Is On Again, Off Again Councilman On or Off Again?

Belle Fourche Councilman Troy Shockey is being accused of excessive absences and is facing the vacation of his City Council seat.

Shockey was first elected to the council in 2015. He later resigned in May of 2016.

He ran again for the seat and was unopposed in 2018.

The Monday regular meeting of the Council had agenda item #26: Set date for a special election to fill the Ward 1 Alderman vacancy for September 8th, 2020.

The disposition of that item was not available at press time.

In February of this year the Council adopted a new section of city ordinance that would enable the board to penalize a councilperson for excessive absences punishable by vacation of their position. Any member who fails to attend three consecutive meetings shall be deemed to have resigned their position.

Shockey was officially notified that his position as a Ward 1 councilperson had been vacated.

Shockey said his schedule makes it difficult to make meetings, and he apparently has run afoul of the city's ordinance that requires attendance at all of the meetings or an explanation of why they were missed. But he feels he was being singled out for punishment.

"So I was supposed to talk to the Mayor or the President of

School Board Approves Plan to Re-Open School Activities

The Belle Fourche School board approved a plan to re-open the school's athletic facilities in anticipation of resuming events this fall. A three-phase plan was presented by Adam Nowowiejski, school district Activities Director, at the board's regular meeting on June 8th.

"The COVID-19 pandemic continues to be a fluid situation but with the guidance from NFHS (National Federation of High School Associations), the SDHSAA and the CDC we're making strides to move towards some form of normal," Nowowiejski reported. "Dr. Willard and I have worked closely together to come up with a potential 3-phase plan to slowly open our athletic facilities for the summer to be preparing for the upcoming fall seasons."

Nowowiejski also reported that coaches continue to be in contact with their student athletes via Zoom and are providing them workouts to do individually from home.

The Re-opening plan covers the athletic facilities within the Belle Fourche School District. The three phases are rolled out according to date and prior to moving onto the next phase there should be a downward of flat trajectory of documented cases of COVID-19. Each phase covers a 14-day period. Phase one is currently underway and will continue until June 23rd. If all goes well phase two will begin June 24th and run through July 8th. Phase three is expected to begin July 9th through July 23rd at which time activities and workouts would continue as they would under normal circumstances.

According to the SDHSAA activities will be classified into three categories; low risk, moderate risk and high risk. Low risk includes such activities as track and field, gold, sideline cheer, cross country, debate and oral interpretation. Moderate risk includes weight training, volleyball, soccer, gymnastics, tennis, pole vault, high jump, long jump, 7-on-7 football and one-act play. High risk includes football, wrestling, basketball, competitive cheer and dance.

In phase one indoor and outdoor facility use will be limited to 10 people. In phase 2 indoor use remains at 10 while 50 will be allowed outdoors. In phase 3, 50 students with coaches will

Downtown Business District Helps Keep 11th Annual Cattle Drive Part of 101st Roundup

The 11th Annual BH Roundup Cattle Drive will take place at 3:00 pm on June 30th in part because of the support and encouragement of the Belle Fourche Historic Downtown Business District.

The group raised funds to offset associated costs to continue the annual event.

The spectator favorite is a taste of the old west in the way Belle Fourche used to be, as one of the largest cattle drive hubs in the western United States. The Black Hills Roundup recreates this tradition with a cattle drive through downtown Belle Fourche on State Street headed to the Roundup Grounds.

In the 1800's, before cattle trucks, and before railroads criss-crossed the west, the best way to get cattle from the ranch to the market was drive them with cowboys on horseback. It was common for wranglers to move as many as 60,000 head to market, from Mexico to the major rail heads like Belle Fourche.

That heritage continues during the opening day of the Roundup. You will see longhorn cattle herded by mounted cowboys and trailed by wagons, just like in days gone by!

Dr. James and Mary Myers Named 2020 101st Black Hills Roundup Parade Grand Marshall

Dr. James and Mary Myers have been named as July 4th, 2020 101st Black Hills Roundup Parade Grand Marshall.

The Myers will be celebrating 50 years in Belle Fourche this July 4th and 49 years of operating the Belle Fourche Veterinary Clinic. The entire Tri-State area and the Black Hills Roundup committee congratulate them and give honor for their years of service to our community and the producers of the entire region.

James Howard Myers was raised on a ranch near Henry, SD and graduated from Henry High School (Home of the Owls) in May of 1962. He attended one year of pre-vet at SDSU and then transferred to Kansas State University in Manhattan, KS for his degree as a Veterinarian graduating in June, 1968.

Jim married Mary Howe in September 1967 in McPherson, KS. Following his graduation they spent two years stationed at Kincheloe AFB, Michigan, and then moved to Belle Fourche in 1970. He worked one year for DVM R.M. Buck and then opened a practice of his own. In 1974 the Belle Fourche Veterinary Clinic moved into its new facility on the south side of town.

The practice has grown from that day into a modern progressive clinic that includes himself, four additional veterinarians and a proficient support staff.

Providing care for large and small animals alike, Belle Fourche Veterinary Clinic is a full-service Veterinary Clinic and has been proudly treating the pets, horses, and livestock of the Belle Fourche and surrounding area since 1971. Whether it's a large animal who provides for your livelihood, a pet who is a beloved companion, or an equine athlete you compete with, they understand you seek current and compassionate veterinary care.

They are focused on continually learning to provide the customer with up to date modern animal care.

Dr. Myers is best known for his love of bovine medicine and his commitment to his clients. He is recognized for having made extensive advancements in bovine surgeries and treatments of baby calves. His practice has always been synonymous with progressive and cutting-edge medicine. He was member of the AVC, the Society of Theriogenology, the AVMA, SDVMSA & Wyoming VMA and spent a number of years in active support of 4-H and is a 1981-82 Friend of Education. He served on the SD Veterinary Licensing Board and the SD Hazmat Board. He was named Ag Business of the Year in 2005 and was selected as SD Veterinarian of the Year in 2007. He was also honored to receive the Black Hills Angus Assoc. Honored Business of the Year in 2005.

In the early years in Belle Fourche, Mary worked full or part-time at the clinic as did all four of their children. She claimed she just kept having children until he fired her for good. Her major interests have always been supportive of whatever the children were involved in. She served a number of years on the softball association board and as a volunteer on numerous school board committees and booster clubs. She was named 1991-92 Friend of Education. She has a deep commitment to family and a fascination with genealogy. All four children attended BF Schools from kindergarten through high school.

