Questioning Voter Integrity

Betty Bruner

news@bellefourchebeacon.com

BELLE FOURCHE-A group of concerned citizens appeared at the regular meeting of the Butte County Commissioners last Tuesday to point out problems the group has observed in many of the elections held across the state and nation. The website for South Dakota Canvassing Group states that it is a group of citizens working together to secure election integrity. According to their website, sdcanvassing.com, they have discovered "serious election issues in South Dakota" and are attempting to inform county commissioners across the state of these issues.

Spokesperson for the group, Kate Johnson, pointed out that voting machines are hackable and asked the commissioners to consider hand-counting ballots for the upcoming General Election. The group believes that machines can change the number of votes and should be suspect of being entirely legal.

Also according to the SD Canvassing Group, it is far too easy to establish residency in South Dakota. South Dakota codified law 12-1-4 states "For the purposes of this title, the term, residence, means the place in which a person has fixed his or her habitation and to which the person whenever absent, intends to return. A person who has left home and gone into another state or territory or county of this state for temporary purpose actually lives, if the person has no present intention of leaving. If a person moves to another state, or to any of the other territories, with the intention of making it his or her permanent home, the person thereby loses residence in this state."

Auctioneer Jack (Slug) Mills, from Boyes MT and his gang of red shirted assistants from Mills Auction Service & Real Estate brought their knowledge and experience to town to maximize the return to Ager. Slug's skills as an auctioneer and knowledge of the history of the collectables being sold was informative and engaging. Jim Kallas, 2022 SDBA Broadcaster of the Year

Jim Kallas, the General Manager of Riverfront Black Hills, was honored as the "Broadcaster of the Year" by the South Dakota Broadcasters Association (SDBA) at their State Leadership Conference held September 26 & 27 at the Spearfish Canyon Lodge, Lead, SD. The award is given annually to Broadcasters in recognition of service to their community.

Jim has been involved in numerous charitable activities over the years. He is a past United Way campaign chairman, Junior Achievement board member, and continues to serve as a local advocate for St. Jude Children's Research Hospital coordinating local fundraising efforts that have raised over $800,000 to date.

Jim started his Radio career nearly 40 years ago, while studying Mass Communications at Black Hills State, as a part-time announcer at KDSJ-AM. From there he moved to on-air nights as part of the legendary KSKY line-up broadcasting from the bank building on historic Main, downtown Deadwood. After a change in station management, Jim was hired away to work as Operations Manager for Duhamel Broadcasting. This included the evolution of what would become today's Eagle Country and the next legendary Black Hills rock station, XROCK. With the sale of Duhamel to Riverfront Broadcasting in 2018, Jim would be eventually be tapped to lead as General Manager, overseeing day-to-day of both Spearfish and Rapid City. Add in the acquiring of KDSJ and the moving of their Deadwood operations to Spearfish, the remodel/renovation of the Spearfish studios, along with various engineering upgrades AND the pending move of the Rapid City studios and offices from downtown to Jackson Blvd. Through it all Jim has maintained his easy-going, approachable manner and super-positive demeanor as he continues to focus on the big picture while at the same time, executing a myriad of small details on a daily basis in Programming, Sales, AND Engineering to ensure continued success of Riverfront's 6 station Black Hills operation.

Jim's had the pleasure of working with some of the most talented people in Radio which means he's also worked with some extreme personalities!

The Fayville Agency: Health Insurance with Old Fashioned Customer Service

Downtown Belle Fourche is home to yet another new business. One of the latest newcomers to State Street is the Fayville Insurance Agency. On September 15th Nick and Andrea Fayville set up shop in a new space at 617 State Street, just next door to Belle Flowers Gifts and Decor.

The Fayville Agency offers expertise in supplemental health insurance. That's good news for Belle Fourche. In fact, it's extremely good news. Purchasing health insurance and in particular supplemental health insurance has become a daunting challenge that takes a lot of time and often leaves the consumer feeling frustrated and confused.

It's nice to know that in-person health insurance consumer advocacy is on our doorstep. Andrea Fayville agrees, "Our communities have long been underserved when it comes to having a representative talk to them about health insurance."

Andrea loves to help people. "My goal is to explain health insurance and help consumers find the best plan possible." Andrea's preference for working with people has drawn her toward health insurance and away from her training in

Marcus Comes 92

Marcus Peter Comes of Fossil, Oregon passed away on October 3, 2022, at the age of 92, and is now reunited with his parents, Marcus and Lotta Comes; his son Gregory; his brother Andrew; his sisters, Elaine Uttermark, Mary Lou Girardi, and Marcelline Goggin. He will be profoundly missed by his son Bradley Mark (Carolyn) Comes; his daughter Marybeth (Frank) Jaeger; his sister Janet Hensley; his brother Jerry (Debbie) Comes; and his grandchildren, Christopher and Patrick Comes, Cole, Joe (Joely) and Katherine Jaeger; and step granddaughter, Debbie (Brock) Horner; 4 great grandchildren with another due in November; and many nieces, nephews and cousins.

