County Commission Meeting Opens with Agenda Discussion

Betty Bruner

news@bellefourchebeacon.com

BELLE FOURCHE-As Chair Stan Harms looked for an approval for the June 6, 2023 meeting agenda Commissioner Chad Erk asked that Public Comment be moved back to the beginning of the meeting, usually as item #5. He said that would give people an opportunity to comment on anything on the agenda.

However, Harms pointed out that comments had not been made concerning agenda items and that it would not matter when the Public Comments took place.

After a member of the audience spoke up and commented that it doesn't make sense to wait until the end, Commissioner James Ager called for Harms to rule on public decorum.

"Members of the public should wait to speak," he said. Harms said the agenda would stay as it is with the exception of rescheduling the Board of Adjustment meeting. He said that a vote had been taken and had passed. Except that a member of the audience said that he had not heard any motion or vote.

"If you want to stay in that seat, you keep your mouth shut!" declared Harms.

He then proceeded to ask for a motion to accept the agenda with the scheduling change. The vote passed with three ayes and one nay from Commissioner Erk.

Register of Deeds Julie Brunner presented information on a new program that has been made available for landowners. The program, known as Land Notification Alert system, sends a notification to landowners if anything occurs on their property such as hacks to attempt to take over a title, etc. The cost of the program comes out of the M&P budget. The M&P Fund was established to modernize records.

Brunner further explained that the program cost is $1200 for set up, $3,000 for the software, and $700 per year. She continued by telling the commission-County Contd. B5

Black Hills Roundup Hires Best in the Rodeo Industry

Ruth Nicholas Black Hills Roundup

Belle Fourche, S.D.- Some of the best individuals in the rodeo industry will gather in Belle Fourche June 30-July 4 to work the Black Hills Roundup.

From the contractors fans see in the arena, to those behind the scenes, it takes quality, competent people to put on the show.

Fans will recognize the smooth voices of co-announcers Steve Goedert and Andy Seiler, as they call the action at the 104th annual event.

The Mustang Man, Bobby Kerr, will be in the house as specialty act. The Hico, Texas cowboy has trained mustangs from the American West, getting his start with the Mustang Makeover in Ft. Worth, Texas in 2011.

The mustangs work as libera 1936 Chevrolet as Kerr drives out of the arena. The talented horseman and his mustangs have won the PRCA Specialty Act of the Year award three times and the PRCA Entertainer of the Year once.

Stepping into the arena for his first visit to the Black Hills Roundup is rodeo clown Brian Patton.

The Misfit Cowboy brings his bridled Brahma bull, Django, and a longhorn named Roscoe that he ropes and rides. Roscoe stands on a pedestal while the Misfit Cowboy spins his pistol and fires a Colt 45. The highlight of the Misfit Cowboy's show is when Roscoe goes to the top of Patton's forty-foot trailer!

For the 35th year, Hank and-Lori Franzen and Powder River Rodeo Co. will bring their bucking horses and bulls to the Roundup. PRCA rodeo photographer Clay Guardipee will take

Newman will spin the tunes, and Frostview Productions will

The fireworks show, which takes place on July 2 and 3, is coordinated by Fritz Carlson.

The rodeo strives to select the best personnel possible, said Dallas Conner, chairwoman of the Roundup and the second woman to be at the rodeo's helm. (Karen Wagner served as the 2002-2003 chairwoman.)

"We are proud to hire the best acts in the PRCA," she said. "Our fans deserve a great experience and we strive to provide that every year."

Rodeo announcer Seiler said that the Roundup's success spurs on the contract people to be at their prime.

"As the Roundup has continued to win awards, they challenge all of us to be at our best," he said. "So I think it's really an honor and a privilege to be part of it. It gives us the opportunity to be just a cog in the wheel of something where all ships rise with the rising tide." The Roundup is a five-time consecutive PRCA Medium Rodeo of the Year Award winner. Festivities kick off June 30 with the 14th annual Ranch Rodeo, and continue July 1-4 with PRCA competition. Performances begin at 7 pm each day, except for July 4, when they begin at 3 pm. The 104th annual Black Hills Roundup parade is July 4 at 10:30 am. Tickets range in price from $15 to $34. Fans are encouraged to buy tickets online (BlackHillsRoundup.com) to avoid waiting in line. For more information, visit the website at BlackHillsRoundup. com or call the Black Hills Roundup Office at the Tri-State Museum and Visitor Center at 415 Fifth Avenue, Belle Fourche, S.D. Business Improvement District Development Topic of Discussion

Last week a group of Belle Fourche business people met with representatives of the City to discuss the possibilities of creation of Business Improvement Districts (BID).

A BID is a way to address the funding necessary to help move ideas and concepts to improve Belle Fourche marketing, business, and economic growth forward.

Municipal funding can be limited and too controlling for independent businesses to make projects happen. A BID is a way to raise funds specific to a project for improving business activity.

A Voluntary Business Improvement District (BID) would allow businesses who want to participate to fund improvements that the Business Improvement District Board itself would direct. In a "Voluntary BID" you are allowed to join at a specific time, but you can leave at any time.

It can be limited to an area such as downtown businesses on State Street, or large enough to include all businesses in the city of Belle Fourche, both storefront and homebase could be included.

There can be more than one in operation simultaniously.

The budget and plan for the project and its expenditures is set in place before any assessments are made.

A project, such as overhead cross street Christmas Lighting is an example of a project that by its attraction could be a benefit to all businesses in the city.

Ward 2 Councilman Clark Sowers was in attendance and commented, "For years some in our local business community have had ideas and conceptions to improve our marketing, business and economic growth for Belle Fourche. The problem has always been funding. Business Improvement District (BID) would allow those businesses who want to participate to fund improvements that a Business Improvement District Board would direct. I think it is is a great opportunity for our business community to come together and move forward together.

Jim Wilson 78

Robert J. "Jim" Wilson, age 78, of Alzada, MT, passed away on May 26, 2023, at Monument Health Rapid City Hospital, in Rapid City, SD.

Cowboy. Rancher. Pickup Man. Pilot. Sheepman. Neighbor. Friend. It doesn't matter how you describe Jim Wilson, but most people who knew him will say that he is a true example of the Western way of life. He always said that starting at about six years old, he knew he wanted to be a cowboy, and he wanted to be the best cowboy.