Pastor's Perspective

Pastor's Perspective is provided by Evelyn Weaver of St. James Episcopal Church in Belle Fourche.

"Remember, I am with you always."

In Genesis, we read the creation story found in chapters one and two. God made the heavens and the earth and all that are in them. And God saw that it was good! The people saw this God not only as their creator but also as a parent. As someone who cared for them, brought them out of bondage and weeps when they are hurting. That is the God we read about in the Hebrew Scriptures and who is part of our salvation history.

The next image of God appears to the faith community as Jesus. Through his birth, life, teachings, death, resurrection and ascension, they received another understanding of God. Through Jesus they experienced God not as somebody, "out there somewhere," but someone living among us to teach us and show us the way to God. The faith community now saw God also as their savior and redeemer.

And finally, this faith community experienced God as the Holy Spirit. People from different regions, different cultures and with different languages were all gathered in one area. The Holy Spirit came and landed on them, in the form of tongues of fire, so they could each understand the other in their own language. The Holy Spirit came to be with all of us and be our advocate on earth after Jesus had ascended to the Father. The faith community now has experienced God as the Holy Spirit. They have experienced the Trinity - Father, Son, and Holy Spirit.

So now what do we do? Today is the day that our work as a Christian community really begins. In the Gospel of Matthew chapter 28 verses 16 through 20, we read the account of the Commissioning of the Disciples. Jesus says: "All authority in heaven and earth has been given to me. Go therefore and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, and teaching them to obey everything that I have commanded you. And remember, I am with you always, to the end of the age."

Our church communities love to gather together to worship and share in fellowship. This pandemic we find ourselves in has made this difficult, but it has not broken our sense of community or relationships which is at the very heart of the Trinity. We have all found ways to support each other and stay connected, to share the Good News with those we encounter in our daily walk.

We are also blessed to be in a community that looks out for each other. Individuals are doing ministry where and when they see the need. They are sharing the Gospel of Christ through their actions. As St. Francis of Assisi said: "Preach the Gospel. If necessary, use words."

The best part of the Gospel reading from Matthew for me is the last few words. "Remember, I am with you always." That gives me great peace. We are not left alone. What Jesus has commanded his disciples, and all of us who are his hands on earth, is to go and teach and show by example the Good News to everyone we encounter. And we will not be alone in our effort. He will be with us always. During these difficult times we find ourselves in, that is indeed comforting.

The thanks and the praise be to God.

Tilted Gallery to Open in Historical State Street Building

According to local historical documents, 516 State Street is one of the original buildings in Belle Fourche. The whole building was moved into town from the original location in the once thriving Minnesela site in 1895.

One hundred twenty-five years later, an artist and a writer are now in residence, calling it The Tilted Gallery. "My husband Larry and I began renovations early this year and our amazing contractors revealed the original tin ceiling and unusual tin walls, along with the thin slat floors. It's been so exciting," says co-owner and artist in residence, Hilea Hutchinson. "Restoring the raw, baseline integrity to this building has created an amazing studio/gallery space...and a spacious writing office for Larry, too!"

Hilea creates Bio-Energy Paintings, a style based in depicting the living electrical energy field intrinsic to all life. "I really translate the energies of nature and emotion into colors, forms, and portray the energy flows. It's a personal style, somewhere between Abstract and Impressionism. I really run the gambit between the two."

"The Tilted Gallery gives me the space to create and show the work. This building is a great home base." A home base in which the Hutchinsons plan on using to foster the creative endeavors of others, too.

Tilted Gallery view of the east interior wall with a reflection of the gallery's west wall in the mirrors behind the counter.

"Creative types are very welcome here," says Larry O. Hutchinson, the resident author, "We plan on welcoming seminars, book signings, theatre skits, and occasional weekend art shows for local artists."

The Tilted Gallery plans to open sometime later in the summer. "We're taking it easy right now," says Hilea, "I never thought we would be starting a business during a pandemic, so we're also making decisions based on that. All in all, we're very grateful to be part of this building's history and part of the downtown area.

Everyone has been so supportive and welcoming."

As to the name: The Tilted Gallery, Hilea explains with a smile, "After 125 years of action and adventure, from the cattle booms to the 21st century, the building tilts a little to the west. We completely embrace being a part of that history!"

Hilea is an award winning artist who creates Bio-Energy Paintings of natural themes.

Larry O. Hutchinson is a published Amazon author of the book "Beware of a Calm Day", an account of his nuclear bomb testing experiences in the US Navy in 1962.

Get PT First During the COVID-19 Pandemic

Because of the closures of physician's offices, stoppages of elective surgeries, and social distancing guidelines resulting from COVID-19, many people with pain or joint issues have had appointments or surgeries delayed. If you're one of them and you haven't seen your PT yet, you should. You can see your PT via virtual telehealth sessions or in the clinic setting. Here are some reasons why:

Early PT leads to better outcomes

Studies have shown that people who receive PT sooner have better outcomes, lower costs, are less likely to have surgery, use opioids or have unnecessary testing. Because back pain is so common, there is a lot of outcome data from people with back pain. A study of 150,000 insurance claims published in Health Services Research, found that those who saw a physical therapist at the first point of care had an 89 percent lower probability of receiving an opioid prescription, a 28 percent lower probability of having advanced imaging services, and a 15 percent lower probability of an emergency department visit. Unfortunately, only 2% of people with back pain start with PT, and only 7% get to PT within 90 days.

Early PT saves money

The rising cost of healthcare is well known and early PT is something that has been shown to reduce costs without reducing the effectiveness of treatment. A study published in the Journal of Orthopaedic and Sports Physical Therapy showed that patients who obtained physical therapy via direct access had significantly lower medical costs—an average of $1,543 less per patient than those who chose referral from a physician. They also had significantly fewer visits and spent significantly fewer days in care.

Free Treatment Day Tuesday, June 23rd

If you were planning on seeing your primary care physician or a specialist for an orthopedic condition or pain and you haven't seen a PT yet, you should consider making PT your first stop. You could end up getting better faster for less money and you might avoid riskier treatments, like opioids or surgery. Pain & Movement Solutions

Solid Gold Tipperary medal presented to Yakima Canute in 1921 Commemorating his qualified rides on the horse in 1920 and 1921. The only qualified rides ever on the famous Wilson bucking horse.