Marc never met a stranger and loved his family and friends in his small town of Fossil very much. He especially enjoyed Fossil's Wednesday Senior Meals and visiting with his friends on the bench at the Fossil Mercantile. He was also loved and cared for by his extended Jaeger family, Frank's brother Randy, wife Corrina and their family. He loved being Grandpa Marc to Randy and Corrina's children and grandchildren as much as he did his own grandchildren.

Marc was born in Nisland, South Dakota and upon his graduation from high school, enlisted in the United States Army on December 27, 1948. He received a Leadership Accommodation from the 10th Infantry Division on May 6, 1949, served in the Korean war and rose to the rank of Sergeant First Class before his honorable discharge on April 1, 1951. Upon his return from the military, he married the only woman he ever loved, Teresa Dingeman, in Spearfish, SD on June 11, 1953. Over his lifetime he lived in Belle Fourche, SD, Bend, OR and Fossil, OR. While in Belle Fourche, he owned and operated a Mobil Service Station. Subsequently, he managed Motive Parts & Supply Inc. in Belle Fourche and operated a fast-food drive-in (The Penguin), with the help of his wife and children during the summers. While in Bend, OR, he was a Purchasing Agent at Mt. Bachelor Ski Resort, where he retired in 1991.

His main priority in life was to always provide and care for his family. He enjoyed hunting, snow skiing, snowmobiling and boating with his family. He and his children had many memorable and exciting stories to tell about those activities growing up. Later in life, he enjoyed collecting fast cars and restoring old tractors and hit-and-miss motors. He was also very dedicated to his Catholic faith. He served on the City Planning Commission, Chamber of Commerce and was a Trustee of St. Paul's Catholic Church.

A funeral service is planned for Saturday, November 5, 2022, at 11:00 a.m. at St. Catherine Catholic Church, 675 Washington Street, Fossil, OR. A grave site service and burial will be at Sunset Memorial Gardens, 3702 Loren Drive, Fredericksburg, VA, where he will be laid to rest next to his late son, Gregory (date to be determined).

In lieu of flowers the family suggests donations in Marc's memory to the Fossil Senior Meal Site, PO Box 153, Fossil, OR 97830.

Chaplain (COL) David Peterson 81

Chaplain (COL) David Peterson, retired, age 81 of Sturgis, died Wednesday, October 19, 2022 at his home, surrounded by his loving family.

A funeral service will be held 11am Thursday, October 27th, 2022 at Foothills Community Church in Sturgis. There will be no visitation. A second service will be held 11am Monday, October 31, 2022 at the Reformed Presbyterian Church in Lemmon. Interment will take place in Greenhill Cemetery in Lemmon, with Military Honors provided by the Brattvet-Green American Legion Post #66.

Arrangements are with Leverington Funeral Home of the Northern Hills in Belle Fourche. Both services will be available to view online, from David's obituary page, located on the funeral home's website: www.LeveringtonFH.com David's video tribute will be also made available there as well.

At the family's request, please do not send flowers. In lieu of flowers, memorials are preferred to the Foothills Community Church or the Reformed Presbyterian Church.

Chaplain (COL) David P. Peterson, Retired, was born on January 4, 1941 in Lemmon, South Dakota. He graduated from Lemmon High School in 1958 and received his BA degree from Covenant College, St. Louis, Missouri in 1962. He continued his studies at Covenant Theological Seminary, St. Louis, Missouri, receiving a Master of Divinity in 1965 and was ordained as a Presbyterian Minister in July 1965. While at Covenant, David met the love of his life, Sandra, and they married on June 9, 1964.

As a Chaplain in the U.S. Army, David ministered to soldiers of all ranks for 30 years. David was as equally concerned about ministering to enlisted soldiers and non-commissioned officers during two combat tours in Vietnam as he was about ministering to the most senior commanding officers during Operation Desert Storm. In his assignments throughout the United States, David positively impacted soldiers and their families with his living Christian testimony. He provided comfort, wisdom, and encouragement to everyone he knew. He retired from active-duty service in 1995 and moved to Sturgis, South Dakota.

Following military service, David served as the Executive Director of the Presbyterian and Reformed Joint Commission on Chaplains and Military Personnel (PRJC) and Coordinator for Chaplain Ministries, Mission to North America (MNA), Presbyterian Church in America (PCA). In these roles, David recruited, sponsored, and mentored dozens of Chaplains who served in multiple branches of the military and communities of service. He retired from this ministerial role in 2010.