Robert J. Wilson was born in Broadus, Mon-tana, on May 15, 1945, the eldest of three boys, to Bob & Betty Wilson. At that time, they were employed by Bob's uncle Bob Ormesher. Jim started cowboyin' while riding with his Dad and uncle as a small child. He doesn't ever remember not being able to ride. Riding horseback, Jim attended several one-room country schools during his elementary education. Oh, the shenanigans that took place on those rides back and forth to school! Jim graduated from Belle Fourche High School in 1963 and returned to the ranch to work full time for Uncle Bob. Shortly after that, he married the neighbor girl, Donna Harris, and they started a family. Bart was born in 1967, and Boni Jo was born in 1969. Jim's father passed away in 1972, followed by his Uncle Bob in 1976. Since Bob had no children, he left the ranch land to Jim. Several years of financial struggle ensued to pay off the IRS inheritance tax bill and to re-stock the ranch. Jim & Donna later divorced, and he married Louise Hanson in 1989.

For many years, Jim picked up at local amateur, high school, and college rodeos. He loved the adrenaline rush of waiting for the first horse out of the chute and said if he ever quit getting butterflies that he would quit picking up. That did not happen for another 50 years! In the early 1990's, Jim joined the PRCA, and added pro rodeos to his travels. He worked mostly in North and South Dakota, Montana, and Wyoming. He picked up at all the big rodeos in the Badlands Circuit and was selected six times to pick up for the Badlands Circuit Finals. He was proud of the fact that he was always well mounted, that he was never badly injured, and that, to his knowledge, while picking up, he never caused any injuries to a cowboy. He worked for Korkow Rodeo, Sutton Rodeo, Mossbrucker Rodeo, and for Burch Rodeo when they joined the PRCA. He still believes the reason he was able to pick up as long as he did was due to two things - good horses and the ability to read livestock.

When Jim and Louise were married, they opted to have a little jackpot roping with a potluck supper instead of a formal wedding reception. The roping was followed by a barn dance. It was all so much fun that they decided to do it again the next year. By then, they had added a bucking chute to their arena, so they included bronc riding in the mix. The year after, they bought and installed five chutes. That was the beginning of Wilson Rodeo, which ran for 10 years. It's pretty amazing to look back at the paperwork and see how many guys that rode brones in the back yard went on to compete at the National Finals Rodeo. In the mid 1980's, Jim purchased and learned to fly a Brantley B-2B helicopter. He loved flying and hunting coyotes with it. To this day, he comments on "good snow for hunting." The helicopter met its demise while being used to chase wild horses, but Jim survived to tell the story. Now, you can say you know of a guy that has survived helicopter, plane, train, automobile, motorcycle, and horse crashes. But those other crash stories are for another day.

Jim has always been very handy with both saddle horses and teams, and so, he enjoyed helping small local wagon trains for many years. He also ran a branding wagon in the Ridge, Montana area, where he would gather up the neighbors who traded help. They would head out with the wagons and brand for about a week. They usually branded about 4500 calves and traveled a distance of about 20 miles before they were done. It gave local ranchers young and old alike an opportunity to get a taste of what branding was like back when the West was a lot more wild. There are lots of stories from those days!

In 1989, Jim was selected to be the Carter County representative to help wrangle horses and trail cattle on the Montana Centennial Wagon Train from Roundup to Billings. He had the time of his life being involved with handling such a large number of horses and cattle. Later, he was part of the Powder River Wagon Train and Cattle Drive as the Horse Boss. It was a week-long destination vacation, on which they hosted anywhere from 25-80 guests from all over the world. In 2012, the final drive rolled out on that adventure and operations ceased, a victim of rising insurance costs and a lack of well-broke horses.

Another big adventure for Jim was going to Arizona to rope wild cattle. His comment was that there's nothing more exciting than dropping a loop on something that has never seen a human! He not only roped wild cattle, but he also roped most anything that moved, like deer or antelope, for the sport of it. He still carries 60 feet of rope just in case he needs a big loop or a long reach.

For the past 59 years, he has served as a local brand inspector for the State of Montana. He has always gone horseback and helped to gather, as he feels it gives him a better look at the cattle he is inspecting, and a chance to spot livestock that might be in the herd from neighboring ranches. That job is slowly being handed down to his grandson, Travis Kuhbacher, who now ranches with him.

All in all, he is sure he has had the best life possible, and pretty much lived it like he wanted to, with good cattle, good sheep, and most important, good horses! He has made some of the best damn friends along the way and has the stories to match!

Jim is survived by his wife Louise, one son; Bart (Brenda) Wilson, one daughter, Boni Jo (Jason) Kuhbacher; five grandchildren, Tyler Wilson, Thomas Wilson, Jessie Wilson, Travis Kuhbacher and Terese Kuhbacher; two brothers; Jerry (Bea) Wilson and John (Joyce) Wilson and six great-grandchildren. He was preceded in death by his parents Bob and Betty and one grandchild, Austin Wilson.

John F. Ternes II 73

John F. Ternes II. John Frederick Ternes II (J.) passed away at the age of 73 in Bozeman, Montana on May 29, 2023 after a years-long affliction with Frontotemporal Dementia.

J. was born on March 29, 1950 in his hometown of Dubuque, Iowa to parents John F. Ternes (Butch) and Tereso Ann "Terry" (Dahlstrom) Ternes. J. was the second eldest of seven siblings in the Ternes family (Jeff, J., Jane, Jud, Jennifer, Julie, and Joel). His family moved around the midwest often while opening Kresge and later Walmart stores throughout his childhood, but he always came back to Dubuque as his hometown. "Jaybird" attend-ed high school at Wahlert Catholic High School, graduating in 1968. Throughout his childhood he was educated at Catholic schools in each of the towns the family moved to. He attended the Catholic Church throughout his life and served as an altar boy and later as a member of the Knights of Columbus. J. was a high school and collegiate athlete playing both Football and Baseball at a collegiate level. During his time in junior college, J. led the nation in interceptions as a Strong Safety. After Ju-Co he attended a few different universities before finding his happy place in Emporia, Kansas at the Kansas State Teacher's College. J. graduated with a Biology and Secondary Education Degree and spent time as a Grad Assistant in the Football Program. He loved attending his football alumni games at "Euphoria State," and enjoyed his college experience to the fullest where he played football with life-long friends.

J. met his match at Emporia State, and later married his love, Denise Toevs-Ternes. Together they built a family and welcomed two daughters: Danielle Claire and Vanessa Jayne. J.'s love for his girlies was evident in the care and devotion he approached fatherhood with. When selecting a place to raise their family, J. scientifically chose the Black Hills of South Dakota as the best place to put down roots. There, he and Denise served as teachers and coaches for 30+ years in Belle Fourche. Prior to that they taught and coached in Perryville, Missouri where he was named the Missouri Class 4-A Football Coach of the Year. They founded the Bar JFT Ranch just outside of Belle Fourche, where the girls enjoyed their rural childhoods to the fullest. J. had a great group of teacher friends in Belle Fourche and he loved to hang with them telling stories and riding motorcycles. J. enjoyed his 1977 Harley Davidson Sportster and could often be found cruising the Black Hills on his various Harley bikes and trike. Every year friends traveled to the Black Hills to ride during the Sturgis Motorcycle Rally. J. had a unique sense of humor and enjoyed shocking people with stories and anecdotes. Jaybird was fascinated with the paranormal, as he himself, was paranormal. He reveled in surprising people with his humor and intelligence.

