BELLE FOURCHE - For Belle Fourche's Dan Durben it has been a busy month. After more than 11,000 miles of travel he finally got the chance to sit back and relax last week to reflect on what was an Olympics he'll never forget.

Taking a slow sip of coffee on the deck of a State Street coffee shop in his hometown a characteristic broad smile came to his face as he collected his thoughts on the collection of medals he helped his team bring home from Tokyo.

"I was just super excited for how the whole team did," said Durben, coach of the US Olympic Rifle Team. "A lot of the attention goes on the medal winners but actually across the whole team, everybody performed well."

That may be the classic understatement. Of all the athletes in their team events that make up the US Olympic team few, if any, can match the improvement shown by USA Shooting. In fact, it was their best showing in nearly six decades.

USA Shooting is divided into three divisions, each with its own head coach; the rifle division, shotgun division and pistol division. Durben coaches seven athletes in the rifle division. One of them is Will Shaner who won gold in Men's Air Rifle. Shaner is the first US athlete to ever win gold in that event, and at age 20 he is also the youngest medalist in rifle competition in US Olympic history. Durben also coached Mary Tucker and Lucas Kozeniesky to silver in Mixed Team Air Rifle.

All told the US team won

Friday Night Festival Features Sweet Corn

A hardy crowd of supporters turned out at Corn Fest Friday night to cheer on their favorites as the Fire Department, BF Ambulance, and the Police Department faced off in the "Corn Eating Contest". Cool weather, wind, and a rain squall didn't dampen appetites as the people enjoyed sweet corn donated and prepared by Ron Keil, of Keil Sweet Corn. Those attending the event, held on the Center of the Nation Monument grounds north of the Tri-State Museum and Visitors Center, enjoyed the music of Chelsey Dee & Company; Vendors; and A corn hole tournament. ## Medical Marijuana Policy Revisited

news@bellefourchebeacon.com

BELLE FOURCHE-The Butte County Commissioners revisited the temporary ordinance in place for the county's stand on medical marijuana. State's Attorney Cassie Wendt informed the commissioners that the state is actively working on the State's laws for medical marijuana. Commissioner Stan Harms stated that once the State settles on a decision, the commission could make a decision.

Commissioner James Ager wanted to be sure to include the provision that anyone who applies for a license to grow, manufacture, or sell medical marijuana must be local. Wendt assured him that would be probably be included in any provision. She added that her office would continue to monitor the State's processes.

Several Right of Ways were approved by the commission as presented by County Highway Superintendent Dwayne Heidrich. West River Coop Telephone requested Right of Ways on Wilson Cemetery Road, Beet Road, Ericson Road, and Riley Road in order to install fiber optics.

Applications were granted to Wayne Eaton on Hay Creek Lane to construct approaches. WBI Energy Transmission notified the county via letter that the company would be excavating, exposing and repairing pipeline near Highway 212 business loop. According to the letter, project length is anticipated to last a week beginning September 6.

TC Energy also informed the commissioners via written correspondence that the project that had been executed between Butte County and TransCanada Keystone Pipeline, LP to implement a haul agreement was terminated. Since President Biden

Ward 4 Council Petitions Are Available, First Reading of Cannabis Ordinance

BEACON STAFF

news@bellefourchebeacon.com

BELLE FOURCHE – Petitions for the Ward 4 special election are currently available. They went out on August 16th and citizens interested must return then back to the Finance Office at City Hall no later than 5:00 P.M. on September 10th.

The special election was called following the resignation of Ward 4 Councilman Derrick Jones. His resignation was a result of Jones being presented with a job-related relocation to Utah.

Jones was elected on April 4th of this year. The council set October 12th as the date for a special election to fill the vacancy. This marks the second special election for council the city will have held since April. On July 13th Heidi Parker won a special election in Ward 1 to replace outgoing LuAnn Trudo. The council also had the first reading of the new ordinance for medical cannabis establishments. The establishments will be allowed in areas designated as light industrial. According to the proposed ordinance the two permitted uses include cannabis cultivation facilities and medical cannabis dispensaries.

The ordinance defines a "cultivation facility" as an entity registered with the state that acquires, possesses, cultivates, delivers, transfers, transports, supplies, or sells cannabis and related supplies to a medical cannabis establishment.

A "medical cannabis dispensary" is defined as an entity registered with the state that acquires, possesses, stores, delivers, transfers, sell, supplies, or dispenses cannabis, cannabis products, paraphernalia, or related supplies and educational material to cardholders.

Cardholders are defined as a qualifying patient or a design-

Physical Therapist, Dr. Cole Staigle Joins Pain & Movement Solutions

Pain & Movement Solutions announced the addition of Dr. Cole Staigle, PT, DPT to their physical therapy team.

Dr. Cole attained his Doctorate in Physical Therapy from the University of Jamestown in North Dakota. He likes to label himself as a "movement optimist" and believes any movement is a good movement with the right focus and proper form.

Dr. Cole prides himself on treating from a holistic perspective, using all aspects of a patient's life to guide the clinical decisions made to help that individual meet their health and movement goals.

Physical therapists have a very large skill set and can treat anything from vertigo and headaches, spinal pain to cancer rehabilitation, sports performance, and every typical joint pain.

This skill set is derived from over 7 years of high-level training including dissection of cadavers, differential diagnosis classes, pharmacy courses and radiologic imaging courses resulting in a Doctorate degree specializing in pain and movement disorders.

Dr. Cole is eager to bring his skill set to the area to help individuals across the lifespan. He is skilled in treating individuals of all age ranges and has taken over the aquatic therapy program at Pain & Movement Solutions.

Dr. Cole was highly involved in collegiate sports and has a strong passion for health and fitness. He has a special interest in Sports Physical Therapy and treating neck and back pain.

Outside of work, Cole enjoys spending time with his wife and dog, hunting, fishing, camping, hiking, skiing, mountain biking, and strength training.

Pain & Movement Solution's reports Dr. Cole is extending Free Treatments to all new patients during his first month of practice in the community. "I am excited to serve the Belle Fourche community and surrounding areas and be-

Alvira Shear 104

Alvira Shear, age 104 of Spearfish, went home to heaven at the age of 104 on Tuesday, August 17, 2021 at the Spearfish Canyon Healthcare.

The funeral service was held Saturday, August 21, 2021 at St. James Lutheran Church in Belle Fourche. Visitation was held 5 Friday at Leverington Funeral Home of the Northern Hills in Belle Fourche. Interment was held in Pine Slope Cemetery. Memorials are preferred to Hospice of the Northern Hills.

The funeral service will be broadcasted live online, on Alvira's obituary page, located on the funeral home's website: www.LeveringtonFH.com

Alvira Ager was born May 1, 1917 in Frederika, Iowa. She was the daughter of John and Pearl (Leech) Ager. At a young age, Alvira moved with her family to the Belle Fourche area where she attended school. At the young age of 12 she lived alone with her sister for a winter season during the "Dirty 30's" in the Sulfa area near Mud Butte. During that winter the two sisters lived alone and maintained the farm by themselves. She was united in marriage to Pete Shear on June 19, 1936 in Deadwood. To this union 4 children were born: Bert, Bob, Janet, and Jeral. Following their marriage, they lived in Belle Fourche where Pete owned and operated S and S Trucking. Alvira worked 10 years at the sugar factory near Belle Fourche. She was a Den Mother for the Cub Scouts, Past Matron for the Easter Star in 1961 and 1962, and in 2001 she became a member of St. James Lutheran Church. She was also a member of the Naomi Circle, the Daughters of the Nile, and the Tirzah Club.

Alvira's birthday was May 1st, which was also always the opening day of fishing. As a result, her and the family have many memories fishing on her birthday, and many memories as well in the steel boat that Peter made by hand.

Alvira loved life, and she loved people. She would do anything to help someone. She was "Sassy and Classy". She liked to be independent and she like to get up in the morning and make herself look nice. Her appearance was always very important to her. She loved playing cards, especially Bridge. Alvira loved her family so much, especially all her grandchildren. And they all loved her greatly as well. She will truly be missed and loved forever.

Alvira is survived by her children: Burt (Bobbi) Shear of Pahrump NV, Bob Shear of Belle Fourche, Janet (Jim) Shevling of Spearfish, Jeral (Dianne) Shear of Belle Fourche; 23 grandchildren; 31 great grandchildren; and numerous great great grandchildren. She was preceded in death by her husband, Pete in 1984; granddaughter, Cindy Shevling Myers; and 9 siblings: Helen, Dorothy, Reno, Grant, Laverne, Verla, Geraldine, Leone, and Mayda.

May God Bless the Memory of Alvira Shear.