While David had many significant professional accomplishments, his source of joy was serving God, serving others, and uplifting his family. He and his beloved wife, Sandra, created a refuge for family gatherings where wonderful memories were created for his children, grandchildren, great grandchildren, extended family, and so many others. He fixed four wheelers, saddled up horses, guided pheasant hunts, prepared the swimming pool, jumped on trampolines, and refereed family skeet shooting competitions. He did all this with contagious enthusiasm, a fun-loving attitude, and an endless supply of "grandpa sayings" that endeared him to all. He never faced a task too great that he couldn't complete for the enjoyment of his family. The love he showed and generosity he shared left a legacy of happiness, joy, and love. His life will continue to be an inspiration for many generations.

David is survived by his wife, Sandra of Sturgis, South Dakota; son, Jeffrey (Lili) Peterson of West Point, New York, daughters, J' Lane (Peter) Dunning of Beaufort, South Carolina, and Julie (Paul) Durfield of Hattiesburg, Mississippi. David's grandchildren include Jessica (Joshua), Kayci, Sydney (Ian), Olivia (Blaine), Benjamin, Joseph, Anna, Stephen, Clara, Meghan, Faith, Ginny, Caleb, Hudson, Heath, Colter, and Jeremiah, as well as great-grandchildren James and Elizabeth. He is also survived by brothers Robert (Karen) Peterson of Lemmon, South Dakota, Rolland (Jane) Peterson of Lemmon, South Dakota, Kenneth (Pauline) Peterson of Aberdeen, South Dakota, and sister Delores Long of Lemmon, South Dakota.

David was preceded in death by his parents, Robert and Winnie Peterson, his brother, Charles, brother-in-law Art, and sisters-in-law, Rosemary and Ruth.

Pastor's Perspective

"God's Glorious Creation"

Shout for joy to God, all the earth! Sing the glory of his name; Make his praise glorious! Psalm 66:1-2

Did you notice how glorious this past week was? It's so easy for us to keep our "nose to the grindstone" and not experience the joy and beauty of God's creation! The weather was a roller coaster for sure—our first hard frost, but then those glorious days with temperatures in the 70's and low 80's. And if the temperatures weren't blessing enough, the hills and meadows were brilliantly decked out in golds, yellows, peaches, a touch of green, and a dash of red from the occasional maple tree or sumac bushes.

The creation is singing and glorifying God our Creator!

Yet, as I write this, my weather app is predicting our first snowfall. Hopefully we won't see too much of it with this storm; maybe just enough to waken our eyes once again to the beauty of God's creation by accentuating the colors with a touch of snow white.

In the fall, I like to see how long my flowers will survive through the first hard frost and snow. I think the petunias in the barrels at the church are in their final days. It's possible the roses, mums, and snapdragons will survive for a while longer. I have seen these flowers withstand North Dakota's first frosts and snows! I'm not familiar with hollyhocks, so I wonder what happens to them!

It's a season of change and as Isaiah said, "The grass withers and the flowers fall, but the word of our God endures forever." (Isaiah 40:8)

Another way to consider this idea is Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today, and forever. (Hebrews 13:8)

Now this is something we can sing joyfully about anytime of the year!

Peace and joy to you,
Rev. Sheri Fadley- Courtesy Photo-Spearfish Canyon

Tri-State Museum Seeks Loans of Items for its “The Moon” Mini Exhibit

The Tri-State Museum and Visitor Center will open a new mini exhibit on Saturday, November 12, entitled “The Moon.” Because the exhibit is as much about the cultural impact of the moon as its science, the collections archivist is requesting loans of items that include moon images or relate to the moon.

These items could range from jewelry to apparel, from sheet music and toys to décor items. Loans for an exhibit always go back to the owner when the exhibit closes; “The Moon” will be in place until February 20.

Anyone willing to provide a loan for the exhibit is asked to call Jada Udager at 605-723-1200. The Tri-State Museum and Visitor Center is located at 415 Fifth Avenue in Belle Fourche and is open 9-5 on Tuesday through Saturday.

Belle Fourche Defeats ST More in Clean Sweep

Fehrín Brindley
Specials to the Beacon

The Broncos only had one game last week, beating St Thomas Moore for the second time this season with set scores of 25-15, 26-24, and 25-19. The win improves Belle Fourche's record to 28-6. This keeps them at 8th place in the Class A standings and earns them the most wins of any Class A team in South Dakota at this point of the season.

The Broncos set the tone for the game with Chloe Crago's ace to take the first point and lead of the match. The Cavaliers answered, and each team went point for point to a tied game at 8-8. Adryana Hovland took Belle to 9-8 when her attack appeared too much to handle for the STM libero. The Broncos built off that momentum to carry themselves to point 25 before the Cavaliers could get out of the teens.