Pastor's Perspective

"How the mighty have fallen in the midst of the battle! Jonathan lies slain upon your high places. I am distressed for you, my brother Jonathan; greatly beloved were you to me; your love to me was wonderful, passing the love of women. [2 Samuel 1:25-26 NRSV]

Memorial Day was upon us once more when we remembered with love the fallen soldiers-men and women-who have served their country and their God. These verses from the book of Second Samuel are David's grief poured into song because mere prose could not contain his grief. So it is with us.

Memorial Day is a moment in time which we afford ourselves once a year to remember and to grieve the losses suffered. Yes, to our nation and combat forces. But much more painfully, to us as family and friends, as partners or lovers. We assuage our grief by offering one another barbecue and pie, lemonade...or maybe something else. But ever in the midst of this day, we walk with our memories when Uncle De served on a boat in the Pacific that he would not talk about. Or about our Revolutionary War relative who helped hold the line in horrid weather and conditions. Or my friend, now completely blind from agent orange during his time in

'Nam. We cannot forget.

One tradition is to make a marker from the boots of the fallen, those no longer here. We see those empty boots and remember the words of the psalmist,"Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his faithful ones." [Psalm 116:15 NRSV] And we remember that they fought, suffered, died, for a cause. Those boots remind us that there is still road left to patrol. Who will walk in those boots to do the work still to be done? Who will demonstrate with their time and physical well-being that somethings are worth... everything?

This week's P P is provided by: Pastor Chuck Aurand

Belle Fourche UCC & St. Onge UCC

To grieve and to remember is honorable, but if that is where it starts and stops, what have we accomplished? Suppose that's all that the early Christians did following Good Friday and the cross and the tomb. But it didn't stop there, stepping into the boots of the very Son of God, saints like Stephen worked and fought the good fight. When Stephen was stoned to death (Acts 7), others laced up those boots and marched onward. The tradition of the martyrs and the faithful of every generation call on us to carry our cause forward...even though some are hurt...even though some die. The cause to work with God in building a better tomorrow for all, makes it worthwhile.

So this Memorial Day, we remembered. And because we remembered, may we all soldier on.

What is a Stroke? A stroke happens when a blood vessel in the brain is blocked or bursts, stopping the blood flow. This deprives a part of the brain of oxygen and nutrients, leading to brain cell damage and death within minutes. The severity and duration of the blockage or rupture determine the extent of brain cell death, resulting in the loss or impairment of various functions like movement, walking, hand use, speech, thinking, and control of bodily functions such as bowel and bladder.

How Can a Physical Therapist Help?

Physical therapists are crucial for stroke recovery. We start therapy soon after a stroke, often during the hospital stay, with the goal of helping individuals regain their ability to perform daily activities at home, work, and in their community. After assessing the person's condition, the physical therapist creates a personalized treatment plan to improve movement, address pain, and prevent complications.

Initially, the therapist teaches safe transfers and exercises in bed. As mobility improves, we introduce strengthening exercises and functional activities. We also help enhance balance and walking ability, provide assistive devices like braces or wheelchairs if needed, educate family members and caregivers, and teach the use of mobility aids such as orthoses, prostheses, canes, walkers, wheelchairs, and robotics when necessary. Stroke treatment varies for each person based on evaluation results and time since the stroke. Dr. Cailey Iverson PT, DPT takes pride in her ability to #ChoosePT evaluate and create an individualized plan of care that is unique to individuals following a stroke. For those interested in scheduling an evaluation with Dr. Cailey, they can call Pain and Movement Solutions in Belle Fourche at 605-723-0185 to set up an appointment.

Pain & Movement Solutions is a therapist-owned, outpatient physical therapy practice with clinics in Belle Fourche, Sturgis and Rapid City. 2nd Annual Butte County Bank Robbery Reenactment

The 2nd Annual Belle Fourche Walking History "Butte County Bank Robbery Reenactment" will be Friday, June 30, 2023, at 3:00 PM.

It will take place in front of Prairie Hills Pharmacy, which is the very address of the old Butte County Bank, 600 State Street Belle Fourche. The reenactment will take place in the "Square" of State Street and 6th Ave.

If you don't know the story of this "Comedy of Errors" robbery it is quite the laugh. We are sure Kid Curry, the Sundance Kid, Walter Punteney, and especially Tom O'Day would not be happy to be reenacted in such a way. No bank robber, horse thief, or cattle rustler would want to be characterized as silly, fools, or just awful at outlawing. Come find out why this is one of the most famous and hilarious bank robberies in Western history.

Don't be late, a robbery doesn't take long to happen. 3:00 PM sharp!

Our Cast has grown and we couldn't be more excited to have the following cast members; Robbers: Chance Lange, Clark O'Donnell, Vern Ward, Jay Olson, and Marbury Lange. Bank tellers and customers: Jack Scholl, Larry Schmaltz, Laurie Ward, Sierra Ward, and Taya Ward. Sheriff: George Wilson. Hardware Shopkeeper: David Pruitt and Audrey Pruitt. Ranch hand: Ashley Christine. Our MC will be Kimberly Kaye Bachman and she will be playing Calamity Jane. Extras are Rebecca Lee, Isabella Evans, Austin Pruitt, Dawn Newland, Rod Hoffman, Terry Rekow, Paula Rekow, and Bill Hennessey.

We are not going to give away the hilarious ending to this story but it is quite the blunder of events for some outlaws.

Come early and shop downtown businesses and stay late to experience the Black Hills Round Up Ranch Rodeo. One of the best ways to experience Belle Fourche is to visit Historic State Street.

For more information visit Facebook - "Belle Fourche Walking History". Butte County Sheriff's Deputy Lincoln Gibbs graduated from the South Dakota Law Enforcement Academy on 06-02-2023.

Lincoln excelled while at the Academy and was awarded the Distinguished Coler-Williams Award.

This award is named after two FBI Agents that were ambushed and murdered at Ogalala SD in 1975.

Lincoln also was awarded a Challenge Coin for Leadership that is given to one student weekly throughout the 13 week Academy.