Pastor's Perspective

"The Living Bread"

This week's Pastor's Perspective is provided by Mike Reade, St. James Episcopal Church

Is there a food that we can eat which will let us live forever? There is. It is bread from heaven or the living bread from John 6: 51-58.

A principle of biblical interpretation is that the plain meaning is usually the main meaning. The disciples only fully understood the bread of heaven once communion was instituted and after the cross. John 6 means that the teachings of Jesus satisfy our spiritual hunger and prepared the disciples for the institution of communion. Holy Communion, the Eucharist, or the Lord's Supper is also a sacrament and an ordinance. Sacrament simply means that in the symbols are a spiritual blessing. Ordinance simply means it was commanded by Jesus to do this in remembrance of him.

What is the living bread? As the Holy Spirit is life-giving living water, so living bread gives eternal life. Elementary concepts of Christianity are understood by those who just nibble on church teachings. But deeper wisdom comes to those who chew on Christ as the original Greek says, implying a total involvement in the faith. Those who do not chew on Christ but merely nibble around the edges of his teachings do not get this wisdom. Eternal life is within us as we remain in Jesus and him in us. We chew his flesh and drink his blood in communion and how we live what he taught.

In 1 Corinthians 11:23-26 Paul chides the people for not discerning the Lord's body. The bread is Jesus' body and so are we. After the walk to Emmaus, when Jesus broke the bread did the disciples recognize him (Luke 24:13-35). The early church celebrated "the apostles' teaching and fellowship...the breaking of bread and the prayers" (Acts 2:42). This set the basic outline for Christian worship of communion, preaching and the breaking of bread with thanksgiving at the Lord's table. As we take, bless, break and give communion we remember the mighty acts of God throughout history. The prayer of thanksgiving at the end of the service is called the Great Thanksgiving. It has always been a prayer that included thanks by all to the Father, remembering the Son and inviting the Holy Spirit.

Sometimes people feel like they are not worthy to take communion and refuse it. 1 Corinthians 11:27-29 reminds us that though we are never worthy, we are to take communion in a worthy manner. We examine ourselves, look at our unworthiness, discern the one who died for our unworthiness, then as we see our need for God's grace we partake in a worthy manner. Not only are the bread and wine the body and blood of Christ, but he is also present in the community of believers. So, communion is best taken in a community of believers as a response to the proclamation of the word, an invitation, confession and pardon.

Because we eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink his blood, we have eternal life within us, and Jesus will raise us at the last day. We remain in him, and he

Another Perspective

"A Good Reminder about a Bad Heart"

In some recent studies of Exodus, I have again been impressed with the frightening capacity of the human heart to resist God. Pharaoh, ruler of Egypt and emperor of the most powerful nation of his time, is a case study which ought to be a good reminder to us all.

Don't make the mistake of supposing yourself incapable of heart-hardness. Jeremiah reminds us that all hearts are self-deceiving (Jeremiah 17:9). The lessons distilling from Pharaoh's self-damning mindset make it unnecessary for anyone to make the same mistake. That's why I took care in noting a few observations:

He supposed he knew everything about the Lord. When Moses first demands Israel's release in the name of the Lord, Pharaoh's Who is the Lord? (Exodus 5:2) is more a smart-aleck remark than a question. He says in essence, There's nothing about that God that I don't know or can't beat.

My spirit may not be the same as Pharaoh's, but I need to guard against the presumption that because I know the Lord, that I know all about Him that I need to know. Heart-hardness is the price of presumed knowledge. A humble heart is characterized by confessed ignorance and teachability.

He was unaffected though surrounded by the miraculous.

If there is anything miracles do not guarantee, it is obedient faith. The alarming capacity of the human heart to behold the power of God and still remain unchanged is terrible in its potential. Pharaoh watched Moses' rod become a serpent, consume the magicians' rods, and then become a rod again in Moses' hand. He saw the Nile turned to blood. He saw plagues devastate his nation while Israel was protected through divine intervention, and STILL he hardened his heart (8:15, 32).

What evidences of God's power do you see as you look around you? You and I are surrounded by phenomenal displays of God's power, grace, and miraculous operations. Yet unbelief and thanklessness survive too easily. Beware, my heart!

He was finally given over to his own devices.

When the Bible says, "The LORD hardened the heart of Pharaoh" (9:12), we are not dealing with a case of predestined destruction. Let no one misunderstand the Lord's forecast of this occasion (4:21, 7:3). To the contrary, God never predestines a person's failure, even when His prescience foresees it. Exodus 9:16 makes clear that God raised Pharaoh up with the possibility of becoming one of the most remarkable rulers ever. He might to this day be remembered as the Great Emancipator, had he taken his hour of opportunity responsibly and obediently before God.

But... the sad fact of history is that Pharaoh repeatedly hardened his own heart until God finally said, "Then have it your way!"

The Holy Spirit has a gentle yet pointed way of dealing with each of us. Lessons like this, from the eternal Word of God, serve as a strong warning as well as a comforting assurance: If I keep my heart humble before God, I can be certain of His highest purposes being realized in my life.

That's the kind of heart I want.

Tri-State Museum and Visitor Center Looks for “Dinosaur” Loans for Exhibit

The Tri-State Museum and Visitor Center in Belle Fourche will open an exhibit entitled “Dinosaur World” on September 18th. The exhibit will include fossils from the museum’s permanent collection and fossils loaned by other entities.

But the exhibit will also examine the cultural impact of dinosaurs. And that’s where it hopes the general public might help.

“Dinosaurs have captured the public imagination since the first fossils were found in the 19th century,” says director Kristi Thielen. “We’ll produce storyboards and photos about dinosaurs as a cultural phenomenon but we’d be grateful if people would loan us items that tell that story.”

Such items might include action figures, playing cards, comic books, coloring books, keychains, apparel, tableware, lunchboxes, décor and other items that feature a dinosaur. “We always take good care of things entrusted to us for a temporary exhibit and once the exhibit closes, those items go back to their owners.”

The Tri-State can begin taking these loaned items immediately. The exhibit is in place until the end of 2021.

For more information about loaning a “dinosaur” item, call Collections Archivist Jada Udager at 723-1200. The Tri-State Museum and Visitor Center is located at 415 Fifth Avenue in Belle Fourche.

Boys-Girls Soccer Teams Start Season with Wins

news@bellefourchebeacon.com

The 2021 Boys Soccer Season got off to a good start on Friday August 13th when they hosted the Hot Springs Bison at the Roundup Soccer Complex. The Bison were overmatched by the more experienced Broncos and Belle came out on top with a 15-0 victory that ended early in the second half due to the mercy rule.

On Tuesday the Boys played the AA Douglas/Rapid City Christian Patriots in Belle Fourche. The Patriots drew first blood with 8 minutes gone in the first half as they put a nice shot past Broncos senior goalkeeper Hunter Cherveney.

The Broncos evened the score at the 26-minute point as senior Charles Alberts assisted fellow senior Ethan Jensen for the counter. Both teams battled the rest of the half without any goals, and it was 1-1.

The Broncos came out of the chute on fire in the second half as Alberts found the cords with less than two minutes played and freshman Darian Pesicka followed with his first goal as a Bronc on a nice clean up goal off a rebound stop from the Patriots goalie. Belle made it 4-1 as senior defenseman Tristin Hendricks rocketed a free kick in the goal from about 30 yards out with 25 minutes to play.

Alberts took over for the Boys in scoring as he dropped in three more scores as the Broncos would cruise to the 7-1 victory.

The Belle Fourche Lady Broncos opened their season against the Patriots and came away with a 4-1 victory. The Ladies got their first goal of the young season as freshman Lydia Main found the back of the net with three minutes into the game. 8th grader Jazlyn Olson, who started last year as a seventh grader knocked in the next two scores and the Broncos had a 3-0 lead going into the lockers.

The Patriots got on the board with fifteen minutes left in the game on a penalty kick. Lady Bronc junior forward Tori Brill would end the scoring as she wrinkled the net with ten minutes remaining in the contest.

"The girls played well and controlled the ball really well. I was really pleased on how we worked the ball together as a team," said head coach Rob Creed. The Ladies had 19 shots on goal and freshman goalkeeper Aleyah Carbajal had 8 saves in the box.

Arsenic and Old Lace Upcoming Belle Fourche Area Community Theater Production!

Come enjoy one of the most beloved comedies of all time, Arsenic and Old Lace by Joseph Kesselring.

This will be the final stage show of the BFACT 2020 - 2021 Season so make sure to be there: Friday and Sat., August 27th and 28th, at 7 PM and Sunday, August 29th, at 3 PM.