TR "Tony" Chytka is making bronze replicas of the medal to present to the Event winners at this year's 101st Roundup. In 1921 it was still the Tri-State Roundup.

Rural School Librarians Develop Digital Skills

Karen Schlekeway from Belle Fourche School District begins the third of a three-year professional development cohort program, designed to enhance her skills in the digital world, on June 9-10 with an online conference. Thirteen rural school librarians drawn from each of three states—North Dakota, South Dakota, and Wyoming—are participating in the cohort. Technology and Innovation in Education (TIE) of Rapid City is coordinating the program, free to librarians, thanks in part to an Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS) grant. The State Libraries of North Dakota, South Dakota, and Wyoming are key partners with TIE on this program, called "Reaching Out."

Through face-to-face and virtual learning, school librarians gain expertise in creating Open Educational Resources (OER) and will be prepared to serve as instructional leaders in their schools. The conference this week provides a focus on personalization, sustainability and blended learning options. Reaching Out Director, Julie Erickson, says "A great school library functions as the heart of a school, providing access to physical and virtual resources to instruct and support not only students but staff as well. I'm so excited to see our participants' growth in leadership as they collaborate with their colleagues and teach their students through the training provided by the Reaching Out program."

BH Roundup to be Featured in Documentary

— The 101st Black Hills Roundup will be featured in a one-hour documentary to air on The Cowboy Channel. Highlights of the rodeo, the rich history of the event and the stories of the community that have supported it for more than a century will be contained in the special, according to the network. The broadcast will be shown sometime after the event, although a specific air date has not yet been set.

The Roundup is one of only a few national rodeos that will take place during the 4th of July holiday. Normally the time period is jam-packed with events in what competitors refer to as “Cowboy Christmas” due to the amount of prize money that is available. This year, due to COVID-19, many of the events have been postponed or canceled. As a result, interest in the 2020 Roundup is at an all-time high among the nation’s top cowboys.

One rodeo that is taking place over the 4th of July is the Prescott Frontier Days Rodeo, which bills itself as America’s oldest rodeo. The event traces its roots back to 1888. As part of the PRCA’s ProRodeo Tour schedule it will be shown live on the channel over the 4th of July.

The Roundup will be featured at a later date as part of the Cowboy Channel’s new practice of highlighting the previous year’s rodeo award-winners. The Roundup was named the PRCA’s Medium Outdoor Rodeo of the Year in 2019 for the second year in a row. According to the network the documentary sets out to feature several aspects of the Belle Fourche rodeo. It will highlight the competition from this year’s rodeo, tell the story of the event’s origins and then show the color and pageantry that surround the rodeo. This will include the parade, fireworks, ranch rodeo, carnival, queen pageants and charity events. The program will also profile the community of Belle Fourche and delve into the generational support that the Black Hills Roundup has received from its many volunteers since 1918.

From A1 Council

the Council, so I let Vern Hintz know about the last city council meeting, and so therefore I did not miss three consecutive meetings. This is taking an active member of the council, and trying to remove him from his seat, a public and elected seat, and over what?” he asked.

Schockey feels the State already has an ordinance in place, so the city’s version is redundant, and feels this is a personal grudge against him on the part of Mayor Gloria Landphere and Ward 1 Councilor Monte Talkington. “Removing me from the council is disenfranchising the voter, and I hope the voter takes heed or a warning from this” he added. He went on to say he hopes the voters remove Landphere from office and that this is nothing more than a personal vendetta against him. Schockey feels he is being singled out because in his words, “I’m a squeaky wheel. It stems initially from the issue with the liquor store and me wanting an oversight committee over the Mayor and the Finance officer. Mayor Gloria Landphere says this is not about vendettas. “Our ordinance states that if you miss three meetings in a row, there is still a provision to talk with the council and have the absence excused. So that’s basically it in a nutshell,” she said.

She added that Schockey talking with Council President Vern Hintz didn’t qualify, as he needed to talk with the whole council. And as for his claim of a vendetta against him, Landphere was adamant that was not the case.

“It wouldn’t be any different if it was another council person,” she said.

As for the issue of oversight of the liquor store, she stated the council told Schockey the Legal and Finance office was having oversight of the municipal liquor store during the search for a general manager. “Besides, all committees have oversight of any department,” she added.

Landphere commented that Schockey was the only council member to vote against the attendance ordinance, so one could see why he was unhappy.

As for the state statute on attendance, municipalities are allowed to craft their own ordinances to fit their needs. Landphere reiterated that this wasn’t meant to pick on one person, that’s the way the ordinance works.

Ward 1 Councilor Monte Talkington echoed that sentiment, saying this was an issue that was raised by several of his colleagues.

“This was never meant to single out one person. I had four or five members approach me about absences since this was a problem before,” he said. He recounted how the state enacted the ordinance and City Attorney Dwight Gubbrud was asked to draft an ordinance for the city.

“This is a job that we get paid for. You can’t do your job if you’re not there,” he said. He agreed that Troy Schockey’s talking with Vern Hintz wasn’t enough, that he needed to talk with the council.

“I can see how Troy has a problem with this, but we simply can’t do business with a lot of absences. Something needs to be done,” said Talkington.

The Beacon will report next week on the Councils actions.

Has Quarantine Forced You to Consider a Split From Your Home?

Has spending more time at home lately had you reconsidering your space? The quirks you lived with just a few months ago might not be so easy to dismiss when you're stuck with them all day, every day. Here's how to tell if your relationship with your house can recover or if it's time to move on.

You have no appetite for a renovation

Your home might be a good candidate for a makeover, but if the thought of living in a dusty construction zone with contractors coming and going is unbearable to you, then it's time to start over. There's no shame in foregoing renovations for something move-in ready. After all, there will be plenty of eager DIYers happy to make you an offer.

You're not crazy about your neighborhood

You know what they say: location, location, location. We'll put up with a lot for our home to be in a nice spot, close to work and in a good school district. But maybe that spot doesn't work for you anymore. Do schools still matter or are your kids older now? Are you working from home permanently and your commute is no longer a factor? When you're no longer tied to a specific neighborhood, the possibilities are endless.