In set two, the cavaliers put on the battle for a while longer, taking the lead from mid-way. The Broncos held on, though, and didn't let the home team get out of reach. At a score of 17-19 in STM's favor, Mataya Ward and Ava McLennan teamed up for a right side block. A few points later, Ward slammed it between two STM blockers for a hard-wood kill to give Belle Fourche the lead 20-19. STM's offense answered as they gathered the lead back up at 23-22. Ward got a service ace to put them back in the game at 23-23. Hovland followed that with a kill off the top of the block to take the lead. The Cavaliers earned the next point, officially sending set two into volleyball overtime. Belle Fourche took a point lead to be at game point once again and Crago's tough serve caused the Cavaliers to overpass right into the hands of Grace Clooten who met the ball at the net for a kill.

Clooten became a net monster in set three, giving the Broncos a 5 point lead 13-8 with a solo block. She stopped another when the game was tied at 18-18 and twice more at 22-19 and 23-19 to put the Broncos at game point. A scrambled save by the Bronc team members turned into a Hovland kill for the set and match win.

The Bronc's team effort is reflected even in the stats from the game. Clooten finished the game with 8 kills and 4 blocks, joined defensively by Crago for 12 digs. Dylan Stedillie had 11 digs and 2 service aces to add with her own 6 kills. Ward also added 2 service aces with her 15 kills, followed by Adryana Hovland for 9 kills and an impressive 15 digs. Setter Lily McCarty dished out 35 assists.

The Broncos finished up the regular season at home against Hill City Tuesday, October 25th.

Broncs End Season with Loss to Vermillion

BELLE FOURCHE – The Belle Fourche Broncos ended their 2022 varsity football season with a 27-0 loss to Vermillion last Friday night at Lou Graslie field. It was the final football game for 10 departing upper classmen who were honored before the game on Senior Night.

With the first quarter scoreless and on the Bronc's second offensive possession of the night Belle Fourche looked to score first. Junior QB Nolan Wahlfeldt kept the ball on a designed quarterback run and broke free down the right side of the field for a gain of 67 yards to the five. Unfortunately the Broncos were unable to score and the ball went over on downs to the Tanagers.

With the score still tied 0-0 in the second quarter the Broncos put on a goal line stand of their own.

The Belle Fourche defense stopped Vermillion on four plays inside the ten.

The Broncos took over at their own six and on the very next play a fumbled pitch was recovered by the Tanagers. Vermillion freshman QB Hayden Christopherson took it in on the next play to make it 7-nothing.

Two possessions later Vermillion scored again, completing a 6-play 57-yard drive with a Jason Heine 6-yard run. It would 14-nothing at halftime.

The Broncos were ready to make a game of it following halftime taking the opening third-quarter kickoff and setting themselves up at the Vermillion 30. However, on the first offensive play of the quarter, Wahlfeldt was intercepted by the Tanager's Trillion Sorrell who returned it 42-yards for a touchdown. The extra point was no good and it was 20-nothing Vermillion.

Vermilion added another third quarter score to make it 27-0. Belle Fourche countered on their next possession to get the ball into the red zone after a 42-yard run by senior Thomas McCoy. The Broncos powered the ball to the seven before turning it over on downs once again. There was no scoring in the fourth quarter and the final was 27-0. The Broncos finish their first season under head coach Justin Walker at 3-and-6.

Belle Fourche football will bid farewell to the following seniors: OL/DL Gunner Geib who hopes to attend tech school to become a diesel technician; WR/DL Joshua "JT" Hahne who hopes to play football or baseball in college and get a degree in physical therapy or sports training; WR/DB Lane Longbrake who hopes to attend college and study exercise science or kinesiology; RB/LB Thomas McCoy who hopes to attend college and wrestle on the collegiate level; RB/LB Devin Nowowiejski who plans to pursue a career in engineering at South Dakota State; WR/LB Jayden Sechser who hopes to continue his athletic career on the college level; OL/LB Andy Tonsager who plans on attending Dakota State University and major in network security and administration; K/P Anthony Staley who plans to study business marketing and finance in college and start his own drop shipping business; and WE/LB Evan Vissia who hopes to play collegiate baseball and study exercise science. Congratulations to the seniors and best of luck in your future endeavors.

Anything Left in the Barrel?

Received a note informing the Beacon that Belle Fourche Silver Linings Senior Center received their first title 3C senior nutrition subsidy for over $6000. They have 3 more pending for similar amounts, for June, July and August. It is the culmination of over 3 years of effort. It puts the Center's meals program on a break even basis and allows them to pursue much need improvements to their infrastructure.

It has been the highlight of a lifetime of watching to see the kids participating in the Belle Fourche program perform.

The athlete's love of the sport and continuing efforts to improve are a credit and compliment to their attitudes and abilities, as well as a tribute to the coaches in the program that continually train and inspire them.