The show features a pair of charming and "innocent" ladies who populate their cellar with the remains of socially and religiously "acceptable" roomers; the antics of their nephew who thinks he is Teddy Roosevelt; and their other mostly normal nephew who only knows the half of what's happening!

Cast: CARRIE DONOVAN, CYNTHIA SCHERER, KELSEY GRONLUND, TYLER SCHONE, DEREK OLSON, KYLEE JONES, JONNY REY, BRENN

MEYER, HANNAH BUGOS, BRAYDEN NERI, HEATHER PITTMAN, ANGELA HASTINGS, NADINE LARSON, KRISTEN PACE

Tech & Creative Crew: Morgan Martin & Anna Robinson

Director and producer of the show is Derek Olson with Assistant Director Heather Pittman.

Anything Left in the Barrel? ————— By: Doug Cole

It is a good thing we have the ability to get Keil sweet corn, otherwise some of these corny Jokes would be hard to swallow.

What did the baby corn ask the mother corn?
Where is the Popcorn?

Why is Cinderella bad at soccer?
Because she is always running away from the ball.

What did the stamp say to the letter?
"Stick with me and we'll go places!"

There was a kidnapping at school.
The math teacher finally had to wake him up.

I didn't think orthopedic shoes would help, but I stand corrected.

Singing in the shower is all fun and games until you get shampoo in your mouth, then it is a "soap opera".

Did you hear about the restaurant the Russians started on the moon?
Great food, but no atmosphere.

What do you call a fear of Giants?
Fee-Fi-Phobia.

What do you get when you try to cross a lake with a leaky boat?
About half way.

What is the difference between a cat and a comma?
A cat has claws at the end of its paws; a comma is a pause at the end of a clause.

If you ever get an email with ham, salt, pork, & perservatives.
Don't open it, it's Spam.

If a cow doesn't produce milk it is a "Milk Dud" or an "udder failure."

I was trying to think of a corny joke about a tree, but I'm stumped.

Why did the teacher always have to wear sunglasses?
Because her students were all so bright!

The one cowboy had said to the other cowboy hat, "you wait here I'll go on ahead."

What is the difference between a fish and a piano?
You cannot tuna fish.

All joking aside: Out of all the inventions in the last 100 years the dry erase board has got to be the most remarkable!

What kind of exercise do lazy people do? Diddy squats.

Speaking of exercise do you know the best way to burn several hundred calories?
Leave the pizza in the oven too long.

Did you hear the rumor about the butter?

Never mind, I shouldn't spread it.
Mountains are just funny.
They are hill areas.

August 16th was Jim Grapentine's Birthday.
I got him a comb for a present.
He must have been genuinely appreciative.
After opening the gift he said, "I'll never part with it."

Out of the Darkness Walk

Our community can be the heart of the Out of the Darkness Walk. This is an opportunity for those affected by suicide and or mental health issues to come together with hope and support for each other.

We will have a memory line for those wanting to share a photo or words of encouragement to others along with a bead ceremony for those led to share the story of their lost loved ones or hardships that they themselves have faced courageously.

Mental health and suicide prevention are more important than ever, and we're confident that with your help we can reach more people than ever before!

This is a 2.5 mile entry-free fundraising event, form a team and get pledges and /or donations going today! Held on Saturday, September 25, 2021 it will take us through the beautiful town of Belle Fourche starting and ending at the United Methodist Church, don't forget that early registration is greatly appreciated, sign in from 7 AM to the 8 AM opening ceremony with walk to follow, let us bring HOPE to our community.

Contact Chair-Sonia Ribordy 605-210-1326 for more information and sponsorship opportunities.

The Good Stuff

by Jim Thompson

The Good Stuff was developed for radio by Jim Thompson nearly 2 decades ago. Jim Thompson takes motivational stories that listeners and readers send him and incorporates them into the program. It has been on the air for more than 10 years.

My golfing/ poker/ rodeo friend Clyde Smith sent this to me several years ago. Its message remains true:

Never Forget Your Friends

Many years ago, a newlywed young man was sitting on a couch on a hot, humid day, sipping frozen juice during a visit to his father. As he talked about adult life, marriage, responsibilities, and obligations, the father thoughtfully stirred the ice cubes in his glass and cast a clear, sober look on his son. "Never forget your friends," he advised, "they will become more important as you get older." "Regardless of how much you love your family and the children you happen to have, you will always need friends. Remember to go out with them occasionally, do activities with them, call them." "What strange advice!" The young man thought. "I just entered the married world, I am an adult and surely my wife and the family that we will start will be everything I need to make sense of my life." Yet he obeyed his father; Kept in touch with his friends and annually increased their number. Over the years, he became aware that his father knew what he was talking about. Inasmuch as time and nature carry out their designs and mysteries on a man, friends were the bulwarks of his life. After 60 years of life, here is what he learned: Time passes. Life goes on. The distance separates. Children grow up.

Children cease to be children and become independent. And to the parents it breaks the heart but the children are separate of the parents. Grandchildren too, grow up and begin busy lives with little time to spend with the older generation. Jobs come and go. Illusions, desires, attraction, sex ... weaken. People do not do what they should do. The heart breaks. Parents die. Colleagues forget the favors. The races are over. But, true friends are always there, no matter how long or how many miles away they may be. A friend is never more distant than the reach of a phone, or a need, barring you, intervening in your favor, waiting for you with open arms or blessing your life. When we started this adventure called LIFE, we did not know of the incredible joys or sorrows that were ahead. We did not know how much we would need from each other. Love your parents, take care of your children, but keep a group of good friends. Dialogue with them but do not impose your criteria.

Refer this to all friends who helped make sense of your life. I just did.

news@bellefourchebeacon.com

The big news for Capitol and Tie Creek this week is rain. We had become pretty desperate for rain, and finally on Thursday and Friday, we got a real rain that soaked things. Things were more green the very next day, and the cool weather was such a relief for the animals. Many people have been struggling to keep their cattle watered, and some have had to sell herds, or parts of herds, to have enough water.

Irma Albert got her regular allergy shot on Tuesday. Then on Wednesday, she and Dick went to Spearfish to get some supplies. They went to the Old Timers Picnic at the fair in Camp Crook on Friday, and went back to the fair on Saturday for the barbecue at the Community Hall. On Sunday, they went to church at the Catholic Church in Buffalo, and then had lunch at Saloon Number Three.

Gordon 'Pete' Anderson was at the fair in Camp Crook this weekend, too. He got to visit with lots of people, and join in the festivities.

Lynn Gustafson took her dog to the vet in the Hills on Wednesday. She spent Thursday cooking and baking for the cake walk. Then on Friday, she was at the Old Timers Picnic, and afterward helped with the cake walk sponsored by the Diligent Doers Extension Club. It is always a fun time, and even the older people get involved by jumping up and down when they win. On Sunday, Lynn and Bruce went to the Community Church Service at the gazebo next to the fair grounds. There were many people there and it was a nice service. Next, they had coffee and doughnuts at the Community Center. They had lunch at the Over The Edge, that is under new management. I believe Deb Brown has bought it, and the business was open all weekend.

Doug and Julia Davis were glad to get 75 hundredths of rain this week. Julia did not go to the fair, but Doug had lots of work to do as a member of the fair board, so he got there every day. Julia got to talk to her brother Bob Latham on Sunday. Their fair down in Wyoming was the week before, and the temperature was so high above 100 degrees, that animals were unable to take the heat and people, too, were in need of the ambulance. We were lucky to have three cool days this week. Jane Teigen spent a few days at the fair this weekend, too.

Dale and Darwin Moncur came out to the ranch to help

Alex this weekend. Alex and Dale went to the fair in Camp Crook one day. They had gotten about 65 hundredths of rain at their place, and about a half inch at Capitol. Daeson will start to school on Wednesday. He will be in the fifth grade. They grow up so fast, and the summer flew past already.