It's just too small
If the quarantine has made your small space feel even more crowded, or you need to make space for a new home office (or two), it might be time to upgrade.

It's too old

We all love a heritage home. The architecture! The charm! The 100-year-old... everything. You may have been ready for the sweat equity when you moved in, but when paired with everyday life, 'this old house' can feel more like 'this new nightmare.'

If the emotional and financial toll of living in a home that is just too much of a project is getting to you, consider shopping for a new one. A new construction home might not give you the same character, but you will get a house that's brand new in every way and a warranty to boot.

The Mortgage Business Is Alive, Well, and Online

With some segments of the economy tentatively reopening, many who are buying a home or refinancing an existing mortgage may be wondering how and where to get financing. The good news is, the loan process hasn't changed much, and it can all be done online.

While some loan officers still prefer to meet their clients in person, more and more mortgage professionals are equipped to meet virtually and communicate by phone and video conference. Loan officers know many borrowers can't take off work during the day in order to meet, so they tend to work on-demand, around their client's schedules.

The rest can be done remotely as well. Clients can submit loan applications online, which are then reviewed at the mortgage office. The loan is then submitted to an online automated underwriting system, or AUS. The AUS then provides a list of all the items needed for a final approval.

Loan officers get their rates online. They order third party services like credit reports and appraisals online. For years, the mortgage industry has been moving toward a remote-ready model, so for many professionals in the sector this isn't a 'new' normal. Just normal.

For those currently in the market for a loan, there's no need to wait. The mortgage industry is alive and well. And online.

Anything Left in the Barrel?

The Cub Scout Pack 19 program on June 14, Flag Day, was a much welcome warm afternoon tribute to the Stars & Stripes.

To see young people honoring and exhibiting proper respect for our nation's flag is something today's media should portray.

The country began celebrating Flag Day in 1916. That's when President Woodrow Wilson issued a presidential proclamation establishing a national Flag Day on June 14.

Congressional legislation designating that date as the national Flag Day was later signed into law by President Harry Truman in 1949. The legislation also requires the president to issue a flag day proclamation every year.

Here is an excerpt from President Trump's Flag Day Proclamation: Our great flag causes us to reflect humbly on the immeasurable price that has been paid to keep it "so gallantly streaming." Throughout our Nation's history, proud patriots have nobly answered the call of duty when our country needed them most. The Star Spangled Banner serves as an everlasting remembrance of the sacrifices heroes of every generation have made in conflicts from the Revolutionary War to the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan. Our flag ensures that we never forget the incredible sacrifices our men and women in uniform have made to defend our liberty and way of life.

The American flag represents the unity of our country and its people. No matter what may divide us, Old Glory should be revered and cherished, as a symbol of all that makes America the greatest country in the world. As we honor our beautiful flag on this day and throughout this week, let us vow never to forget the tremendous sacrifices made by patriots from generation to generation to ensure that the red, white, and blue continues to fly high and free. Today, and every day, I am proud to join my fellow Americans in standing tall and saluting our great American flag.

"God, family and country" is how the slogan goes, but according to a recent survey the people see the order as family first (62 percent), "being an American" second (52 percent); "Religious faith" third (38 percent).

No matter how you rank them don't forget this coming Sunday, June 21 is Father's Day.

What is father's day like for a little child? It's just like another Mother's day to him, the only difference, is that you don't need to spend so much.

A letter to a father from a son at college:

Dear Dad,
School is really great. I am making lots of friends and studying very hard. With all my stuff, I simply can't think of anything I need, so if you would like, you can just send me a card, as I would love to hear from you.
Love,
Your Son
The Reply: (to the above)
Dear Son,
I know that astronomy, economics, and oceanography are enough to keep even an honor student busy. Do not forget that the pursuit of knowledge is a noble task, and you can never study enough.
Dad

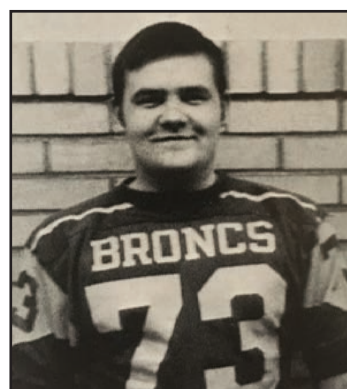

You know he's your Dad when a friend stays over and your Dad says after ordering a pizza for delivery, "I'd tell you a joke about pizza, but it's a little cheesy."

You know it's not your Dad when he says, "Here's a credit card and the keys to my new SUV- go get your friends and have fun."

My Dad never lived on this planet. "No son of mine is going to live under this roof without an earring and a tattoo -- or..."

"Whaddya wanna go and get a job for? It is only money and I make plenty of money for you to spend if needed."

“Building Main Street, not Wall Street”

Civic Clubs Equals Community Growth

We have spent countless columns discussing the three legs required to build a strong foundational stool of sustained community transformation. To recap, the necessary three legs of the stool are the local media company, local Chambers and/or Main Street organizations and of course, community government or leadership. While a 3-legged stool can stand just fine, nothing beats a stable 4-legged stool. When it comes to building a 4-legged stool of sustained and powerful community transformation, we must consider adding local civic clubs or groups to the other three legs creating the better balanced 4-legged stool approach.

Local civic clubs such as the Lions, Rotary, Shriners, Exchange, Young Professionals, Kiwanis, American Legion, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and religious groups are loaded with talented and visionary members. Imagine a community harnessing the power and abilities of the majority of their local civic organizations to assist in community transformation. Put another way, a community that can synergize with each of the four legs of their community transformation stool will succeed in ways they would never have imagined.

While each of these mentioned clubs and others can provide great leadership in the transformation building planning, they are also capable of tackling various projects that might become a part of the final plan. Once again, imagine if each of the above listed and other civic groups were all tasked with a small portion of the community's final plan. The most successful community action plans will involve as many groups and individuals as possible.

John Newby

Successful community transformation never occurs in a small vacuum. The local media company and Chamber or Main Street organizations can't make it happen alone. The local community government entity can't by themselves make it happen. Your local economic development group, while having the mission of economic development can't make it happen alone. To assure long-term and sustained community transformation, the community must find ways to ensure they enlist the aid of many. While the local media company, Chamber, Main Streets, City Leaders can certainly lead the charge; it is the army of volunteers and members that the local civic clubs bring to the table that allows community projects to flourish. They then become communitywide projects, not projects pieced together by a select few. Remember, many hands make light work.