We had the privilege of getting to know Sawyer when he picked the Beacon to "job shadow" when in middle school.

There is an old quote that goes, "Run as fast as you can and if someone catches up to you, introduce yourself."

Sawyer's abilities and attitude made me think of the quote.

The Fayvilles are originally from Cleveland, North Dakota where both Nick and Andrea have extended family as well as farming/ranching roots.

When the couple moved to Rapid City, Andrea found herself looking for a job. She needed something that provided challenges, balance long-term stability and the balanced, family life with her desire for challenge, long-term stability, and the opportunity to work with people. She found her niche in health insurance. “I love to educate people.” She affirmed. “It’s been a blessing to be able to help.” Nick and Andrea have been co-owners of The Fayville Agency in Rapid City for the past two years.

The Fayvilles are drawn to the Belle Fourche area and the Black Hills foothills. During the summer, they coordinated a business and family move to Belle Fourche. As their youngest child entered Kindergarten, it was an opportune time.

Although the Fayville Agency represents the Globe Life Insurance Agency exclusively, they are committed to helping people purchase health insurance that best fit an individual or family’s specific needs. These were the top four finishers for the team which were point-tallied to earn the championship title for the Broncos and all four earning individual state placing in the top twenty-five.

Junior, Harley Rivera placed twenty-ninth with a time of 17:41 and a fantastic improvement on the year. Freshman, Sern Weishaar was the Broncos sixth runner placing in forty-fifth place with a time of 18:07 earning him a spot tying for tenth place on the Broncos Top Ten of All Time record board.

The Lady Broncos had two runners at the State 4A race. Junior, Ava Allen placed fiftieth with a time of 21:15 for her return run at state. Eighth grader, Misty Drieling placed fifty-ninth for her first ever state race with a time of 21:22, a personal record and improving her listed time on her spot at number six on the Lady Broncos Top Ten of All Time record board.

It was a fantastic end to a hard-earned season for the Broncos!

HR nightmares? Bring ‘em on! Jim’s been there, done that, got the t-shirt all while remaining calm and steady. But he’s also been instrumental in developing talent in critical roles. Jim’s superpower is his uncanny ability to plug the right person into just the right job description. Jim knows there’s a magical thing that happens when the right person meets their perfect job. Suddenly they’re free to work on their strengths... bringing more value and positive impact to the organization. Where once handcuffed by constantly having to address weaknesses, now they’re able to use their unique, individual giftedness to continually exceed expectations and quietly driving a culture of superior performance rarely found outside major markets.

Through it all, Jim has maintained his unfettered love of Radio, volunteering to fill-in on-air at a moment’s notice, whether it be Country or Classic Hits morning show or high school play-by-play. Jim’s still that same tall, lanky kid behind the mic with a contagious enthusiasm that cannot be faked.

From A1 County Commission
In order for someone to declare residency and register to vote, a Residency Affidavit must be signed by residents who travel and have a valid one-night stay receipt no more than one year old and do not have residency in another state. The form must be signed by a Notary or South Dakota driver license examiner.

The commissioners made no decision on the information given them by the SD Canvassing Group representatives.

Later during the meeting Auditor Annie Capp gave the commissioners statistics on voter registration, early voting, and the integrity of the vote-tabulating machine used at the county. She assured the commissioners that according to the Secretary of State the machine used, a DS450, couldn’t be hacked. She listed the process of voting in the county and pointed out that each poll worker within the precincts will be trained.

Highway Superintendent Dwayne Heidrich informed the commissioners of the difficulty in getting anyone to apply for a position at the Highway Department.

He pointed out that it probably because of the pay scale offered by the county. He has been running an ad all summer with no applicants. He asked the commissioners to increase the offered $18.40 per hour to $20.49 per hour. His request was approved.

The next regular commission meeting is scheduled for November 1 at 9:30 a.m. in the County Court House.

Don’t Quit, You Will Succeed

NEWELL – “If you don’t quit, you will succeed,” said Jake Steinfeld, Chairman of the National Foundation for Governors’ Fitness Councils (NFGFC). That theme echoed again and again, as the students at Newell school listened to the fitness expert and the Governor of the state of South Dakota, Kristi Noem, share during the assembly prior to the ribbon cutting ceremony for the new $100,000 weight room on the school campus. The event happened on Wednesday, October 19.

Newell school was one of three South Dakota schools, which included Sturgis and Custer, of 140 videos sent in, vying for the $100,000 gift.

The gift was presented in the form of equipment packed into the tiny weight room in the basement of the high school building. Newell was chosen as one of the state’s most outstanding schools for demonstrating leadership in getting and keeping their students fit.

Governor Noem signed a proclamation declaring October as “Don’t quit! Fitness Month.”