Charlie and Karen Odell are feeling better and getting stronger. Many who have had Covid suggest that it takes a long time to get your strength back. Charlie is back to watering cows every day. They went to Buffalo on Monday, and Karen chauffeured Charlie to the Loken place to inspect cows for Wade Pearson and Kent Williams. Karen had ordered Green Chef meals online when she was unable to cook, and the meals are so good they continue to get them. The ingredients are measured and sent, and you do the cooking yourself. They got pictures from their daughter, Micki, who had been on a trip to Iceland with her family. Karen talked to her brothers, Ron and Jim Evans, and sister-in-law, Patsy in Ohio and Kansas City. Nephew, Clayton Smith from Freeman, earned third place in the national high school rodeo bronc riding. Charlie talked to his brother, Mike, and they texted with all their kids. At the fair, they went to the Old Timers Picnic, and enjoyed visiting with so many people. They stayed for the cake walk, and Karen enjoyed participating along with kids, and a few older kids, too. They went to the barbecue on Saturday night, and visited with many younger people there. John Helms, Dick and Irma Albert, and a few others from Buffalo were again sitting in the same place they had been the day before, and were accused of spending the night there, but they insist they did not stay there the whole time. Charlie and Karen went to Wolff's on Sunday for a special breakfast of biscuits and gravy before the parade. Then they watched the parade, that was short, but not the shortest they remember at the Harding County Fair. They loved the team of horses, and the ridden horses that passed by. They were proud to see our local veterans carrying the flags to lead the parade. They loved the few floats, and got lots of candy. Usually old people don't get much candy, but this year they made up for the sparse years. They went to see the exhibits, and were astounded by Laurie Elmore's huge cabbage in such a dry year. Then they enjoyed being with the horse-shoe pitchers, and got to see the competition and talk a lot. Jack Orwick still accuses Karen's dog of political indecency, but Karen apologized to the dog when she got home. They talked with Helen Stevens and Bill Kalstrom, and learned that Ekalaka had gotten two inches of rain. They learned that Thebe

Mick B. Harrison's Artists License ...and other wonderments.

This was a very popular piece. This came from a photo shoot on the Cheyenne River at the Shearer Ranch some years ago. There were less than half that number of horses so in order to satisfy the composition I took advantage of artist's license and added more. Nearly all settings in my paintings are taken from regional landscapes but some changes are generally made to fit a narrative or composition. Sometimes they're recognizable, sometimes not. However, I always try to remain true to my roots, the people and places I've had the pleasure of being a part.

Saddle Making Part 2

Taking off where I left off last week, to build a saddle you need various types of leather and materials. Most quality saddles are made from a wood tree covered in rawhide. Some makers make their own trees and others, like me, buy our trees from reputable makers.

I make many on what is called a foam tree, now a days. It is some form of man made material that is foam injected into a mold. The advantage of them is that the ground set is already in them and most have a cable rigging, which is 40,000 pound plastic covered aircraft aluminum cable. They are formed into the tree and impossible to break. The tree is guaranteed for the life of the owner, under normal use. Moisture or lack of, doesn't effect them as can happen with a wood and rawhide tree. You can make a barebones or skeleton saddle with one, which has very little leather on it so it is lighter weight. Most people don't know that most of the leather that goes onto a saddle was intended to protect the rawhide that gives the wooden trees strength. With the foam trees that is not a concern.

I still make a few on the traditional tree, but they take longer and tend to weigh more. All the saddles we ride and use are made of the foam trees. We have been using them for over 25 years. But some people want a traditional saddle so I will make them.

It is a rule of thumb that it takes two large hides of skirting leather and a half a side of latigo leather to make a western saddle. Depending on the size of the skirts, it can vary. Most custom saddle makers like me, use only the very best leather we can get. Which of course keeps going up in price. Hermann Oak has been the favorite for many many years. It is all I use.

The saddle has a huge piece cut from the very best piece in the middle of the hide for the seat piece, two large pieces for the skirts, and sweat fenders that hang down and cover the stirrup leathers. The stirrup leather are cut from the back of the hide and are 3 inches wide and the full length of the hide after it has been squared up. Very little of the flanky leather can be used. There are two good sized pieces cut out for the rear jockey's, a piece for the rear of the cantle, a large piece for the fork cover and a smaller piece for the gullet and the saddle horn. And a long strip from the canoe binding.

Plus you need a good sized wool side for under the skirts. Incidentally, the wool is not for cushioning but to help hold the saddle blanket from slipping. Tho' I have found on the bare-bones saddles, they don't slip even tho' the bars of the saddle are not covered. At one time they didn't use wool, but wool felt to line the skirts.

Hope your getting an idea of what goes into the making of a saddle. I will continue next week. Hope we get rained on before next I write!

Wagons Ho Get On The Trail!

There's no better way to see the sights than on horseback or in a horse drawn wagon.

Thomas had been to the National Horseshoe Competition in Nebraska, and had won fourth place in her division. They learned that the center of Carter County had gotten an inch and a half of much-needed rain, too.

It was great to get to visit with so many people, and just to see them all again, while everyone lounged in the cool air (with a big breeze now and then). It seemed that everyone was having a really great time with neighbors and friends, and it gave a good feeling of contentment, even in this world of turmoil.

This wagon and trail ride will be a South Dakota/Montana ride and will start in the Camp Crook area along the Little Missouri.

Some of the sights scheduled on the daily rides are Capitol Rock, the Short Pines area and the historic cabin hideout of outlaw Jack Kennedy.

The breakfast and evening meals will be catered and evening entertainment is planned. It should be an exciting week enjoying the scenery, relaxing evenings and maybe making some new friends.

Harding and Carter County residents may be a part of the ride on a day-to-day basis at a special rate.

There is still room for riders and wagons. September 12-18, 2021.

If you have questions, contact Alan Loken (605-645-4444) or Jon Mattson (605-920-1447).

This week promises to be a fun time. Maybe we will see you there.

Ask The Motor Medics®

From the Hosts of the Under The Hood® radio show.

Dear Motor medics,
I have a 2003 Chevy Venture and I keep getting moisture on the driver's side floor.
I don't know where it's coming from. I thought if you could lead me in the right direction maybe it wouldn't be so costly. I read your column in the Vandalia leader from Vandalia Mo.

Thanks, Bert in Curryville Missouri

Dear Bert,

To find water leaks it takes some time. It could be as simple as a clogged ac system evaporator drain which requires cleaning the drain under the car in a shop. Here is one way we try to locate other water leaks in cars. Begin by mixing up some sudsy dish soap in a bucket. Next start the car and turn the blower to the vent position and set the blower on high. Close the windows then pour the mixture around any spot that is joined together like window trim, door seals, etc. If you see bubbles coming out, then you know you have a leak. Bubbles around door handles are normal but door seals are not. Once you find the leak it will have to be addressed according to where it is. If your vehicle has a sunroof you will want to make sure the drains for the roof are clear of obstructions. The drains are located close to the front edge of the door and also on the rear edge of the doors and run from the roof to under the car.

Take care, the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,
I am ready to purchase a set of new tires for my all-wheel drive car and have thought about purchasing two sets, one for winter and one for summer. I live in an area that does not see a huge snowfall amount each year but we can get our share of slippery roads and ice. What should I be looking for if I go this route and are there any things you would suggest?

Thank you, Kate in Oklahoma City

Dear Kate,

On an all-wheel drive car a good set of all-season tires perform very well but many people like yourself want the very best traction they can get so they go with a second set of tires. This requires one of two things, either removing and remounting and balancing the tires every season or a second set of wheels. Both ways have their pros and cons but we prefer a second set of wheels for the ease of changing and less chance of damage to a tire. There is a one-time cost involved in the wheels though but sometimes less expensive alternatives can be found for the winter months. You may even go with some fancy aftermarket units for summer. For driving on ice and snow many manufactures offer a specialized tire that is purpose made and is best used just in the winter months as they wear faster on dry pavement. Ask your tire dealer which is best for you.

Take care, the Motor Medics

More Roadwork in the Offing for City Residents

BEACON STAFF
news@bellefourchebeacon.com

BELLE FOURCHE – No doubt most of us have experienced a few traffic delays lately as striping work is ongoing along 5th Avenue. According to the DOT Belle Fourche residents may need a bit more patience in the coming weeks as more roadwork is on the way.

Currently some ADA curb work is being completed in the area around Roundup Street and when that is completed this week work will soon begin on a pedestrian crossing installation near the Butte County Courthouse on Highway 85 (5th Avenue).

Chris Bliss, DOT Project Engineer, told the Beacon that work will begin on that project following the ADA curbing, which was delayed by last week's rains. The crosswalk by the courthouse should be underway in the latter half of this week or early next week.

The crosswalk will feature an island in the middle of the street with pavement markings and signage to accompany. The finished project will look like the crosswalk that is just south of the courthouse. During construction traffic will be reduced to one lane in each direction and pedestrian detours will be in place to allow safe crossing around the construction area.

Tru-Form Construction of Black Hawk is the contractor for the $37,000 project with an overall completion date on or before December 10th.

There is a third project that will be underway shortly after Labor Day. Bliss says if all goes to plan on September 7th the DOT will begin installation of the new traffic signals at the intersection of Highway 85 and SD Highway 34.

According to City Engineer Brent Hardy the first phase of the project will involve the removal of the turning ramps located on the west side of the intersection just past Hardees and the one opposite along the golf course. The small right turning lane at the southeast corner of the intersection will also be removed. The intersection will then be rebuilt with curb and gutter and fixed permanent stoplights.

