whip across the region, but that didn't stop the NVN Food Pantry and Feeding South Dakota from making their monthly distribution to those who were brave enough to get out in the chilly weather.

"We serviced about 30 households," said Pastor Terri Dutton-Blanchett, who organizes the event each month, as well as doing a regular distribution from the NVN Food Pantry located at Dakota Life Christian Center. The monthly FSD distribution takes place in front of the NVN Senior Center where the drivers lay out pallets of food and non-perishable commodities for those living in the NVN area.

"We went as fast as we could because it was so cold," said the organizer. "We did not take a break until we were done. Those helping included Barb Lamb, Tracy Seieroe, Rhonda Vallery, Linda Stambaugh, Anna Crockford, Judy Dague, Betty Baker-Kozer and me. The wind was bitter. Betty had hot chocolate and banana bread for use. This is a great team of ladies."

This commodity distribution is held the first Tuesday of the month with the second local distribution on the third Tuesday.

Newell Rodeo Arena Grandstand Fund.

That person will win 10% of the week's ticket sales and draw 1 card from the deck. If they find the Ace of Hearts they will split the jackpot 50/50 with the Newell Community Club.

If they find another card, the game continues next weekas the Jackpot grows with ticket sales. Other Aces will pay $100 and Jokers are $25.

The Deck is reduced by 1 card increasing your chance to find the Ace of Hearts.

The cold continues, although it did warm up a little bit last Sunday and Monday. Pastor Henry and Linda Mohagen went to North Dakota to celebrate the New Year with family so Iver Heier led the service last Sunday and we watched a Christmas movie instead of having a sermon. Reub and I enjoyed the warm weather when we went to Bible study at Lester and Sharon Longwood's that evening. We're about halfway through the book "100 Bible Verses That Made America" by Robert J. Morgan. It's a wonderful book for Bible study and we highly recommend it.

The weather was still nice when Peder Tenold came to haul our heifers to sell at Faith Livestock Monday morning.

Reub rode down with Casey and Taz to watch the sale. Faith Livestock took good care of us and they sold really well. Amanda took some things to Buffalo with Casey when he got back from Faith. Some of the little people were still napping so I stayed with them until Taz came to take them feeding in the tractor with him. The thermometer read 33 degrees when we woke up Tuesday morning, but it went downhill from there fast. The wind was blowing 70 mph and was blowing the snow around so hard we couldn't see Casey and Missy's house from here.

The temperature dropped to -10 below and going outside to take care of my chickens was really miserable. While staying inside away from that nasty weather, I was cleaning out some of my old family history stuff and found four years of my great grandmother's diary and sat down on the couch to read through it. Great Grandma Caroline (Kjos) Hallan was a full-blood Norwegian and her diary was written in Norwegian, but her daughter and my great aunt, Bessie (Hallan) Blomberg translated the years of 1903, 1913, 1914 and 1915 into English. Caroline and Carl Hallan homesteaded in the Slim Buttes and she talked about a lot of neighbors with familiar names. She mentioned Andersons, Bjornstads, Boruds, Corbins, Dvergstens, Carl Engen, Frandsens, Garbergs, Gilbergs, Goodells, Mat Hanson, Jerdes, Johnsons (Bill Johnson and Karen Wilkinson's grandparents), Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jones, Laisys, Lees, Livingstons, Loftsgaards, Mallows, Nyers, Cora Olsen, Ida Quall, Scofields, Stevensons, and Wammens just to name a few. Caroline was a mid-wife who delivered most of the babies born in the Slim Buttes, including my father, Bryce White, and his two sisters, Claire John and Mary Haggart, who were the children of her daughter Manda and Clem White. She talked about deaths in the community, including little Helga Wammen, the daughter of Chris and Laura Wammen, who was drug to death after falling off a horse in May of 1915. My great grandfather Carl Hallan and my grandfather Clem White built the Slim Buttes Lutheran Church and Carl built most of the old country schools in the area, including the old Reva school, the Stevenson school, the Basin school and the Rock Ranch school down by Greg Wammen's place where my father and his sisters went to school.

It was miserably cold on Wednesday and Thursday. We planned to have Roger, Judy, Dale and Dennis Nash and Russell Beld over for supper Thursday night, but had to postpone the supper when Reub came down with the flu. As cold as it was, when I called all of them to tell them that we'd have to put it off until Reub heals up, they were kind of relieved about not having to go out in the frigid weather. Taz cut up a load of wood for our woodstove Thursday afternoon, which really helped keep us old folks warm.

It warmed up a little on Friday when Casey took the wrestlers to Hettinger for the tournament on Friday and Saturday. Casey and the wrestlers stayed at Sage and Alaina's house west of Hettinger Friday night because Sage and Alaina had gone to their daughters' basketball games in Rapid City and Gillette. I went to Hettinger that afternoon to drop things off at the Clothes Closet, but Reub stayed home.