Sheriff Lamphere and Butte County Deputy Brandon Fox attended the graduation in Pierre. Butte County is fortunate to have such quality Deputies and is very proud of Lincoln for achieving this award. - Courtesy Photo

Two Legends – Billy Etbauer, Cody Ohl – To be Honored as Vegas Icons in 2023

LAS VEGAS - Las Vegas Events announced on June 2 that two Vegas NFR Icons will be honored at the 2023 Wrangler National Finals Rodeo® in Las Vegas. The Vegas NFR Icons this year are Billy Etbauer and Cody Ohl.

During the Dec. 8 and 9 performances, each of the rodeo champions will be honored on the hallowed dirt of the Thomas & Mack Center. The presentation will include each receiving a 14" commemorative bronze statue and a ceremony to unfurl a banner in the rafters at the Thomas & Mack Center.

The in-arena schedule for the icons is as follows: Friday, Dec. 8 – Billy Etbauer Saturday, Dec. 9 – Cody Ohl

"Billy Etbauer and Cody Ohl are true icons of the sport and synonymous with the events they competed in at the Thomas & Mack Center. The history and legacy of the Wrangler NFR is driven by its great champions, and we are honored to continue this tradition that was launched in 2022, when we honored Trevor Brazile, Charmayne James and Ty Murray," said LVE President Tim Keener.

One of the most popular cowboys of his generation, Etbauer won five saddle bronc world titles (1992, 1996, 1999, 2000 and 2004) and garners respect for both his go-for-broke style and his humility during his career that covered parts of four decades. A native of Huron, South Dakota, he was the middle brother of three world-class bronc riders. Etbauer qualified for the NFR in his second year as a professional in 1989. He went on to make the field a record 21 consecutive years, win an NFR-record 51 rounds and surpass $3 million in career earnings.

He still shares the NFR record with his 93-point ride on Kesler Championship Rodeo's Cool Alley in 2003. He tied the record a year later on a 10thround ride that clinched the last of his five gold buckles.

"It is an honor and blessing to be part of the Vegas NFR Icons," said Etbauer. "I'm thankful to so many that helped me throughout my career and allowed me to make a living doing what I love. I still feel very fortunate to have won world titles during my career and had the support of sponsors like Express Ranches that made it possible to keep competing. As for Cody, when you rodeo with guys like that, even though we were in different events, you knew you had to raise your game."

Ohl put his stamp on ProRodeo in 1994 by winning Rookie of the Year and earning his first trip to the NFR. It would take Ohl a few years to win his first gold buckle. He edged out Fred Whitfield to capture the 1997 Tie-Down World Title and roared through the 1998 season, capturing his second title. He had another record-setting year in 2001 as he added steer roping and team roping in order to compete for the All-Around title. He still owns the record for the most NFR rounds won, 52.

"Being inducted into the ProRodeo Hall of Fame was the icing on my career," said Ohl. "I'm so appreciative of this honor. No other town (gives) you get a feeling like Vegas."

Central Meade County News

By Sandy Rhoden

After a warm first week of June we wound up with a cool weekend and about .4 worth of rain to wrap things up. This was welcome in Central Meade County. Larry Rhoden made a trip to Whitewood to help Tristen Rhoden put a black steel roof on a mobile home which ended up being very hot and exhausting. While they made progress, the hottest day of the week drove them off the project for that day in the early afternoon.

Larry Jensen is home recovering after heart surgery. He has been on the minds of prayer warriors from our area. We have also been asked to keep Sally Donald in our thoughts and prayers as she is battling cancer. She has taught many years at Sunshine Bible Academy.

Donna Cammack brought beautiful peonies to church on Sunday to be shared with whoever wanted to take some home.

There is a wrestling camp being planned for the end of the week in Union Center at the Central Meade County Community Center.

Vacation Bible School will be the week of July 30 - August 4 in Union Center. More details will follow.

Lincoln Shuck is planning to sell his ranch in July, so he is offering hay standing in the field by the ton for sale. If interested one may contact him. It is starting to bloom and is ready to go.

Services for Marianne Dennis were held on Monday, June 12 in the evening at Kincaids in Sturgis starting at 5 pm with prayers at 7. Funeral services were held on Tuesday, June 13 at 11:00 am at the Red Owl Hall. A luncheon followed the service. Our sincere condolences to the Dennis family. Emily Wicks Escott has extra cow milk at this time. One may look her up on Facebook to message her if needed.

Meetings have been being held in rural Meade County about the grasshopper problem. Many of the landowners in the area will be choosing to spray the area that will be safe for bees, butterflies and animals, but inhibits crustations from reproducing. There have been more hatching than desired at this time and there are multiple sizes of hoppers that have been increasing in fields and basically wherever they want to invade. Hopefully, the plan to use a plane to spray will take care of the destruction grasshoppers are doing.

Sandy Rhoden enjoyed a painting class with three of her daughter in laws on Sunday in Rapid City. Jennifer and Liz Rhoden and Kalen Lemmel treated her to a belated birthday gift of having fun with painting. They had a fun time that afternoon.

sioners how the county receives funds for the M&P Fund. Out of every $30 document fee paid to the county, $5 goes into the M&P Fund, $3 to the county, and $2 to the state. At the end of the fiscal year, the state divides the money sent in by every county evenly and distributes to the counties.

The DA Peterson Company asked the county to extend the Purchase Agreement that had been made in 2022 for the purchase of the property on the southeast edge of Belle Fourche. Commissioner Erk suggested that the extension should be denied, since there had not been any work done on the property and it should be put back on the market. The commissioners decided to approve the extension to June 29, 2024 with no further extensions.

Upgrades to the County Courthouse and the possibility of a new building were discussed. Sheriff Fred Lamphere introduced Michael Gouloff of Elevatus Architecture. Gouloff presented concept designs of a courthouse that would meet future needs of the county. Lamphere told the commissioners that the plans were based on needs to address problems including current environmental issues, lack of space, HVAC upgrades, courtroom security, and parking issues. The basic projected costs for the project Gouloff presented were $500/sq ft. The proposed building would be 50,000 sq. ft. making it a total of $25,000,000.

Ager asked about other funding resources, but Gouloff explained that Elevatus does not do funding research but they do know who to work with. Elevatus will provide a formal proposal as a first step at the cost of around $20,000. Erk suggested doing more research before moving forward.

"Somebody will have to approach the future of this building," Gouloff said.

There is a potential that Belle Fourche Police plans for a new facility and the county could collaborate with Belle Fourche. Sheriff Lamphere discussed the need for server and camera upgrades needed at the Courthouse.

"The only fix on the present server is to upgrade," he said. Architectural Specialties was approved to do the upgrade not to exceed $50,735.76 that includes a three-year warranty. This includes four to five new Butte County residents spoke to the Commissioners.