Public Works Director Dirk Hoffman says there will be times when it is single lane traf-

The pedestrian crossing to be built north of the courthouse will be similar to the existing one south of the courthouse.

The Belle Fourche ordinance states that neither the dispensary or cultivation facility shall be located or operate within 1,000 feet of a public or private school. It further states that they shall not be located within 500 feet of a residence or religious institution. Unlicensed establishments are prohibited from locating in any zoning district.

The ordinance will become effective 20 days following publication, which will occur after the ordinance receives second and final reading by the City Council and is signed by the mayor.

The state of South Dakota is moving forward with statutes and regulations for the establishment of medical marijuana facilities which may not begin until November. Dispensaries for recreational use have been put on hold.

After voters approved both last November the Sixth Judicial Circuit Court ruled Amendment A, allowing recreational use of marijuana in the state, unconstitutional. The issue went to the South Dakota Supreme Court which hear final arguments on April 28th but has yet to release their decision.

Queen of the Monarchs

Jane Doerges lives across the street from Rotary Park in Spearfish, and she is an insect enthusiast. Last summer when Rotary installed its memorial Peace and Pollinator Garden, the Doerges family donated plants. Jane brought along a Monarch butterfly caterpillar that she was raising. Fast-forward one year, and Jane has accelerated her efforts to support Spearfish's Monarch butterfly population. She collected butterfly eggs from a few locations along Spearfish Creek including 23 from the Rotary Park section of the creek. She also grew milkweed (the food on which the caterpillars rely 100%) in her yard to feed them. After a few months of daily care, she has nurtured over 30 eggs to the chrysalis and butterfly stage. On August 13, she applied Monarch Watch tags to the mature butterflies, released them in Rotary Park and watched them promptly fly into the protective safety of the nearby trees. Volunteers across Northern America capture Monarchs throughout the migration season, record location and gender data from the tags, and then release them to continue their long journey to Mexico. Monarch Watch adds this data to its database to be used in research."

three golds, two silvers and one bronze medal. In addition to the six Olympic medals, three shot-gun shooters missed the event finals by just a single target. Rifle shooters saw three 6th place finishes and a 5th place finish, and in Men’s Air Pistol James Hall finished 10th overall, just one point from the final. It was the US team’s best showing since the 1964 Olympic Games, which were also held in Tokyo.

“Up against the best in world, and especially considering where they came from, that’s just fantastic,” Durben said. “And you can’t ask for much more than for people to perform at their best in a big competition like the Olympics.”

Durben was hired as National Rifle Coach in February of 2019, taking over a team that was by all measure down and out. Medals in international competition were scarce and team morale was in need of repair. There were no rifle team members ranked in the top 50 in the world. “None of them had been in a final, much less won a medal in a World Cup,” Durben remembers.

Durben, who competed in the 1988 Seoul Olympics, was no stranger to the coaching side of USA Shooting, having served as team coach from 1997-2000 and coached the Paralympic Shooting Team from 2003-2008. He knew certain things needed to change.

“One of things that I saw from up here in Belle Fourche was that I just couldn’t sit back on the sidelines and complain about this, that and the other things when I had an opportunity to step in a help turn things around,” Durben said.

When Durben began coaching again he already knew several of the athletes on the current team from his work coaching summer camps for the Civilian Marksmanship Program (CMP). “I knew they were very good talented athletes, so the potential was there,” he said.

At that time Durben was able to retire from his job as Physics and Chemistry professor at Black Hills State University and move to Colorado Springs to work with the team. His first order of business was establish a mindset of being the best in the world and not compromising. That attitude started from the top with small things.

When he was given an office at the US Olympic training center Durben remembers the furnishings were worn and dilapidated. He asked Olympic officials if he could buy new furniture and refurbish the office to make it a professional, inviting and first-class atmosphere, suitable to the attitudes he was trying to convey.

“Let’s make it so the athletes want to come in and feel comfortable,” Durben said. “If they come in and feel comfortable with their surroundings, they chit-chat about things but pretty soon they begin to really tell you what’s going with their training and now we can get at some things.”

Raising expectations to be “first-class, best in the world” was just the first step. Next Durben turned to helping each of his athletes believe they can compete and win against the best in the world by coaching them through international competitions. And finally instilled in each team member the importance of paying attention to the details and “not letting things slide.”

“I wanted them to be able to take care of all the little details so that when we arrived at a big competition their focus would not be on anything else but performing,” Durben said.

The first year was difficult for Durben as the rebuilding began. He says he didn’t see things start to turn around until November of 2020 when he took a group of shooters to Hungary and Poland. It wasn’t exactly World Cup level competition yet but Durben could see progress.

“That was really the first time they began to win against international competition and believe that they could do this,” Durben said.

After that Durben took the team to two World Cup competitions in India and Croatia. “They did fantastic at those,” Durben said. “And that started to build up that baseline of confidence that once we get to the Olympics, now we’ve got a record and the confidence that we can do this. So I think there was a huge change in the last two years in their attitude, confidence and belief in what they could do.”

Covid restrictions did not help. The US training center was closed for much of last year and the team had to improvise. Durben said they did online work and virtual study but they did manage to open an indoor shooting range in an abandoned mall in Colorado Springs. “They had a little shooting range in an old Macy’s,” he said with a chuckle, “just to come up with a way to keep athletes training and engaged.”

Once the Olympics began the virus’ legacy was still around. No family or friends were allowed in to watch competition. The athletes were not allowed to attend other venues to watch the games in person. The team faced screening and testing delays of 11 hours at the airport upon arrival. Overcoming these factors falls upon the coaches.

“One of the things we stressed to our teams was staying focused on the things you can control and not getting caught up in the things you can’t,” Durben said. “And I think the team did a good job of doing that.”

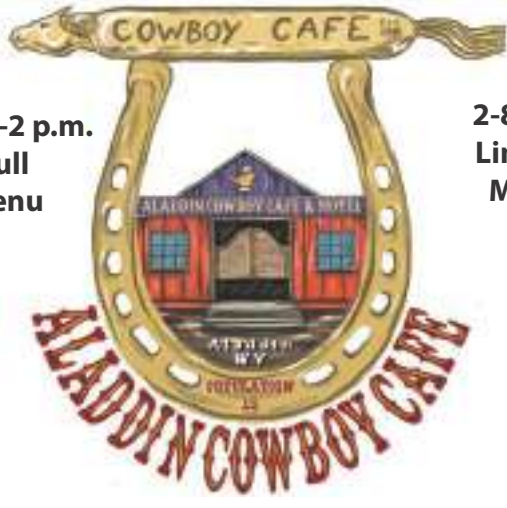

The precision that Olympic shooters must achieve is remarkable. For example, Shaner, who won gold in air rifle, shot at a target 32 feet away (10 meters) whose bullseye was no larger than the period at the end of this sentence from that distance. It requires a steady hand and a steady mind.

“You better be hitting that target 60 out of 60 shots at that level to have any chance,” Durben said. One millimeter off can make the difference between placing first and not making the podium at all.

The future of this Olympic team looks very bright. Durben says all team members will stay together for the next games in Paris in 2024. But the training schedule will be intense since there are only three years to prepare and not four.

“That will make a big difference because the whole team will stay together and make a push toward Paris,” Durben said. “We will have people who have been through it, know how to train better. This group is good. Paris should be really good for us.”

Durben says he won’t be the coach in 2024. He plans to finish out the year and then retire from the team, helping USA Shooting find a replacement.

Durben is aware of the high level of interest in the shooting sports in Belle Fourche. The Bronc Bird Busters have been active in state-level competition and have seen good success. For those aspiring to make the leap from Belle Fourche to world-class competition Durben had three pieces of advice.

“The first thing is to believe you can do it,” Durben said. “It’s going to take a lot of work and it won’t be easy, but if you believe it, it can happen. Also, the people who do this are normal people just doing extraordinary things. This is within reach your reach.

“It does take a lot of drive and a lot of dedication. But after the hard work the rewards are unbelievable,” Durben said. “Ask anybody who’s been up at that level and they will absolutely tell you it was worth it.”

As for resources for youth shooters Durben recommends connecting with the 4-H locally. He also suggests contacting the Civilian Marksmanship Program (CMP) which conducts summer shooting camps. “They have a lot of resources available for junior and senior shooters,” Durben said. Their website is www.thecmp.org and those interested can click on youth.

This year there were 101 different countries participating in shooting during the summer games. Only athletics (track and field) and swimming had more. The US team left Tokyo with twelve athletes ranked in the top eleven in the world.