It isn't always just the army of volunteers that come with the civic clubs and organizations, many of them bring dollars to the project they rally around. I am reminded of the Rotary club in Muskogee, OK stepping forward with a substantial donation to help provide a proposed gathering space band shell. I also read recently of the Rotary club in Warren, OH doing the same thing. No extensive community revitalization plan should ever proceed without conversations with the local civic clubs. They are always willing to listen, and in most cases, will jump at the opportunity to be a part of improving their local community.

As a community begins or continues their quest into the transformation process, they will do well to consider the four legs of the revitalization stool. Leaving even one leg off the stool will lead to an unbalanced community approach. The local media brings the ability to connect the community in so many ways. The Chambers and Main Streets bring the business side of the equation to bear. The city government and leadership bring the public funds and expertise to the mix. And lastly, the civic organizations bring the community connection that leads to an army of community members needed to infiltrate the community's well-being at all levels through the masses. Small and mid-sized cities are in the fight of their economic lives. Many aren't aware of the magnitude of the struggle or the size of the mountain they must climb to find success or respite from the economic storm, if respite even exists. These aren't the days where a slow meandering approach is prudent; these are the days where the slow and meandering are left as a carcass on the economic road. Cities need to bring all their resources to bear in order to succeed. Involving the local civic organizations is a critical step in this process.

John A. Newby, author of the "Building Main Street, Not Wall Street" column dedicated to helping communities and local media companies combine synergies that allow them to not just survive, but thrive in a world where truly-local is lost to Amazon, Wall Street chains and others. Recently at a family conference for people in vocational ministry, the speaker said something that should catch our attention immediately. Pastor John Stockstill, talking about raising children, said, "Their character is pretty much set at the age of 5. That's 250 weekends." That thought hit me hard. I've got 250 weekends with my son until he's five.

The Last Time*Taken from bellebebes.co.uk*

From the moment you hold your baby in your arms, you will never be the same.
You might long for the person you were before,
When you had freedom and time,
And nothing in particular to worry about.
You will know tiredness like you never knew it before,
And days will run into days that are exactly the same,
Full of feedings and burping,
Nappy changes and crying,
Whining and fighting,
Naps or a lack of naps,
It might seem like a never-ending cycle.

But don't forget...
There is a last time for everything.
There will come a time when you will feed your baby for the very last time.
They will fall asleep on you after a long day
And it will be the last time you ever hold your sleeping child.
One day you will carry them on your hip,
then set them down,
And never pick them up that way again
You will scrub their hair in the bath one night
And from that day on they will want to bathe alone.
They will hold your hand to cross the road,
They will never reach for it again.
They will creep into your room at midnight for cuddles,
And it will be the last time you ever wake to this.
One afternoon you will sing "the wheels on the bus" and do all the actions,
Then never sing them that way again.
They will kiss you goodbye at the school gate,
The next day they will ask to walk to the gate alone.
You will read a final bedtime story and wipe your last dirty face.
They will one day run to you with arms raised,
for the very last time.
The thing is, you won't even know it's the last time Until there are no more times, and even then, it will take you a while to realize.
So while you are living in these times, remember there are only so many of them and when they are gone,
you will yearn for just one more day of them.
For one last time.

Newell City Elections Upcoming

news@bellefourchebeacon.com

NEWELL -- The Newell city election was postponed from April 14 until June 23 due to Coronavirus. There are six candidates running for two positions on the city board. They include incumbents Chad Erk and Connie Humble. Four others vying for a position include: Tara Tennis, Tiffany Tennis, Candy Swenby and Robert Vansickle.

Chad Erk: Chad Erk lives on the north side of Newell and has been a city commissioner for the past two years. He is an engineer who works for Brosz Engineering and has brought that expertise to the city meetings, sharing his knowledge with the board.

He currently is away working on a project for the company and was not available to answer interview questions or make comments pertaining to the election.

Connie Humble: Connie Humble lives on the south side of Newell and is married to Ed Humble. She was an elementary school teacher at the Newell district for many years. She retired several years ago and pursued service to her community through many avenues including serving as a city commissioner for the past two terms. She has worked as the bar commissioner as well as now serving as water and sewer commissioner.

Tara Tennis: Tara Tennis grew up in Newell and Belle Fourche areas and then moved to southern Louisiana for 20-plus years. She came back to Newell to provide a safe environment for her son.

"I have been involved in fundraisers for the Senior Center and the baseball club, as a volunteer in the community," said Tennis. "Anytime I can help out to better our community I am available."

Tennis said she thinks running

County Commissioners Tour NVN, Butte County Sites

BUTTE COUNTY – Thursday, June 11, the county commission, several employees and media representatives participate in a road tour of Butte County. The group which included Commissioners Kim Richards, Frank Walton, Karrol Herman and James Ager, along with employees, Dwayne Heidrich, Lori Johnston, and Elaine Jensen, toured from the southwestern part of the county through northeast.

The group started at 9 a.m. at the county courthouse. They gave the old red prisoner transport van one last outing before it was donated to the city. They first went to Wood Road and Habeck Road, where they viewed a fence line that has caused the commissioners a great deal of time in trying to resolve issues there. They also looked at a bridge that is shared with Lawrence County. From there they traveled to Helmer Road, off Highway 34, to look at another bridge shared with Lawrence County.

"This one is stuck in engineering," said Commissioner Kim Richards. "Lawrence County is doing the preliminary work and engineering, and we're just sharing the cost." Several places where the county highway department is at work were viewed, including a work crew on Helmer Road to the north and a spot on Snoma Road where they are pulling the shoulders.

This is a process where a disk, mounted to the side of a grader pulls dirt, gravel and binding material up onto the road. Then the road is re-worked to bring back a proper crown and the material from the ditch is worked in. This is a cost-saving measure for the county as all the gravel that has collected in the ditches for years is utilized, along with binding material to keep it in place. They stopped to look at the Mahoney bridge, where the north side of the big box culvert has caved away and caused undermining issues where the two portions of the culvert have separated underground. The county dug up the center of the road and did a temporary repair until the culverts can be replaced.

Brosz Engineer Jason Hanson met the group at the Whitewood Valley bridge on the southeast edge of Nisland to discuss preservation grant work that will be done on the bridge, including cleaning drains on the south end that are plugged and adding a 100-foot portion of blacktop at the southern edge.