Comments began with James C. Sowers speaking "as a citizen of Butte County and not as a Belle Fourche City Councilman" directed his comments on his opposition to medical and recreational marijuana.

"I believe there is a price our society will pay," he said. He offered a solution that should be discussed. A viable solution would be a joint zoning in a district around Belle Fourche. He continued to say that Belle Fourche "should be able to concentrate on the safety and welfare and economic growth that proper nuisance ordinances bring to a community and the surrounding area of the county..."

He concluded that it is good that citizens are involved, but "anger takes away from the message. Stay on the message."

"We have issues, and we can solve them by working together," he said.

The commissioners need to be careful to not violate their oaths according to comments made by Travis Ismay. He stated that he had an issue with the actions taken by commissioners, not the commissioners themselves.

"Just listen," he said, to what is said.

Ismay expressed his concerns that having public comments at the end of the meeting doesn't allow anyone to speak to an issue before it's voted on.

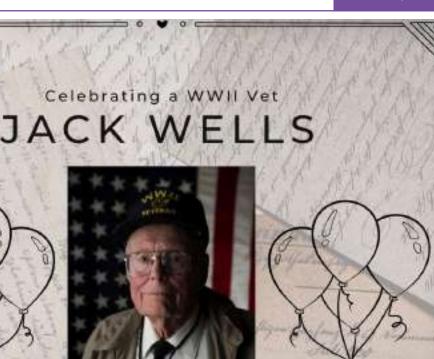

Sue Broadhurst expressed her thoughts on the Meeting Protocol Policy. She felt it was too strict and violated the public's right to speak. Broadhurst suggested the commissioners check out the policy on Public Comments at Fall River County. Comments written by Daryl Vig were read by Bob Vansickle by Vig's request. Vig requested video and audio recordings be provided. Vig felt that by not providing the public with those indicates the commissioners have something to hide.

Vig also said the State's Attorney was acting as a sixth commissioner and believes the commissioners are falsely reporting meeting activities.

Vansickle then spoke on his own behalf to address the three-minute restriction on Public Comments. He offered a compromise saying that time could be adjusted at anytime during the meeting and perhaps the best thing would be to have a block of time allotted.

° Civil, respectful, and courteous discourse and behavior are conducive to the democratic and harmonious airing of concerns and decision making; and ° Uncivil discourse and/or discourteous and inappropriate behavior may have a negative impact on the character and productivity of the decision-making process.

° To preserve the intent of open government and maintain a positive environment for citizen input and Commission decision-making, the Butte County Board of County Commission adopts the following Meeting Protocol and Rules of Decorum.

Compliance with the meeting protocol is expected and appreciated. We encourage citizens to familiarize themselves with these protocols prior to offering public comment. Public comment will continue to be listed as an agenda item at every regular County Commissioners meeting in compliance with SDCL § 1-25-1. The Commission Chair will decide if the public comment period will be held near the beginning of the meeting or at meetings end. The Chairman will open public comment by announcing the allotted time provided for the comment period and for individual speakers. Each individual wishing to be heard during the public comment period will be given up to 3 minutes to make a comment.

Speaker names are called in order. All speakers must use the podium and address the Commission. Please give your name and identify the item you will be addressing.

The public comment period is personal and may not be reserved or transferred to another to increase the time allotted for comments.

The public comment period will not be used to air personal grievances, make political endorsements, or for political campaign purposes, nor discuss matters which are the subject of scheduled public hearings. Speakers shall address all comments to the Commissioners as a whole and not to individual clarification purposes only. Public comment will not be used as a time for problem solving or reacting to comments made but, rather, for hearing the citizens for informational purposes only. The Board of Commissioners may assign staff to provide information requested by a speaker during the public comment period or may address issues raised at a subsequent meeting.

The Board of Commissioners may elect to defer public comment on specific issues that appear on the regular agenda until that specific item is addressed.

10. Anger, rudeness, ridicule, obscene or profane language, impatience, and lack of respect for others and personal attacks are not acceptable behavior. Demonstrations in support of or opposition to a speaker or idea are not permitted in the Commissioners Chambers. The Chairman is responsible for maintaining order.

Two Quiet Titles were approved by the commissioners. The Acceptance of Service Cheney and Acceptance of Summons to Olson Quiet Titles were approved.

The Board of Adjustment meeting regarding the variance request by Center of the Nation will be discussed Monday, June 19 at 9:30 a.m. The Board of Commission will meet immediately following with a ruling on the renewal application by Center of the Nation. During public comment six will be June 20, 2023 at 6 p.m. Please note that this is an evening meeting.

Butte County Board of County Commission has approved this policy at the latest County Commission meeting. It is based on similar policies set down by other counties.

Meeting Protocol and Rules of Decorum Policy

In support of and respect for open, fair, and informed decision-making process, the Board of Commissioners recognize that: Commissioners. Discussions between speakers and members of the audience shall not be allowed.

This time is for receipt of public comment not debate. The Chairman or Commissioners will not enter a dialogue with citizens. Questions from the Commissioners will be for 11. Failure to abide by these requirements may result in the forfeiture of the speaker's right to speak.

12. Citizens acting in a disorderly manner will be asked to leave the meeting or may, in certain cases, be prosecuted under the provisions of SDCL $ 22-18-35(3).

These articles come from newspaper microfilm from the Belle Fourche Public library, using a new microfilm reader and printer. The photographs in most cases are from the Tri-State Museum.

125 years ago Belle TIMES June 16, 1898 Captain Bullock Returns Captain Seth Bullock arrived in Deadwood Monday from Chickamauga. Looking hale and hearty and feeling in excellent spirits. He is home on a short visit to attend to some important business affairs and is pleased at the opportunity offered him of spending a few days with his family at Deadwood. Every one in Troop A is contented and in good health, and they have nothing to complain of except the extremely hot weather and the lack of attention on the part of the people. of the Black Hills to the wants of the local boys in camp. The boys would be better pleased if they were held in remembrance enough to receive a few letters occasionally, and even more substantial presents would be amiss. The troop is mounted on splendid Kentucky bred horses.

W.R.C.Concert

The concert given by the Women's Relief Corps Tuesday evening was a genuine treat to music lovers. The attendance was good and the participants, one and all acquitted themselves in a very commendable manner. The piano selections by Miss Geis were excellent and received much merited applause. A quartile composed of Misses White and Bird and Messrs. Evens and Buchanan favored the audience with some selections which were well received. Misses Wells and King sang a duet with much credit to themselves and the satisfaction of the audience. Perhaps the most pleasing number was the "Little Irish Washerwoman" by little Vera Barr, who completely captivated the audience by her characterization of the piece. The instrumental music by Messrs. Joslin and Ross, also Mrs. Dana received hearty applause. "Hot Time In Cuba" and "Twentieth Century Belles," by eight young ladies were greatly appreciated as the applause testified. But the one receiving the most enthusiastic reception of the entire program was the sole, "My Sweetheart Went Down With The Maine," sang by Miss Ola White was compelled to respond with another verse of this pretty song. After the concert the Gaiety management gave a dance which many participated in and enjoyed.