The flags were hoisted as the National Anthem play with the US winning gold. Shown on the big screen were the medal-winners and Will Shaner. Athletes did not stand together on the podiums at this Olympics. Courtesy photos

Pierce Visits Belle Fourche
A party of John Pierce, Seth Bullock, Fred Haines and R. E. Brown, the latter gentleman being of the English syndicate who are investigating the mining proposition which is interesting Belle Fourche just now, arrived her on Friday's train and made a hurried visit to the proposed smelter site, returning the same day. It is said that the English gentleman expressed a decided preference for Belle Fourche as the location for the smelting works in case the deal for the mining property is closed. It is said that the deal is practically made. Attorney Wilson has been busy securing extensions of 90 days time from September 1st on the properties, which were readily given by the owners. This is to afford ample time to examine titles and put all details in shape.

To The Taxpayers of Butte County

Enrollment in the Belle Fourche public schools will be Tuesday, September 6, 1921, at 9 o'clock a.m. in the old court house and the Lincoln building at 9:30 a.m. at the grammar and high school buildings. There will be a division of the first five grades living north of the railroad tracks are to report at the old court house and those living south of the tracks at the Lincoln building. All sixth, seventh and eighth grade pupils will report at the grammar building, formerly the Red school house. In the first grade all children who will be six years of age on or before December 31, 1921, will be admitted on the opening day. Even though a child does not become six until late in the fall it is absolutely essential that the child be enrolled the first day of school as children who try to enter the first grade later will not be able to do the work.

James Rathbun of Hay creek is in receipt of a message stating that the body of his son Leora A Rathbun had been shipped from France and would arrive at Hobeken on August 26. The body will be shipped from Hobeken to Belle Fourche and will probably arrive here in the next two weeks.

Live Stock Shipments
The shipping of live stock from Belle Fourche to the eastern markets started week before last, and will continue for the next two months. Stock shipments will go light this season owing to the heavy loss winter before last. Week before last 41 cars of cattle and five cars of sheep went from Belle Fourche, and 15 cars from Aladdin for the Omaha markets. Last week 19 cars of cattle, 4 cars of sheep and three cars of hogs were shipped from Belle Fourche, most of the stock being consigned to Omaha, which some of the stock went to Iowa as feeders. Very little, if any, will be shipped this week, but during the month of September a good many cars will be shipped. Market conditions are bad at present, but the stockmen are looking for more favorable conditions in the near future, when the market become more stabilized. D. L. Ownes was in from his stock ranches in the Bear Lodge country last Friday with some stock for shipment to the eastern markers.

In the effort to increase the supply of fish to meet demands of fishermen in the Hills area, The Black Hills Rod and Gun club of Lead, in a meeting held last Thursday night, proposed state and federal funds, for the building of another trout hatchery. The club met in regular session along Spearfish creek to continue dam building and to lay plans for an enlarged fishing program for the Black Hills. At an open discussion following the construction of five log and rock dams, it was pointed out that Colorado, a favorite trout fishing state, has 18 state and federal hatcheries while state and federal funds have been responsible for the building of only 2 hatcheries in South Dakota. To date the Black Hills Rod and Gun club has built seventeen dams in Spearfish creek.

It Takes Time (editorial): It takes time, but eventually it comes to pass. Events of the past few days have finally confirmed what the non-expert, the non-economist and the non-big money maker has been trying to tell the powers that be for a couple of years. Their cry has been that the country's economy is all warped out of shape. We've listened to the Friedman's tell us how it would work out beautifully, while we watch the grocery bill get bigger and bigger and the grocery sack get smaller and smaller, and somehow we got the feeling that the economists were looking at the wrong page in the book. No one, it seems, really knew how badly the old dollar had gotten out of shape until the president acted the other day. Now it comes out that the situation apparently was critical. Given another week of the old policy and you could, with a little luck, have traded a bushel of $10 bills for a good used bicycle tire in Europe. The current situation may also bring into focus some of the economic distortions that have developed in this country as a result of pressure economics – returned based not on the logic of supply and demand but on pressure and the resources to promote. Its surprising how slow this country is to read the signs of resentment.

The Shear Power of Tourism Dollars

Whether it is big boxes, chains and dollar stores or the onslaught of Internet shopping; one fact remains certain; most communities throughout the country are struggling financially. Revenue is slowly, or rapidly in some cases being eroded through these ruthless competitors.

For most communities, there are very few options to reverse this debilitating trend of local dollars leaving their community. So that begs the question, what can communities do to slow or better yet, reverse these trends that will only continue to intensify in the future?

One way to slow or possibly reverse the outflow of dollars from your community is to find ways to attract visitors trough tourism. The value of tourism is immense and ought not be understated. The power of tourism dollars can literally alter economic trends, outcomes and landscape in your community. It can indeed restore the vitalization needed for communities to grow and ultimately compete for survival.

While each community will be slightly different based on cost of living and variable economic conditions, studies indicate tourism brings approximately $500 per visit into a community over the average two-day stay. That figure includes hotel, gas, shopping and food. Utilizing those figures, if your community finds ways to attract 10,000 additional tourists throughout the year, that is an additional five million dollars circulating through your community each year. It gets better. Studies also show that those dollars will then get spent again at least three to seven times by those living within the local community. That equates to over fifteen million additional dollars circulating through your community each year. What will fifteen million additional dollars do for your local business base and the city coffers charged with infrastructure and maintaining the city?

Needless to say, tourism is a high stakes game that every community would be negligent to not pursue. Community leaders would be shirking their fiduciary duties of office by not actively pursuing those dollars. That being the case, how does a community build the machine that promotes and attracts tourism? While there are many ways to grow this avenue of revenue, here is a simple three-step process that works.

First, realize, understand and promote the value and vision of tourism. Understand that regardless of where you are in the scheme of things you must get to a point that you are doing things to grow tourism. This is the most important frame of mind community leaders can have when it comes to your community's financial survival.

Secondly, find those unique things about your city and build upon them. Tourists are seeking new and unique experiences, not sameness. Tourists are seeking to find the heart and soul of a community, not the same old and easy to find anywhere experiences so many provide. Does your community have access to water, such as rivers or lakes? Does your community have a niche such as music, history and/or art etc.? Find at least one niche and magnify that niche to the best of your ability.

Thirdly, support organizations that are willing to create events that magnify your community's niches and talents. People will travel for good events. Your events can be car or bike shows, food festivals, unique music festivals, veteran's events, ethnic festivals and the list goes on. The real skill in this arena however is beyond just creating these events. Every event you concentrate community resources towards should be one that can ultimately grow to a multiday event. Those are the events that attract the high stakes tourism dollars that really make the impact your community needs.

There is one additional element that can't be overlooked as you begin to capitalize on these great events. That is your downtown appearance and ambiance. Tourists look for uniqueness while visiting your town; they look for experiences that are unduplicated in other locations. As you build your event agenda in the coming years, don't do so at the expense of neglecting the heart and soul of your down-

CITY COMMISSION

City Sales Tax Revenue Increases

news@bellefourchebeacon.com

NEWELL-The Newell Commissioners noted that sales tax revenue had a Year to Date increase of $22,956.95, although there was a $192.60 deficit for the month of July. January through June saw steady increases benefitting the town. Much of the increase could be seen in the Newell Liquor Store that showed a Year to Date difference comparison between 2020 and 2021. The net profit YTD in 2020 was $46,633.32 and in 2021 the net profit at this time is $81,028.33.

Decisions were made to approve several necessary expenditures.

Servpro of Rapid City proposed the cost of cleanup of 102 Fisk Ave. Cleaning the outside only of the dwelling and area totaled $16,405.95. This includes personal protective equipment for hazardous clean-up, hazardous waste technician, a dumpster, and tow truck service.

Hydro Klean was hired to provide work on approximately 1400 feet of sanitary sewer main. The company will clean, televise, and provide rehabilitation options on the condition of the pipe. The total for their work is $9,360.

SCHOOL BOARD

Math Teacher Hired, but Declines

COLLEEN BRUNNER
news@bellefourchebeacon.com

NEWELL – The Newell school board in their most recent meeting on August 9, approved the resignation of math teacher Jessica McGregor and the hiring of Terry Lutz. Just a day or two later, however Lutz declined the position. It is unclear who will actually fill that position.

Lacey Doyle was hired as the assistant boys’ basketball coach.

The board spent a good chunk of the evening on approval of several policies, including administration of medications to students, use of alcohol, drugs and controlled substances, alcohol and other drug use by students, administration oof medical cannabis to qualifying students, medical cannabis administration plan and video surveillance on campus.

The board approved a stiped for professional development at $250 per day for up to four NISLAND – Saturday, August 14, saw several different eastern Butte County fire department members gather at the Nisland fairgrounds to get some new or updated training in vehicle extrication and water rescue.