The NFGFC event on the Newell campus was the 42nd school to receive the $100,000 gift. The organization is supported by Coca-Cola, Elevance Health Foundation, Wheels Up and Nike and does not rely on taxpayer dollars or state funding. My Fitness Store Commercial provides all the fitness equipment. The NFGFC’s goal is to build a nation of the fittest, healthiest kids in the world.

“I believe that when you give the schools the tools they need, it’s amazing what can happen,” said Steinfeld. “We choose four states every year and we are in our 11th year of funding these projects.”

Nominator and weight room instructor teacher Anna Erk saw the contest information and entered the contest in March. “We found out about the contest when our new business office manager, Jaquelin Birner sent the link to me after seeing we were running a contest to make money for the weight room,” said Erk. “We had two weeks to make the video and fill out the paperwork. We had to wait a long time to find out we won.” Students who participated in the video the group created included: Sarah Erk and Braylee Freytag-main speakers, Rowdy Franklin, Miya Mailloux, Tayla Neely, Macey Wendt, Malachi Whitacre, Natalie Yates, Jorey Clements, McKenzie McTaggart, Bethany Mahaffy, Angela Derschan and Kendra Johnson. The students who worked to participate in the fitness training during the exercise session were: Grade 7-Sarah Erk, Nevada Donahey, Braylee Freytag, Brilee Heath, Miya Mailloux, Hayden Johnston, Rachel Strangberg, Jacey Larson, Tayla Neely, Mesa Mangis, Liam Harms. Grade 8-Kendra Johnson. Grade 6-McKenzie McTaggart, Evelyn Ahart, Angela Derschan, Jackson Duncan, Jorey Clements, William Erk, Malachi Whitacre, Rylan Gross, Macey Wendt, Sam High, Natalie Yates, Bethany Mahaffy, McKenzie Rans, Bodie VanDerBoom, Aiyana Sackett, Kate High, Sierra Smith, Orrin Youngberg, Brendt Tifft. Grade 11-Hailey McCann, Rachel Erk. The students participated in the assembly in Austin Auditorium and then moved to the front doors of the high school building where Steinberg and the Governor cut a red ribbon. Then the exercise session moved to the weight room while both dignitaries walked through giving pointers to those students. Spectators, teachers and other students filtered through to view the students demonstrating the pieces of equipment.

According to the NFGFC’s website, physical activity and exercise have been shown to help prevent and treat more than 40 chronic diseases, enhance individual health and quality of life and reduce health care costs. In schools, physical activity and exercise have been shown to improve academic achievement, increase confidence and self-esteem, reduce discipline problems, cut absenteeism, and foster better

The stars of the day on Wednesday, October 19 and the opening of the new fitness center at the school were Jake Steinfeld, Sarah Erk, Anna Erk, Braylee Freytag, and Governor Kristi Noem. The girls were the narrators of the video that teacher Anna Erk helped create as the school’s entry into the NFGFC contest. interpersonal relationships. “We focus on elementary and middle schoolers because they’re still in that ‘Gumby-ish’ stage,” said Steinfeld. “But hope, health and family, and regular exercise can help improve physical and mental health.” “I’m excited for Newell,” said Noem. “Every leader that I know does something hard every day,” she said, encouraging the students not to quit.

The Good Stuff

by Jim Thompson

Jim Thompson takes motivational stories that listeners and readers send him and incorporates them into the program. It has been on the air for more than 10 years.

I've been a baseball fan since I heard the Saturday game of the week with Diz and Pee Wee back in my childhood. But baseball has changed...and I know that I have too. I'm older now, and long for the days of a triple off the wall in deep center, the double steal, the double play, the double header! Someone sent this to me long ago: For all of us who miss the old days of baseball:

The Good Ole Days of Baseball

You don't hear the old chatter these days, the third baseman's chipping staccato to your right, the random hoot from first, behind you a warbled stream, a double play duet like meadowlarks celebrating summer: that chorus of monologues, chanted mantras of "got-your-back", "come-babe hum-babe" "shoot that pill," "rock and fire", "you're the one,"

But you're not the one anymore and the game has changed.

It's a poor imitation, just the very young in their home and away jerseys and all they know is "hey batter batter!" With empty crescendo, like practice for the talk shows. In the end your best stuff is thrown into shadowed silence, the seats half empty, the sun sunk below the grandstand roof, the birds gone mute, even the children grown old.

Staring into the Autumn sky, missing real baseball, I'm Jim Thompson

Taylor Sheridan to Keynote 2022 PRCA Convention

COL. SPRINGS, Colo. — Taylor Sheridan, a prominent American filmmaker and actor, will be the keynote speaker at the 2022 PRCA Convention in Las Vegas.

Sheridan will address convention attendees at the Grand Ballroom at the South Point Hotel and Casino, Wednesday, Nov. 30 at 9 a.m. (PT).