SUGAR CO. INACTIVITY DIS-APPOINTS: Officials of Great Western Company

Refuse to State When Factory Will Be Built

A party of officials of the Great Western Sugar Co. arrived in Belle Fourche Friday afternoon, coming to make a general inspection of their operations in this part of the country. In the afternoon they visited the Arpan and Nisland districts. In the evening they met with the directors of the Commercial Club and some of the business men of Belle Fourche. While it was hoped by the local people that some definite announcements relative to the future operations of the company would be made at this meeting, this hope did not hear fruit. The company representatives; E. R. Lippitt, general manager; Edwin Morrison, general superintendent; E. R. Griffith, traffic manager; Edmund Simmons, manager of the Nebraska district; A. M. 1 Ginn, manager of the factory at Scottsbluff, and also in charge of the work in the Belle Fourche district. Speaking for the company Mr. Petriken stated that the Belle Fourche district looked better to him on this trip than it ever had before, and he had great hopes for the future, but it would be impossible for his company to announce the erection of a sugar factory here until a greater acreage of beets was raised. He also stated that he could not understand why the beet acreage had fallen off in this district from eighteen hundred to five hundred acres last year, and about one thousand acres this year. This was explained to him as being due to the general impression that was gained early last year that the Great Western would not operate in this district last year, and further to the fact that as no assurance was give the farmers that they would have a market year after year for their beets, thus making the man who would otherwise grow beets hesitate about purchasing the machinery necessary to care for the crop. On the other hand if a factory was in operation, or if the company would give assurance that one would be built in one year or two years, the farmers then could plan their crops

and farming operations so the beet crop would be a certainty, and this would greatly increase the acreage. Mr. Petriken also stated that the Belle Fourche district appealed to him more than any other foreign district in which his company was interested, by foreign district, meaning one not close to one of their existing factories, but the policy of their company would be to protect the districts where they had factories. He also stated that at any time any other beet sugar company desired to build a factory before the Great Western was ready to erect one, the Great Western would sell their holdings in the Belle Fourche valley at a reasonable figure. Speaking of the acreage necessary for an economically managed factory, Mr. Lippett stated that 15,000 acres of beets each year would be necessary. He also stated that a district could only figure on using twenty percent of its available beet land each year, as continuous seeding to beets was impracticable. In other words it would require a total of seventy-five thousand acres of land adopted to raising beets to supply one factory of the size his company considered aa an economical one to build and operate.

On Saturday, Alvin and Marlee went to the Cordell family gathering at Shade Hill near Lemmon, and had a good day visiting. The gathering lasted all weekend and many people had come. On Sunday, Dorothy Padden had lunch with Gwen at the Stadium in Belle Fourche for her birthday. There were some great ones on Facebook. Some were scary, but Karen liked the dog with his nose nearly touching the bull's nose. That looked like David and Goliath. Charlie Odell went to Belle Fourche and Spearfish, on Monday, for supplies. On Friday, he went to Buffalo to get some steel posts. Charlie and Karen went to church on YouTube, this week, at the First Presbyterian Church in Marietta, Georgia. They couldn't find the newest service, so they finally decided to watch the Easter service, and that was the best choice they could have made. The organ was enhanced by brass instruments, and the prelude was so rousing that you could have felt the wonder of those who were actually there learning the story on the first Easter. The excellent choir joined in, making the moment more thrilling. The harp and violin were wonderful and then, the sermon was the most wonderful of all. Karen will go back to hear it all again, and again; when she can. At noon, they went to the Over The Edge for dinner. They visited with Janet Odell, and got to played some cards with Tytan Odell, before their dinner arrived at their table, and they had to quit. Already, Tytan was becoming expert. I would put a joke here, but I don't think it would compare with the joke Betty Olson had last week. If you missed it, better go back and find it. Spring is when you walk along whistling a happy tune even when your boot is full of slush.

Unraveling the Challenges of Small Local Businesses

Jay Conrad Levinson said "Small businesses fail when they ignore the importance of marketing. You can have the best product or service in the world, but if people don't know about it, they won't by John Newby small local businesses buy it." It is true that lack of marketing and advertising are main factors of business failures across the country, but let's explore a few other reasons that may contribute to the downfall of many small local businesses. We know that small local businesses play a vital role in fostering economic growth, creating jobs, and building vibrant communities. However, their journey to success can be particularly difficult in smaller markets. Let's explore the reasons behind the failure of small local businesses in small markets. We'll utilize a few analogies and logical analyses to shed light on this intricate phenomenon. When running a small business, one can feel like a small fish in a limited pond, struggling to find sustenance amidst intense competition. Similarly, smaller markets present businesses with smaller customer bases, limited purchasing power, and a reduced demand for niche products or services. Consequently, often face challenges in achieving economies of scale, which hampers their ability to compete against larger enterprises that benefit from bulk purchasing and mass production. Much like a spider web constricting its prey, smaller markets can entrap local businesses within a web of limited resources and opportunities. These markets often lack diverse talent pools, specialized infrastructure, and access to investment capital. Consequently, entrepreneurs may find it challenging to acquire skilled employees, upgrade technology, and innovate, thus impeding their overall growth prospects.

Just as a stone creates ripples on the surface of a pond, similarly, external factors can have far-reaching consequences for markets. Economic downturns, shifting consumer preferences, and changing industry dynamics impact these businesses more profoundly than their larger counterparts due to their limited resources and less diversified customer bases. They lack the cushioning ability to absorb shocks, making them vulnerable to external shocks.

Sometimes a small business must feel a bit like David as he faced an uphill battle against Goliath. Small local businesses often confront fierce competition from larger corporations. These giants possess substantial market power, extensive marketing budgets, and established supply chains. This disadvantage can make it arduous for small local businesses to capture market share, attract customers, and sustain profitability, leading to their eventual demise.

Analogous to a maze with hidden paths, smaller markets suffer from lack of information providing resources, where local businesses struggle to reach their target audience effectively. Limited advertising and marketing budgets, lack of digital presence, and inadequate access to market intelligence and data can hinder small business's ability to effectively connect with customers. This information gap perpetuates their invisibility, ultimately resulting in decreased sales and market share.