“We want to see as much ‘in-field’ training as possible today so we’ll get to it as quickly as possible,” said Keith Trojanowski of the Rapid City Fire Department. He and Tanner Urbanik were instructors for the vehicle extrication training, while Jason Fields and Hunter Harlen trained those signed up for the swift-water rescue.

The two groups met over breakfast provided by the Vale fire department to sign up for their training sessions. They broke into the informational portion of the day, with one group working in the pavilion and another in the fair office.

As the two groups were in session, alarms sounded on the scanners and firefighters jumped to run. The call ended up being a very small fire north of Palo road, and the only department called was from Newell. Although there were three Newell members there and one of their brush trucks, they did not have to respond.

Trojanowski, in the educational portion of training told the session that new vehicles were being manufactured with Generation 5 steel which made the outlook for vehicle extrication nearly impossible with current

Art in the Air - Drone Air Services

news@bellefourchebeacon.com

NEWELL – When Luke Gaylor’s Parrot drone lifts off it sounds like a horde of angry bees, and flies just as quickly. Gaylor, who moved to the Newell area with his family just a year ago from Hayden, ID, has launched a new business in eastern Butte County.

Gaylor is one of six children of Darryl and Dawn Gaylor. Darryl is a supervisor for the areas FedEx delivery service and Dawn works at K Bar J Leathers in Newell. The family planted new roots in this area as they felt that the area in Idaho was growing too big and too populated. They wanted a small acreage and not too much to do.

Gaylor was homeschooled and is a self-taught pilot, receiving certification through a variety of online classes in the field. He started with amateur photography on the ground and then started taking ariel photography drone classes.

“It all came together doing two of my favorite things,” said Gaylor. “It was a leap of faith.” Although he feels he isn’t quite in the professional category yet, he is making great strides. He has the one drone, a small unit that is about 12 inches square and utilizes an app he views on his cell phone. He has plans to purchase a higher end drone, but the current one can do most of what he needs to do now. He hopes to get a better camera, better sensors and find a drone that is more stable.

The most recent drone footage and photos that Gaylor has done were at the Nisland Independent Community Church on Saturday. He came to do the footage at the request of the church, as they plan to make some major renovations which will change the look of the building. They also want the video for historical documentation. He also has done drone video of the Butte/Lawrence County Fair parade which will be posted on his website soon.

Luke Gaylor watches as he videos the church sign in preparation for making an informational video for the Nisland Church. - Brunner photo

That is just one of the fields where drone videos come into play, but Gaylor said there are many, many ways drones can be utilized. They can help with security for events, videoing power lines, pasture fences, check trees and roof damage and a host of other uses. Many small drones, like the one Gaylor uses, can be utilized for commercial video and photos for real estate, marketing, advertising and innumerable events.

They can be used for search and rescue, viewing construction sites without even stepping foot on the area, viewing, mapping, and even providing digital yardage for a golf course, keeping track of areas in all types of businesses and even tracking down missing and lost days. Eighteen teachers were approved for the stipend.

The board also approved hiring an after school program director with pay set at $30 per hour and work pay at $23 per hour for two days a week. ESSER III funding will be utilized for these services starting after Labor Day. There are approximately 10 students interested thus far and it will be considered allowing flexible attendance for students.

Two students were approved for open enrollment during the business meeting. Bids for diesel/unleaded were accepted from CBH which was the cheaper bid, while a propane bid was accepted from Enning Propane. There was a difference of $.00.1 per gallon between the two companies submitting bids.

With Prairie Farms as the only company submitting a bid for school milk, that bid was approved.

The school will participate in the Emergency Bus Pact where if a bus breaks down within the state, Newell can be chartered to the closest area to get repairs.

In open forum, teachers Cheryl McCann, Kyle Sanderson and Jackie Clements thanked the board for the opportunity to come in to prepare for the upcoming year, developing curriculum plans, revisiting standards and collaborating with colleagues to develop expectations.

"We looked at consistency of expectations from elementary to middle school to high school, and from grade level to grade level," said McCann. "The time allowed to teachers to become familiar with newly purchased curriculum, attend webinars and have time to produce lesson plans was helpful."

In other school news the district has contracted with Wall Meats to bring the pilot program for Beef to School to the school. This program also includes New Underwood, Custer/Hermosa, Faith, Philip, Edgemont and Kadoka.

The program was utilized last spring in some of the schools with the kickoff last January. Ninety pounds of locally raised beef were served to more than 200 students during one lunchtime program.

The program started as a pilot project with local ranchers donating beef. Wall Meat processed the meat and contributed the cost of processing.

"We're excited about the potential for the program in the Newell school," said Superintendent Andrew Fergen. He would like all farmers and ranchers in the local area to know that this is an opportunity for them to support the local district.

tools available to the industry.

"They might not be able to be cut-able with the tools that we have currently," said Trojanowski. He explained new techniques utilized and options for extrication.

From C1 City Commission

There are bats in the museum church that must be removed by an expert, according to Museum Curator Linda Velder. Velder had contacted Black Hills area "Bat Man", Joel Tickner, to discern the best route to take in ridding the church of the mammals. He concluded that the bats may have been displaced from their maternity roost and will possibly migrate at the end of the season. SD GFP Bill Eastman told her that the bats were on the endangered list and will return to the same location next spring.

John Kolb from Central Plains Bat Removal gave Velder a proposal amounting to $2,500 to remove the bats and clean up the area inside the church. Velder stated that she hoped to have the work done before Labor Day.

Tot 'N Twenty Community Family Extension representative Lynette Culver sounded out the commission on waiving the rental fee for the City Hall for the annual Christmas Fair in October. She pointed out that the organization had been sponsoring the community event for 30 years and that the proceeds go to help several Newell area groups. Mayor Wetz suggested that she put the item on next month's agenda so that the commission could vote on the approval.

Last minute Labor Day events were brought to the attention of the commission. Mayor Wetz noted that the area for the tractor pull needed some attention and was assured by City Foreman Larry Parker that everything would be ready. Parker also ascertained that the restrooms would be open in the South Park and that there would be no street dance this year. The youth dance will be held in the park. The Newell Bar will hold a dance inside the bar this year, also.

The next commissioner meeting will be held September 13 at 6 p.m.

Meanwhile Fields and Harlen were working to relay information about the techniques to perform in a water rescue situation.

The day was hot, triple digits, and the group working on extrication were dressed in full turnout gear as they would be in a read situation. The other group enjoyed dipping into the cool water of the irrigation canal.

This type of training is invaluable whether or not these volunteers have had the training previously or not. Updated techniques and new tools show firefighters they can continue to help people in their time of need.

Farley Sprague will attend the Labor Day picnic at Sulphur and will take with him his running horses Buck and Set. There will be a quarter mile dash and a half mile run. Set will enter the quarter and Buck the half. It is understood that Frank Beck of Bixby, John Timmons of Fairpoint and Bob Jewett of Sulphur, will enter superb horses in each of these races.

On Sunday, Mr. Nelson of Belle Fourche entered the list of honor as champion fisherman of the Black Hills by landing a 5½ pound trout near the old Benton place on Sand Creek. He fought the big fellow for nearly half an hour before landing it. F. J. Van Dusen, Spearfish also got into the limelight by landing a 4 pounder above Boyden’s also on Sand Creek. He and the Mrs. were with the Johnson party and Van went fishing, in less time it takes to tell it, he had hooked the “whale”. He continued to fish for an hour longer but failed to get even a strike.

Trisco Self Rising Pan Cake Flour will be on the market in ample time for the pancake season. It is of the highest quality. It took 3 years of work and experiment to perfect this flour. Made from wheat, corn and Rye flour with salt, it requires no milk, eggs, sugar, baking powder or yeast, just add cold water and bake. The flour will cost less than the other highest grade pancake flour. It will soon be in stock at Newell Mills in cases of 12 or 4 pound packages.

Among the attractions of the big celebration to be held at Newell on Labor Day, will be the Karinen string of buckers: “Nut Cracker”, “High Noon”, “Wild Lizzie” and other snarky twisters of this string will perform at their best. There should be good riding on some of the best of the Karinen string of horses to come to Newell.

August 27, 1931
As announced last week, the public schools of Newell will open on Tuesday September 1. Everything is in readiness, the building has been thoroughly renovated and by the end of the week the teachers will all have arrived ready to begin the year’s work.

Mr. & Mrs. George Longpre, Mr. & Mrs. W.W. Glover and Mr. & Mrs. J.E. Hammontree picnicked in the Sturgis Park last Sunday and report a very enjoyable outing. Over at the Spearfish Park, Mr. & Mrs. Carl D. Anderson and children, Mrs. Frank Frahm and Mr. & Mrs. Edgar Anderson and children enjoyed a picnic and later attending the picture show in Deadwood.