"This will help keep gravel from the road from pulling up on the concrete of the bridge and eroding it," said Hanson. Currently the county has placed a speed zone flashing sign at the south end warning drivers to slow to the 25-mile-per-hour speed in the town.

With a pit-stop at the Nisland Church, the group was off to Stonelake Road and Dillinger Road to view the reworked bridge on Dillinger and then on to Orman Road to look at the closed bridge there.

This closed bridge has been a big concern to the commission for a long time. The bridge on Winkler Road, which was completed this past year, is considered an alternate route for east-west traffic, but many landowners were still utilizing the partially closed bridge, traveling with farm equipment and trucks, until the county closed

Newell School Board Approves Open Gym Procedures

news@bellefourchebeacon.com

NEWELL – Open Gym will now be conducted with Newell High School athletes and coaches, according to AD Steve Schoenfish. There has been a three-phase procedure put in place for athletes and parents/guardians.

"It's important that we have some type of plan," Schoenfish said as he discussed the measures that will be put in place beginning June 9 with the Newell School Board at the Monday, June 8, meeting.

All Open Gym and Open Fields will be conducted with NHS athletes and coaches only, with no community members or graduated individuals allowed. Parents/guardians should wait outside for the completion of open gym.

There will be a pre-workout screening, done by a coach before students can participate. The pre-workout screening consists of several questions and having their temperatures taken. The locker rooms will not be used during, so athletes must report in proper gear and immediately return home to shower following the workout. They are also reminded to bring their own water bottle since water fountains should not be used.

During all three phases, hard surfaces within the facility will be wiped down and sanitized.

The three phases of Open Gym are as follows:

Phase One, June 9-June 23 -Gatherings will be limited to 10 people at a time outside or inside. Coaches and all participants are included. Activities will focus on individual drills and weight training.

Phase Two, June 24-July 8 -Gatherings will be limited to 20 people inside or outside. Social Distancing will be encouraged

The school election held Tuesday at the Wilson homestead was rather a tame affair there being no opposition. The following were elected; W.H. Phillip Chairman, Mr. Kenaston Treasurer and Mr. Partridge Secretary. A 20 mill levy was voted for school purposes.

Rev. E. Jenny will hold a series of meetings in the Blaine School house, 4 miles west of Newell every night for a week or 10 days, beginning Friday June 24. Mr. Jenny is the equal of any pulpit speaker in the state. Come and hear him.

Phaley Sprague and John Toma, local livery and feed barn proprietors attended the ball game in Vale Sunday. They will meet homesteaders at the train, will furnish good rigs and experienced resident drivers who know Butte County. Also, saddle horses for hire, so when in town please stop at the barn in Newell.

R.J. Koerner has secured the local agency for the Overland cars. He brought a run-a-bout down from the Hills the later part of the week and sold the same to O.E. Farnham.

Beyer Aune Superintendent of the US Experiment Farm at Newell went to Rapid City Saturday to attend a meeting of County Agents. Owing to the heavy rain, he left his car there and returned home by train on Sunday.

We understand Eskil Youngberg is dealing for a sale of his confectionary store, but nothing has been closed at this writing.

A request for $3,500 to be used in improvement of a recreational park at Orman Dam was denied by the state Game & Fish Commission recently because the commission was advised that it could not appropriate such funds legally.

Cutting scrapes among the Mexican beet workers are becoming altogether common in this section. Wednesday a Mexican was brought to the Newell Hospital suffering with numerous knife wounds and a great deep cut on his arm. Authorities here located the assailant and are today investigating the case.

The Spearfish Canyon road first started 19 years ago but delayed because of difficult construction, an auto road through Spearfish Canyon will be completed within the next few weeks, barring unexpected delays. Blasting their way through rocks and forests, construction crews, working from the lower end of the canyon, are nearing Iron Creek where the present upper canyon road ends.

from the Newell Museum

Between the upper and lower canyon roads was 1 mile of difficult construction, with rocks and heavy forests, blocking the way. Adding to difficulties, a landslide a few weeks ago blocked the route and blasting again was necessary to clear the way.

US Officials from the Department of Agriculture say the famed Texas longhorns should be added to the “Vanishing Americans” List. At least that is what a report of the biological survey indicates, for it says that this animal, which once roamed large in the history of the west, is on the verge of extinction. Once there were 10,000 of these rangy beasts, now out of that vast number there are only 250 pure-strain longhorns left. He is being bred out of extinction, in his veins now flow the blood of the Short horn and the Hereford, which reduced the length of his horns, put meat on his lanky sides and cooled his wild spirits.

The recount of the recent Primary Election Republican vote in Butte County for the Sheriff’s nomination is expected to occur on June 26, it was announced at Belle Fourche this week. Maurice Cavin, Belle Fourche who was behind

“Looking Forward to our Past” by Linda Velder

George Hafner, Newell by 1 vote in the official canvass, filed a petition for a recount Saturday. Members of the recount board, unless disqualified, consist of the County Judge, County Auditor and County Treasurer.

Farmers and ranchers using aerial sprayers in weed and insect control were warned this week to employ only spray operators certified by the South Dakota Department of Agriculture, director of State Aeronautics Commission Lyndon V. Hanson pointed out. Records are maintained of all SD spray pilots and operators who do not have a current permit in their possession are in violation. Spray operators may be difficult to locate at a future date, for this reason they are registered so as to protect the customers who employ them for the eradication of weeds and insects. As of June 15, the Aeronautics Commission office has approved 60 spraying applications, of which 20 are out-of-state pilots applied.

The Newell Community Club considered a suggestion that it recommend to the State Game, Fish & Parks Department that it close Newell Lake to fishing until such time as the fish planted there have increased in size and numbers to warrant its re-opening. A vote favored such action, however Art Noste directed that it be delayed until after the next regular meeting in order that all persons interested might express their views.

A new farm product, chicken frankfurters, is being tested in the New York Experiment Station. The idea is to help poultry men take advantage of consumer’s desire for convenient fast foods. But one wise cracker said: “It’s a sign the chicken business is going to the dogs.”