Infrastructure acts as the backbone of any business ecosystem. In many cases in smaller markets, inadequate infrastructure can create a significant hurdle for small local businesses. Inadequate transportation networks, limited warehousing facilities, and unreliable power supply can disrupt supply chains, increase operational costs, and impede growth opportunities. The lack of infrastructure support further undermines the ability of small businesses to compete effectively.

As you can see, the failure of small local businesses in smaller markets can be attributed to a complex interplay of factors, including limited customer base, constrained resources, fierce competition, lack of the ability to market and advertises effectively, and inadequate infrastructure.

For smaller communities to combat this, they must recognize these obstacles and adjust accordingly. Strong local communities aren't strong by accident, they are strong because they are hyper supportive of small local businesses and have developed the attitude of teamwork. They understand that raising the water level raises all the ships in the harbor and work hard to build an environment of business success. By nurturing an environment that fosters innovation, promotes infrastructure development, builds upon the entrepreneurial spirit, and encourages collaboration, they create a more inclusive community where small local businesses can thrive and contribute to their growth and vitality.

Nisland VBS Goes Full Armor

Music leader Becky Smith (bottom left) leads the Nisland Independent Community Church students in one of the Bible verses they learned. The students were reciting the verse during the closing program of the Vacation Bible School this past week. The theme for the VBS was "Keepers of the Kingdom," and was based on scripture from Ephesians 6:11-17 referencing the Full Armor of God. Story on Page C4. - Brunner photo

Success

NEWELL – The city-wide area yard sale was a giant success this year. Organizer Teresa Pittman of VIP Insurance coordinated the event, took the names and addresses and created a list for those coming to peruse the treasurers. More than 18 locations as well as one location for a bake sale were included in the list. Dartmouth (Highway 212/79) through town was a boon to garage sale hunters, including something for everyone, Coca Cola products, tools, household goods, yard tools, and numerous other items. The Newell ambulance hall set up some tables with items from members, Newell Hardware and Gayles Showbox and Boots held sidewalk and anniversary sales, and one family out on old Highway 212 brought a number

Vale Church Holds Fundraiser Supper

Colleen Brunner news@bellefourchebeacon.com

VALE - The Vale Community Country Church held a fundraiser spaghetti supper and bake sale, as well as a silent auction on May 31. The church regularly holds different activities but this was an event to support the ministry itself.

"We were hoping for a better turnout," said Pastor Darla

Dunn's daughter, Marian Westbrook, also had on display her Pink Zebra products, a business which she is working hard to get going in the area. She started about a year ago but had some delays in bringing her products to the public.

Several members of the church assisted Dunn in serving up the spaghetti, including her grandson. They also assisted in providing baked goods and silent auction items which brought bids to support the organization as well.

A memorial garden in Scottsbluff, Nebraska, was dedicated to the memory of Dr. Matthew Bruner last week. Dr. Bruner was a Newell High School graduate and son of Chuck and Betty Bruner. He was killed in a plane crash in November 2021. Shown above from left; Deidra Bruner and her children - Nyah, Josiah, Jocelyn and James. Grand River Roundup

Betty Olson news@bellefourchebeacon.com

It was hot and dry this week with temperatures in the 90s until it cooled off on Saturday and Sunday.

Bev Heier took her husband Iver to Dickinson early Monday morning to get his knee replaced and she was able to bring him home that afternoon after his successful surgery. Reub and I went to Hettinger that afternoon for my eye exam with Dr. Kludt and that turned out well. My eyes haven't changed since my last appointment and my glasses didn't even need to be changed!

Tuesday, June 6th was D-Day. Bev Heier's father, Tony Kooiman, was one of the soldiers who landed on Normandy Beach 79 years ago in 1944 to liberate France from the German's. My father, Bryce White, was in the 3rd Division and they followed behind to liberate Paris, where Dad was one of a small number of 3rd Division soldiers awarded the French Croix de Guerre medal.

Casey and Taz helped Bill Holt move his cows down to the Grinde place on Tuesday. When Taz got home he came up and put our air conditioner in for us and then helped Reub find where to put the filter in his side-by-side. Don't know what we'd do without Taz around here!

Reub and I made a fast trip to Reeder on Wednesday to get spray for Reub to continue spraying all those noxious weeds growing around here. He plans on putting his side-by-side on the new trailer he got to haul it up to our Horse Creek pasture to spray weeds up there. Lanie and her kids came down Thursday morning and all those little people sure had a lot of fun playing together while Casey and Taz were working on the swather. They had to order parts for it and Taz went down south, hooked the hydro-swing behind the tractor and brought it home to get it ready to hay with too. Taz and Amanda went to Buffalo that evening for the "diaper bash" shower for the twins at Casey and Missy's town house. Copper went home with Grandma Starla Jenson and Grandma Missy brought the rest of the little people home after the shower that night.

Mason and Kiley (Schuchard)

Sandal had a baby boy Thursday, June 9. Little Statler Ole Sandal weighed 8lbs 5.8ozs and is 21 inches long. Congratulations to the grandparents Amanda and Eric Schuchard and great grandparents

Bev and Iver Heier! Casey went up to Laufer's on Friday to get the baler they fixed for him. Taz and Amanda left that morning for the wedding of one of Taz's college friends in Lincoln, Nebraska, on Saturday.

Casey and Missy left Saturday afternoon for a wedding in the Black Hills. Reub and I went to the Gideon meeting at the Coal Springs Church south of Meadow Corner that evening for the International Day of Prayer. We had a potluck supper before prayer time and all the Gideons participated in prayer after supper. It was a wonderful evening with Christian friends and we got home a little after 9:00 that evening. Taz and Amanda and the kids were home when we got here.

Pastor Henry and Linda Mohagen weren't in church Sunday morning because they were going to the annual church conference in Sioux Falls this week. Eric Schuchard led the service and we sang Happy Birthday to Linda Hathaway before watching a video of Abiding Savior Free Lutheran Church in Sioux Falls. Bev Heier came to church, but Iver stayed home recuperating from his knee surgery. Jill Hotchkiss and Teddi Carlson fed us coffee and delicious goodies after church. Casey and Missy came home from the wedding Sunday afternoon in time for Casey to help Taz finish wiring in the well pump by his house and fill the hole they had dug earlier after taking out the old patio to get to the well. After they had it wired in, they put another patio next to the porch on Taz and Amanda's house and it looks pretty nice.

I'll leave you with this: Things that Took Me 50 Years to Learn

by Dave Berry

*Never under any circumstances take a sleeping pill and a laxative on the same night. *If you had to identify, in one word, the reason why the human race has not achieved, and never will achieve, its full potential, that word would be "meetings".

*There is a very fine line between "hobby" and "mental illness."