Although Ralph Kirk of Hoover territory turned in 3 coyote pups to the County Auditor’s office in Belle Fourche last Saturday for state bounty payment, on his return home, spying additional animals, he immediately followed them with the Sheridan hounds and ran down 1 old coyote and 5 more nearly full-grown pups. Henry Jacobsen Secretary/Treasurer of the Castle Rock Coyote Extermination Association reports claims for state bounty payment will not be accepted later than August 31 and urges that all pelts and scalps be turned in before that expiration date.

news@bellefourchebeacon.com

Reub and I went to Bible study at Lester and Sharon Longwood’s last Sunday night and Todd and Anna Buer joined us. We are using the book “100 Bible Verses That Made America” by Robert J. Morgan, which is a wonderful look at the Bible and America’s history.

Reub and I took Roxie Finck with us to Ekalaka for Reub’s cousin Keith Larson’s funeral on Monday. We got to visit with a lot of friends and relatives before heading home. Casey checked the water at the Denzin place that morning before he and Missy also came to Keith’s funeral.

It was 105 degrees on Monday and again on Tuesday when Reub and I went to check water at Cow Camp that morning. It was really hot and windy that afternoon, so we didn’t have to worry about whether the wind-mill over there would pump water, but I had to water all my gardens when we got home. We stopped at our east place on the way home to clean up the shack a little bit to get it ready to have lunch after they worked cows over there on Friday.

It cooled off a little when we went to check water at our Horse Creek pasture on Wednesday. Casey went to help Bill Holt work his cattle at the Grinde place east of here Wednesday morning and then up at Bill’s place later that morning. Our son Guy called us that afternoon to get Aunt Bessie Campbell’s phone number because he was taking Cade to start college in Prescott, Arizona and he wanted to get in touch with Aunt Bessie and her family while they were down there. Cade is going to school down there because he wants to be an aeronautical engineer. I called Aunt Bessie and had a good visit with her and her daughter Carolyn Hadley.

I woke up sick Thursday morning and was wondering if I had contacted the China Virus. Reub was spraying weeds that morning and I felt better by noon, so we went over to check water at Cow Camp that afternoon and then on to Hettinger. Some of my friends have sent me information about how well Ivermectin works in India to combat COVID. This website has some interesting info: <https://free-dom4um.com/cgi-bin/readart.cgi?ArtNum=251963>. If I get the China Virus I’m going to try Ivermectin because it has worked really well for some of our neighbors who caught it. I’m also interested in a couple other safe drugs the big pharma doesn’t want us to know about.

We got rain!! The rain we got Thursday afternoon left .37 hundredths in the rain gauge. Friday morning we preg checked the cows and vaccinated calves at our east place and then preg checked the heifers here. Bill Holt, and Doug and Clint Doll came to help and Missy took snacks to the east place that morning and then we fed the crew dinner up at the shop at noon while it was raining again. That rain left .47 hundredths in the rain gauge – our prayers were answered!

Taz was up at the rodeo in Baker, MT Friday evening. Amanda and the kids, and Casey and Missy all went to Baker to watch him. He was up in Caldwell, Idaho on Saturday but that was pretty far away so the crew all came home.

Sadly, we have more deaths to report:

We lost a good neighbor when Lennis Erickson passed away last Saturday. His funeral was in Reeder Saturday morning.

Our dear friend Janice Peck’s funeral will be September 9 at Slim Buttes Lutheran Church at 1:00.

Jerry Wells passed away on Saturday and we haven’t heard anything about his funeral yet. I used to babysit Jerry when his mother Rose Wells worked for my mother in the café in Bison. Jerry is a cousin to all the Marty kids because both Helen (John) Marty and Maxine (Bill) Marty were sisters to Jerry’s father Errol Wells.

These families have our sympathy.

The Harding County Fair rodeo was on Sunday and Casey went over to steer wrestle in Camp Crook that afternoon. Sunday was Paisley Parmley’s 6th birthday and Amanda and the little people went down to help her celebrate that evening.

We planned on having church at the Reva Gap early Sunday morning, but it was chilly and really windy so instead we had the service at the church with the brunch afterward that we had planned to have at the Gap. Aaron Michael Weil, his wife Melissa and 6 year old daughter Elizabeth provided the music at the church. All three performed at the Coffee House in Reva that evening, with a good crowd in attendance. If you ever get a chance to watch Aaron, you’ve never seen anyone play a guitar as well as he does!

I’ll leave you with this:

An Old Rancher’s Advice

- * Your fences need to be horse-high, pig-tight and bull-strong.
- * A bumble bee is considerably faster than a John Deere tractor.
- * Words that soak into your ears are whispered...not yelled.
- * Forgive your enemies. It messes up their heads.
- * Do not corner something that you know is meaner than you.
- * The best sermons are lived, not preached.

A new police signal was installed in Newell the past week to help City Police Chief George Hafner in his work. It is a call light installed by local employees of the Black Hills Power & Light Company on the front of the Corner Café. Personnel of the café will operate the light and receipt of telephone calls from persons reporting trouble and Chief Hafner will keep his eye open for the light to come on while on his patrol work on the streets. The telephone number to be dialed is 7771 to make a brief report giving their name, location and nature of the trouble which they desire the police to investigate.

A palomino gelding given away at Whitewood Saturday night at a benefit dance for the West River Children’s Hospital & Polio Center will be sold again at Newell to benefit the hospital and center. Govert Van derBoom of Newell was the winner of the 5-year old gelding, who immediately announced he would donate all proceeds from a special horse sale at the Newell Livestock Exchange on September 10 to the polio fund. The local livestock exchange will care for and feed the horse until the sale and Mr. Van derBoom reported he will ride the animal in the Newell Labor Day parade.

“Drones can be used in so many ways for so many different things,” said Gaylor. “I intend to keep seeking new clients, and expand my company. I hope to bring on more pilots to cover a wider tri-state area or larger.”
Gaylor said he especially hopes to provide agriculture and industry services in the local area.
It’s not all fun and games though, according to this young entrepreneur. You have to get licensed, be able to identify and communicate with air traffic control and when you launch a drone, you are really flying, he said.
Qualifications, besides licensing, include continuing to take classes in drone flying, photography, videography, editing, business management and a host of other requirements. He feels that his drone videog-

Local Volunteers Train for Fire Protection

COLLEEN BRUNNER
news@bellefourchebeacon.com

NVN AREA – When you have work that waits in the field or on the job while your employer graciously allows you to drop everything and run, that is true commitment. And that is just what seven newly trained men, as well as a host of other local volunteers in the Nisland/Arpan (NAVFR), Vale, Castle Rock and Newell fire departments do regularly.
There has been a lot of training going on in the departments, which are made up totally of volunteers. Quite a few volunteers, including men and women, who are either new to the job or have a great deal of experience have continued to upgrade and train in the areas of fire safety, first aid, knowledge of equipment and keeping their physical abilities honed. There is a whole lot of details included in just these four things, but it is safe to say that these seven men have proved they have what it takes after months of twice-weekly sessions. This is a true time commitment, but something they all do for the good of the community.
The most recent training included all the things a firefighter needs to know in the Firefighter 1 and 2 training sessions.
Those either finishing the training and receiving their certification, or waiting to take their final test are: NAVFR members Martin Eppe and Jeremy Butcher, Vale members Kobe Crago, Jim Davis and Peyton Bahe, Newell members Tyler Swan and Ross Gaylor.
The National Fire Protection Association (NFPA) has developed training standards for those working in the fire service including Firefighter 1 which covers basic fire service qualifications and Firefighter 2 which involves more specialized areas and command. Hours of training for these two classes alone can amount to around 600 hours and most of these individuals have recently taken Wildland fire training for at least three days of sessions and first aid classes.

Training includes such things as special clothing, fire equipment, using telecommunications, Self-Contained Breathing Apparatus (SCBA) and how to actually fight a fire, whether it be a structure, wildland or other incident.
These firefighters had to “find the dummy” in a practice session where a room was filled with fog, representing smoke. “We missed it completely,” said Eppe. It (the dummy) was under the bed and we searched (blindly) and couldn’t find it.”

One of the most interesting things that Gaylor learned was how everything works together, whether it be the firefighters themselves, the equipment, the chain of command and all the other facets that go into fighting a fire.
Davis and Crago both felt that the training was invaluable. They just recently joined the Vale department. Gaylor and Swan are younger, and new recruits, by the standards of some of the experience of other veteran volunteers. Butcher has had training in the past but had never finished the F1 & F2 training and received certification.
“It’s a long training,” he said. It takes true commitment to see the process to the end and hold that certificate in your hand.