It was warm when we woke up Saturday morning but the temperatures dropped like a rock and the wind howled all day. Taz came up and put the underlayment down on our living room floor to get ready to lay the new flooring this week. We're blessed to have that handy grandson living next door to us!

Reub was still sick on Sunday so he didn't go to church with me. Rosie Hotchkiss got to come home from Scotland last Director Sabrina Harmon. WIT board member Tim Mc-Dermott asked where all the dental buses provided services. He was informed that the two buses that travel the state go into 40 different communities, including the reservations.

"Our goal was to do approximately $35,000 and see at least 30 students," said Bothwell. "So, it makes it worth going out, even in weather like this. I sure wouldn't mind a stint in some place like Arizona though." The dental mobile provides service for children from pre-school through age 21 and provide a variety of procedures such as x-rays, cleaning, fillings, extractions, caps and crowns, sealants, space maintenance, as well as hygiene care and tobacco counseling. They also did topical applications of fluoride for all students who had an appointment.

The dental mobile is brought into the Newell district with donations each year. Fundraisers are set up by Harmon and others involved with the WIT Coalition, but there are businesses and individuals who also make donations to support the bus and the work that is done.

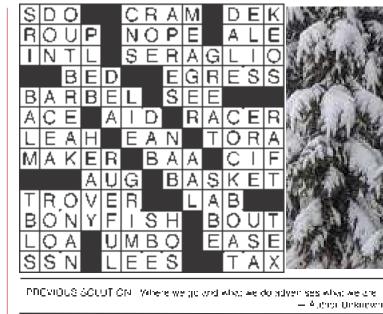

Other's who attended the luncheon were board members Judy Heisler, Principal Steve Schoenfish, School Secretary Shannon Dirk, who helps with scheduling, and Tim and Edna McDermott. Also in attendance were Superintendent Andrew Fergen, Terri Dutton-Blanchett, and Colleen Bruner, who is the media representative for WIT.

God bless the 235th MPC

Gov. KRISTI NOEM state of South Dakota

On January 5th, I joined several state and local officials for a deployment ceremony honoring the 235th Military Policy Company. The unit from the South Dakota National Guard is heading to Guantanamo Bay for a challenging operational mission.

The war in Afghanistan may be over, but the War on Terror still carries on. Our state's brave soldiers are stepping up to continue keeping our streets safe from international terrorism. During my speech, I highlighted half a dozen soldiers who were going on their fourth deployment since joining the National City.

They worked with local law enforcement and the Air National Guard Security Forces during President Donald Trump's Fourth of July visit to Mount Rushmore. For most of 2020, members of the 235th were serving on Medical Transport Teams. In November 2020, they transitioned to vaccine mission teams. Throughout 2020 and 2021, their soldiers also served in Call Centers.

And then, in January 2021, they were deployed to Washington, D.C. Two weeks later, they were back in South Dakota training 800 National Guard soldiers on minimizing civil disturbances.

Over the last 16 months, while most of these other calls to action were happening, 113 members of the 235th Military Police Company have been training for this mission to Guantanamo Bay. Captain Moran was very clear about how unique this mission is to his Company. "We won't be dodging bullets across a battlefield," Cpt. Moran explained, adding "we will have to battle complacency, mental health challenges, and strive for keen attention to detail and awareness on a daily basis.' "GTMO has some of the world's most dangerous and uniquely challenging prisoners and the 235th will be the Soldiers that will be hands on — in close contact with them on a day-to-day basis. If anyone knows about corrections or detainee operations, they know that this usually is not the most desired job that Soldiers want. This is the difficult task. No battle glory, no combat badges, this is the job that normally doesn't come with a plethora of awards or recognition." I know our soldiers are ready for this mission because they have a clear vision for why they are serving in the first place: Guardians over Glory. Thank you to Commander Moran for your inspiring words and strong leadership. I speak for all of South Dakota when I say we are praying for your safe return from this important mission. Godspeed.

These amazing troops have answered the call to serve and have been sent into action again and again. Still, they continue coming back and proudly serve with the best National Guard in the nation.

During his speech on Wednesday, Captain Patrick Moran, Commander of the 235th, highlighted some of the recent missions his troops have prepared for in recent years. He also spoke about his soldiers understanding their core mission, regardless of the venue.

"When I first took command of the 235th, I knew this, and I told the Soldiers that the professional that we want is the one that is willing to do the job – the job that others are not willing to do. I asked the unit for a motto, they came up with 'Guardians over Glory,'" Captain Moran recalled in his speech.

"In a way that represents the 235th and what the history of the 235th Soldiers have done. They are the ones that don't need the eye candy. They have always been the ones to step up and do whatever job asked of them."

And they have been asked to do a lot in recent years. In June of 2020, the 235th was put on standby with less than 24 hours to prepare to be deployed to the riots in Minneapolis. That deployment was stayed, and instead the 235th successfully kept the streets peaceful in Pierre, Sioux Falls, and Rapid