*You should not confuse your career with your life. *No matter what happens, somebody will find a way to take it too seriously. *When trouble arises and things look bad, there is always one individual who perceives a solution and is willing to take command. Very often, that individual is crazy. *Nobody cares if you can't dance well. Just get up and dance.

*Never lick a steak knife. *Take out the fortune before you eat the cookie.

*The most powerful force in the universe is gossip.

*You will never find anybody who can give you a clear and compelling reason why we observe daylight savings time. *The one thing that unites all human beings, regardless of age, gender, religion, economic status or ethnic background, is that, deep down inside, we ALL believe that we are above

We learn that a report has been circulated that Tipperary and Tip Top, the famous bucking horses owned by Charles H. Wilson, will not be at the Round-up held in Buffalo by the American Legion. We do not know where such a report originated, but it is not entirely false and these 2 horses will be at Buffalo on July 4 and 5. It is well known that Sam Brownell, who has been arena manager for several years at the Belle Fourche Round-up, is in charge of the Wilson horses and Sam is now in Buffalo and expects to be here most of the time until the big show is pulled off, making preparations for the event.

NISLAND – Five full days of vacation Bible school was held at Nisland Independent Community Church, on Junes 5-9 with the closing program at 6 p.m. on Friday. Around 50 children attended daily from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. The theme for the VBS was "Keepers of the Kingdom," and was based on scripture from Eph. 6:11-17 on the Armor of God.

Each day the children met in different age groups to cycle through different stations. After the opening, where the kids learned about the Bible lesson, they participated in resource time, crafts, games and snacks that all related to putting on the armor of God. During the week the children created the individual pieces of armor, including the helmet of salvation, the belt of truth, the breastplate of righteousness, the shoes of peace, and the sword of the Spirit. Education superintendent and organizer Anna Crockford directed the group through the day and provided the missionary lesson during the closing each day.

"I think the kids had a great time and learned a lot," said Crockford. She hopes that those who don't have a church home may begin to attend at Nisland or find another church that preaches the Word.

Pastor Chris Jones welcomed the kids each morning with the word "Huzzah!" which means to shout a joyful noise. The kids really got into the theme and the different songs led by musician Becky Smith.

Betty Bruner led the resource time, Brenda Hagan and Karen Jensen organized themed games and many other adults and around 13 student helpers worked as individual group teachers, kitchen staff, registration staff, craft teachers and general help.

The material was provided to the church by Reach 19, a children's ministry provided by Village Missions. The Nisland church is one of many rural churches supported with a VM pastor/missionary, like Chris Jones. Reach 19 is a program of Village Missions to provide tools rural churches need to effectively reach the 85-90 percent of those who receive Christ by age 19.

"That's why we are committed to reaching children with the gospel while they are still young," said the mission. If you would like to assist Village Missions and the Nisland Church in this endeavor you can reach out to https://villagemissions.org/ reach19 or nislandchurch.org.

Nisland church has education classes each Sunday morning at 9:30 and a worship service at 10:45. They invite all in the local area to come and visit.

Vale School Receives Grant for Renovation buildings and the grounds tell the story of life in the region and how educational trends here were consistent with those in action and identity. The Vale School Grounds is the property of the Vale Township. Board member Paula Reedy, a recently retired art instructor for the Newell School District has been an active proponent for the restoration project. The grant money will be used for the first stage of restoration, external painting and window repair. "The Vale Township Board and several community members have been working hard. They have volunteered time and resources on the renovation. We hope to make these building available for community use for the Vale community.' Mrs. Reedy explained in an interview. "So many people have stepped in to lend a hand." Mrs. Reedy offered thanks to several other participants including Bonny Anfison, program coordinator for Deadwood Historic Preservation, Beverly Posey, Chairman of Deadwood Historic Preservation Commission, Katie Wasley, Historic Preservation representative from The South Dakota State Historical Society and grant writer, Meg English.

overdue facelift for the Vale School is underway. Thanks to awards from the South Dakota Historical Society and the Deadwood Grant Fund, work will commence this summer to restore the property.

The last graduating class from the Vale School received their diplomas in 1967. The grade school closed in 1983. In 1984 the buildings were added to the National Historic Register.

The Vale School campus can be seen on Rosander Avenue in Vale at the east end of town. Designed by architect Stephen Berry, the school was built in 1914 by Guy Kingsbury of Vale. The building has distinctive tall windows and large classrooms. Many original features such as the blackboards are still in tact.

In 1929, another building was constructed to the west of the main school. Known as the Gymnasium Addition (GA), this long, rectangular structure served as an auditorium/gymnasium for the growing school district.

The original GA had two distinct spaces. Approximately one third of the building on the front south side was used for two elementary classrooms. The back two thirds of the GA was an all-purpose gathering room for sports events, graduations, dances, performances and other school/community functions.

A stage in the back far north end remains in good condition. The Quonset building style also lent itself to high ceilings for basketball. There are many original treasures in tact in the gymnasium section of the GA including original basketball hoops, a scoreboard, and various posters with logos featuring the school mascot and other memorabilia.

As one of the only or few school buildings from the early 20th century of its type in western South Dakota, the Vale School is irreplaceable. The the larger United States.

From the early 1900s into the 1920s larger buildings were replacing one-room schools across the country. A decline in the rural farm economy resulted in population shifts. For the first time, more people were living in towns and cities than on farms. A movement toward school consolidation that continues to the present time was just beginning.

During the 1930s through the 1970s the population shift away from farms continued. Efforts to professionalize education shaped curriculum and established standards for teaching and learning. The Vale School is part of this story too.

While experiencing national demographic shifts and educational trends the Vale School has a local story to tell about a community that has remained rural. The local story interweaves family history, community and describes the importance of the school as a foundation of community inter-

The Vale Township was recently awarded two historic preservation grants from the South Dakota State Historical Foundation and the Outside of Deadwood Grant Fund to restore the Vale School buildings. However, our beers were still being brewed on our 5-barrel system while we were waiting for our new 30-barrel brew house – three 60-barrel fermentation vessels and 60-barrel bright beer tank to arrive and be installed. Installation of the new equipment, plumbing, wiring and boiler system was completed in June of 2010. In addition to the larger brewing system, a Cask automated canning line was brought online in the fall of 2010, allowing us to distribute our product in both draft and packaged form.

By the end of 2015, Crow Peak Brewing Company was producing 2,000 barrels of beer annually and was distributing its products in South Dakota, North Dakota, Nebraska, Wyoming and Minnesota. We were finding it hard to keep up with demand, especially in the summer months so we underwent a second expansion in 2018. With two additional fermentation vessels and one additional bright beer tank, we are now able to produce approximately 5,000 barrels annually.