The gathering of PRCA members precedes the biggest event on ProRodeo's annual calendar, the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo presented by Teton Ridge at the Thomas & Mack Center in Vegas, Dec. 1-10.

"We are honored Taylor Sheridan will keynote our convention," said Tom Glause, CEO of the PRCA. "He has a great understanding of the western way of life and appreciates the work ethic of our cowboys and what they represent."

The theme for this year's convention is On the Road Again, and Sheridan will address attendees on his career journey as a filmmaker and being inducted into the Texas Cowboy Hall of Fame in 2021.

Sheridan wrote and directed the 2017 neo-Western crime film Wind River and wrote the 2018 sequel to Sicario. He is a co-creator of the Paramount Network hit television series Yellowstone and creator of its prequel 1883.

As in prior years, the convention will feature the State of the PRCA address from Glause as well as the PRCA Member Tradeshow. The 2022 PRCA National Convention will take place at the South Point.

BH Roundup Again Nominated for Rodeo of the Year

The Black Hills Roundup Rodeo has once again been nominated for PRCA Rodeo of the Year. The event was once again nominated in the Medium Rodeo of the Year category.

The Roundup has won the award four years in a row.

The winners for each category will be announced at the PRCA Awards Banquet at the South Point in Las Vegas at 6pm on Nov. 30th.

Western South Dakota's other major rodeos were also nominated. The Days of '76 in Deadwood is up for the award in the large outdoor rodeo of the year against Pendleton and Calgary.

Central Meade County News

By Sandy Rhoden

News will be short this week due to the fact that it's hard to write the CMC news when you aren't spending much time in Meade County these days. Larry and Sandy Rhoden took off for Sioux Falls on Thursday for the Annual Governor's Hunt. Their four boys, Jesse, Cody, Tristen, Reggie and Jennifer Rhoden all attended as well. They able to each get some pheasants and enjoyed some great family time together.

We have about a week and a half left of having it stay darker in the mornings. In the early morning on Sunday, November 6 we will 'fall back' and get one more hour in the day for Daylight Savings Time.

Soldiers of the Cross will begin a little later than usual this year. It will begin in Wednesday, November 9 right after school at around 3:40 pm. It will conclude at 5:15 pm and children ages 5 and up are invited to attend.

Soon the little princesses, clowns, Spiderman, goblins and more will be knocking at our doors. It marks the last day of most any kind of summer fun and the holiday season officially begins.

As a reminder the Red Owl Community Hall will be hosting Trunk or Treat on October 31 from 5:00 – 8:00 PM. There will be free hot dogs and treats for the goblins and their chauffeurs. If you have young ones it is a great night to enjoy Halloween night.

Capitol News

Some good moisture has moved in on Capitol and Tie Creek. It is trying to snow, and the ground may be white by morning, but it has brought in lots of moisture; soaking things outside.

Dick Albert left, on Monday, to help a friend hunt elk in the Wyoming Black Hills, but again, they didn't see an elk while Dick was there. He came home on Thursday. On Wednesday, Erma went to the Buffalo Clinic, and learned that her allergies were acting up again. By Friday, she was feeling better, and she and Dick went to the Senior Center for the weekly dinner. The Seniors celebrated a couple of birthdays, and Ray Anderson had brought his son with him, so his son played the piano while everyone sang 'Happy Birthday'. Ray's son is an accomplished musician, and when Norman Westers showed him a copy of the 'Harding County Hymn', he played that, too. Some people knew the song, and sang along. They learned that Ray Anderson was planning to move to Spearfish. Erma had picked up Delores Sperle, on the way to the Senior Center, and they stayed to play cards after the dinner. On Sunday, Dick and Erma went to mass at the Catholic Church, and then went to Saloon Number Three for dinner with the Helms and Erk families. Delores Sperle and some of her family was there, too. Pastor Claypool was there, and they saw that Karen and Milton Douglas were back for a Sunday visit also.

Dixie Garr spent part of the week visiting at Pete Anderson's. They went to the Methodist Church on Sunday in Camp Crook, and then had lunch at the Corner Bar with Charlie and Karen Odell. In the afternoon they stayed in town for the anniversary party for Rod and Yvonne Yoder.

Bruce and Lynn Gustafson will soon have a full crew at their ranch. Jess Lehman is now working at the ranch, with Bruce, Pete and Charlie, and there may be more help soon. Bruce, Lynn, Pete and Dixie went to Rod and Yvonne Yoder's anniversary party on Sunday afternoon. Bruce and Lynn had gone to church at Little Missouri that morning.