If you wake up and find aluminum foil, don’t become alarmed, state Civil Defense Director Major General Homer E. Jensen said this week. Be assured residents of SD that the thin strips of aluminum foil that have been reported in several areas are harmless. Numerous inquiries have been received at the Civil Defense Office from ranchers reporting that the foil was found on their ranches. Authorities at Ellsworth Air Force Base near Rapid City have advised that the foil is used by the 28th Bombing Wing at E.A.F.B. in training flights. The strips are called “chaff” and are dropped by high flying bombers to confuse ground radar; it is the same type of material that was used in WWII.

“They (someone) stole the sign that said bridge closed,” said Highway Superintendent Dwayne Heidrich. “We put the padlock on (connecting two concrete berms) ‘cause otherwise they would try to move them.”

The group stopped at the Newell Golf Club for lunch, prepared for them by the golf club crew and then it was off for a tour of the Willow Creek Windfarm. They were met at the golf club by Sheriff Fred Lamphere, who acted as host and had set up the luncheon.

The windfarm has built roads in the area of Twilight and Triple R to get to the different sites where the towers will be located.

ed. This covers approximately 22,000 acres and includes 38 wind towers.

Bradley Construction Foreman John Telecky, met the group at the power plant, just off Highway 212, to lead the tour. The group was able to see wind tower components up-close and personal, realizing how big the units are.

“I didn’t realize how tall they are,” said Herman as they viewed the three tower supports and the big generator that is located at each spot where a tower will be erected. “But those bases don’t look big enough to support that.”

Telecky shared that there’s a large amount of base underground that is not seen, around 9 feet with a larger diameter than what is above ground.

With the tour wrapped up the group headed back to Belle Fourche.

will be encouraged. Modified scrimmages and competitive drills may begin. Exchanges of equipment/balls will be allowed with intermittent cleaning.

Phase Three, July 8-July 31

-Gatherings up to 50 people inside and outside, with Social Distancing encouraged. Full participation with scrimmages and drills will begin. The school board wrapped up several year-end business items in other board business by transferring moneys from the General Fund to Food Service and from Capital Outlay to the General Fund.

The money from General Fund to Food Service was needed for non-program foods and to balance a negative cash balance. This transfer had been planned for in the budget earlier. The transfer of approximately $200,000 from Capital Outlay to balance the General Fund was also done per the budget plan.

Superintendent Robin Dutt gave her final report to the board. She pointed out that the future is uncertain at this time as far as knowing how the fall term will begin.

“We have no way to know if we will have school,” she said. Or how it will be handled. It’s an unknown future.

Dutt thanked the school board members and wished them good luck in the future.

Board President Miles Burtzloff informed the board that equipment had been purchased from Spearfish Parks for the Elementary School for a very good price. The equipment will be delivered and set up sometime this summer.

Collette Tiffit’s resignation was accepted effective July 1, 2020.

Once again, Transportation and Maintenance Director Jeremiah Weeldryer brought the need for bus drivers to the attention of the board. Advertising will begin in the area’s newspapers.

No school board election will need to be done this year. Todd Youngberg’s position had no opposition and no one filed a petition for Darren Alexander’s position. The board is researching the procedure to fill Alexander’s place. In the past, Letters of Intent have been taken.

The Horse

Someone once said, "The outside of a horse is good for the inside of a man". I wonder? A man a horseback feels superior to a man afoot. Maybe because a man on a horse can travel farther and faster, than a man a'foot.

The first time on a horse, after you get over your fear of falling off, gives a person such an adrenaline rush, that it's almost unbelievable! The power. The speed and agility. That must be why most ranchers/cowboys feel their job is superior to all others. We have the power of the horse.

We can make a cow do almost anything, with the help of our first and best friend, the horse. And our tools, the ropes, saddle and horse gear that we use. And all people know this. That's why most little boys want to be cowboys and why there is such a surge in people who want to own and ride horses. I maintain that, cows are just most ranchers excuse to use horses! Sure we make money, or at least try to with cattle, but I think deep down we all must admit to ourselves that we mainly like and want horses. Maybe that's the real difference between farmers and ranchers. Farmers don't need a horse to make a living.

And every one wants to dress like a horseman. You see more people wearing boots than could ever possibly be mounted. Of course the styles have changed to fit the function. Most people couldn't stand to wear a real pair of high heeled, riding boots all day. Because they were built to ride in, not walk in! But some of us, because of vanity, try to. There is probably a whole industry for foot doctors because of this. Got pinched together toes? Feet sore all the time? Go buy some shoes! And quit trying to turn our boots into shoes. Have you ever looked at a pair of roper boots. Especially the lace up kind. If my folks would have tried to get me to wear something like that when I was a kid, I would have had a fit and been laughed off from the playground. Or at least beat up by someone who had normal footwear! All because of horses.

Go to a branding and most everyone is mounted on a horse. Some don't have the foggiest notion of how to properly use one as a tool, but by golly, their horseback and makin' a hand! Take the best athlete in the world and put him or her on a horse and they will either be a laughingstock or a darn fine hand. Most won't keep up with a ranch raised child who has spent some fairly long hours in the saddle. Practice may not make perfect, but it at least gets you used to the game plan.

Put a good hand on a sorry horse, and chances are that you'll notice that the horse wasn't so bad after all. Put a sorry hand on a good horse and you'll wonder why you ever thought that particular horse was worth a dang!

Go to a horse sale and see which ones bring the most money. It probably ain't the one that a working cowboy would pick! It will be the one which someone with a lot of money and little or no horse sense thinks is the prettiest or handles the best. Never mind that that person won't be able to make that horse handle that well themselves. Marketing! It's a wonderful tool and the horse trader has had it figger'd out for years. There is a whole industry based on the buying and selling of pretty colored, almost worthless, snide horses that the upper crust trade and sell back and forth to each other. Horses are kind of an addiction! Just go watch some and you want to ride and/or own one of them in just a little while. And you probably will, 'cause we're all real good at rationalization. Never mind the feed and vet bills. And the farriers. The pickups and trailers. (There's another industry. Priced a pickup lately? All because our city cousins want to have something that reminds them of the country and the horse! And they don't build them with most "money poor" ranchers/cowboys in mind!. I'd sure like to get a hold of the manufacturers and get them to let me test them new 4x4's. I'd show 'em Ford tuff and built like a rock! And I ain't near as 'tuff' on 'em as my neighbors! It's almost enough to make a man go out and buy a four wheeler and quit horses! Well, maybe not quite that bad.)

The horse! Gods most noble creature. He's helped mankind for years and a lot of people in the industry are making a living because of him. I know I never want to be without one or two. Face it, I'm addicted!

Vale's Cox Farm Stand Flourishes

COLLEEN BRUNNER

VALE – “On May 1, we opened the store at the Rushmore Mall in Rapid City,” said Camylea Cox. “The support from the community has been phenomenal, and completely blown us away.” Cox Farm Stand began in 1999 as Cox Sweet Corn. The Doug Cox family of Vale has worked hard ever since to provide quality produce, and have recently branched out to the store in Rapid, providing other locally sourced products that they produce themselves as well as purchase from others.

Kyle Cox took over in 2012 and rebranded to Cox's Farm Stand in 2019. They set a goal of opening the Rushmore Mall store and then the virus hit and it was delayed a bit. But they are up and running with great new sources of quality produce and other South Dakota grown/produced items.

Kyle is the owner and his sister Camylea works the sales and marketing end of the business. His father Doug Cox helps with planting, his mother Reva helps out in the store on the weekends. Kyle's wife, Desiree helped with decorating the store and works in the family garden, as does daughter Kaylie. Son Braydon helps with everything.

“He's entering into his own business adventures with 100 chicks to produce farm, fresh chicken eggs,” said Kyle. “He will also be selling his own beef at the store for his FFA/SAE project.”

The business offers curbside pickup through online ordering at 222.coxsfarmstand.com. The store is open Monday-Saturday from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. and Sunday from 12-6 p.m.

“We have multiple South Dakota farmers, ranchers, gardeners, dairies, and producers represented in the store,” Kyle shared. “We have a great selection of honey, fresh produce, Dark Canyon Coffee, Nerdy Nuts (small batch peanut but-

From A1 FLAG DAY

15 Stars & Fifteen Stripes one for each state. This flag was used in the War of 1812, making it the “Star-Spangled Banner” of our National Anthem. It was used for the next 23 years, until 1818. (3) 20 Stars & 13 Stripes: In 1818 Congress decided that adding a new stripe for every new state would lead to lots of confusion so they passed an act stating that after July 4th of that year the flag would have 13 stripes and 20 stars, and a new star would be added for each state but not a stripe. (4) 29 Stars & 13 Stripes: From 1846-1861, the flag did not change very much except for the addition of a few stars. States were being added so quickly that during the short 2 years of the Mexican War, there were 3 different forms of the flag, the final one having 29 stars. (5) – 36 Stars & 13 Stripes: From 1861 to 1890, the flag continued to gain stars. During the Civil War, it was suggested that stars be removed for the states that had seceded. However, this did not happen and during the last year of the Civil War, our flag had 36 stars. From 1890 to 1912 the Flag changed frequently as the territories beyond the Mississippi River achieved statehood and the country prospered. The United States wanted to take its place among the great nations.

DIFFICULTY: ★★☆☆☆

In 1898 the Spanish-American War was fought under the 45-star flag. (6) – 48 Stars & 13 Stripes: The 48-star version of the Stars & Stripes is rather remarkable for its long career, with the admission of New Mexico and Arizona to the Union in 1912. It remained unchanged until 1959. It is this flag to which President Wilson referred in his 1917 Flag Day message when he said:

...“This flag, which we honor and under which we serve, is the emblem of our unity, our power, our thought and purpose as a nation. It has no other character than that which we give it from generation to generation. The choices are ours. It floats in majestic silence above the hosts that execute those choices, whether in peace or in war. And yet, though silent, it speaks to us – speaks to us of the past, of the men and women who went before us, and of the records they wrote upon it.” (7) – 50 Stars & 13 Stripes: The flag changed in 1959 when Alaska was admitted, and another star was added. The 49-star flag only lasted a year because in 1960, Hawaii was admitted into the United States, and the present 50-star flag officially went into use on July 4, 1960. Thus, in a little less than 200 hundred years, the Stars and Stripes increased its constellation from 13 to 50 bright and shining stars. It reflects the story of the American Union which has prospered and grown from a small beginning of 13 colonies along the Atlantic seacoast to its present wealth and power, comprising 50 states which extend from ocean to ocean and beyond.

The ceremony concluded with the trumpet playing Taps.

Plans are already underway to make the ceremony an annual event.

From B5 COX FARM

ter), cheese, non-homogenized milk, farm fresh eggs, heavy cream, meats, (lamb, chicken, beef), canned goods, and fresh baked bread. We will grow most of the produce available at the store. Currently there is a selection of local asparagus, tomatoes, kale, spinach, and lettuce from other local producers.”

Cox said in the future they plan to have their own tomatoes, sweet corn, popcorn, watermelon, eggplant, okra, cabbage, carrots, beets, sweet peppers, cucumbers, zucchini and yellow squash. They will also still source from other local producers.

“We opened the store to give our customers the option of daily access to local South Dakota producers,” said Cox. “Camylea was the baker. At the farmers market we were able to sell under cottage food laws. Since we opened the store, we would need a commercial kitchen to bake the goods to sell at the store.” They have ceased this option for now. But everything available in the store comes from South Dakota. Besides the Cox’s own produce/products they source from Maude Hog and Cattle of Caputa, Kitzan Family Farms, of Nisland, Kaisemeister’s of Frankfort, Stensland Family Farms of Sioux Falls, Happy Hydros of Pukwana, Sunrise Hives and Lund Valley Farms, both of Spearfish, Nerdy Nuts, Dark Canyon Coffee both of Rapid City, Cedar Creek Gardens of Midland and Ben’s Produce of Box Elder.

Kyle has his own land, separate from Cox Farms, LLC and has a high tunnel, 20 acres of sweet corn, and a very good-sized garden. He also grows alfalfa and oats on his property and hires out to Cox Farms LLC.

You can reach Cox Farm Stand at 605-206-0396 or by email at info@coxsfarmstand.com. You can order online at www.coxsfarmstand.com and they have a Facebook presence at www.facebook.com/coxs-farmstand.

They post produce availability on their Facebook page and customers can order by phone or website for curbside pickup.

“We have to give a big shoutout to Rushmore Mall,” said Cox. “If it weren’t for them working with us, we definitely would not have a store open yet.”

They are in the old Motherhood Maternity location in the Rushmore Mall.