Alvin and Marlee Cordell had hunters from North Carolina visiting this week. They were archery hunters, and they left for home on Thursday. Marlee made a trip to Belle Fourche on Thursday, and grandson, Cade Pearson, came home with her to stay a few days. On Friday, a couple from Colorado came to hunt. Jay Cordell came out to the ranch for a weekend visit with his parents. Then on Sunday afternoon, Alvin and Marlee joined many friends and neighbors at the Camp Crook Community Center for the Rod and Yvonne Yoder anniversary gathering.

Doug and Julia Davis are home from one more trip to Denver. Julia had surgery, and is on the road to recovery. The storm that moved in on Sunday, was predicted by her aches and pains. She might be a good source of weather information. Still she is glad to be home. On Saturday, Doug went to the Kerr auction. He did get to purchase a snowmobile. Julia's little flowers had survived a couple of very cold nights, but Julia was afraid the snow, this time, would be too much for them, so she went out to look at them one more time. They were wild pansys and horned pansys, and they must be hardy little things. Junior and Shirley Melum were enjoying a visit from their daughter, Andrea Weber, on Sunday. She was going to stay for a couple of days. Tommy Melum had built a science project for the Home School Science Fair, that was held at the church in Ekalaka, on Friday. His project with built with legos and was an actual working clutch and drive shaft. It was so interesting that Tommy spent lots of time at the fair, surrounded by little boys wanting to see it work, and it was a great science lesson for all of them. Tommy had also made a poster that explained how the project worked. Ernie's family went to church at Baker on Sunday, and stayed for the family gathering and pot luck afterward. On Sunday evening,

By KAREN ODELL

Junior, Shirley, Andrea, Ernie, Rachel and Tommy were intent upon a competitive game of UNO.

On Sunday evening, Dorothy Padden was enjoying the rain that was coming down in the form of snow. Mindy Yates had come on Thursday to preg-test cows for Paddens. Dorothy, too, had gone to the Kerr sale on Saturday. The morning was nice, but in the afternoon the wind came up. There were lots of people at the sale.

Ronda Cordell went to Ekalaka to attend the Kerr Land Auction on Tuesday. She had enjoyed lunch with Nellie Howell before the sale. Ronda decided that elk and deer are worth much more than cows are. On Wednesday, Ronda went to Spearfish for a check up on the tonsil surgery she had had. Linda Hannah rode to Spearfish with her. Ronda had blood work done in Buffalo on Thursday.

Ross Phelps came to Ronda's, this week, to do some fixing at the trailer house. Jon Hamilton came from Rapid City, and Chad and Roudy Zolnoski came from Rozet, Wyoming to go to Justin Kerr's auction sale on Saturday. They all headed home in the afternoon, after picking up pumpkins and other goodies. Ronda had made more brittle and mustard for Cristen.

Karen Odell got a little more firewood cut before the snowy rain on Sunday. She took nails out of boards, trained the dog for searching, emptied garden boxes, freeze dried pears, canned beans, did yard work, got more ceiling boards up, and played the violin and piano. She also arranged another song for church, put on new license plates, rebuilt a drawer, and got her necessary exercises done each day. Her vinyl greenhouse is still protecting her tomatoes, but this week's predicted lows may end the gardening. Charlie went to the Justin Kerr ranch

Shaine's Riddle of the Week

Before Mt. Everest was discovered, what was the tallest mountain in the world?

Answer: Everest. It just wasn't discovered yet.

Jim Wilson - Living Induction into Montana Cowboy 2023 Hall of Fame

Cowboy. Rancher. Pickup Man. Pilot. Sheepman. Neighbor. Friend. It doesn't matter how you describe Jim Wilson, but most people who know him will say that he is a true example of the Western way of life. He always said that starting at about six years old, he knew he wanted to be a cowboy, and he wanted to be the best cowboy.

Robert J. Wilson was born in Broadus, Montana, on May 15, 1945, the eldest of three boys, to Bob & Betty Wilson. At that time, they were employed by Bob's uncle Bob Ormesher. Jim started cowboyin' while riding with his Dad and uncle as a small child. He doesn't ever remember not being able to ride. Riding horseback, Jim attended several one-room country schools during his elementary education. Oh, the shenanigans that took place on those rides back and forth to school! Jim graduated from Belle Fourche High School in 1963 and returned to the ranch to work full time for Uncle Bob. Shortly after that, he married the neighbor girl, Donna Harris, and they started a family. Bart was born in 1967, and Boni Jo was born in 1969. Jim's father passed away in 1972, followed by his Uncle Bob in 1976. Since Bob had no children, he left the ranch land to Jim. Several years of financial struggle ensued to pay off the IRS inheritance tax bill and to re-stock the ranch. Jim & Donna later divorced, and he married Louise Hanson in 1989.

For many years, Jim picked up at local amateur, high school, and college rodeos. He loved the adrenaline rush of waiting for the first horse out of the chute and said if he ever quit getting butterflies that he would quit picking up. That did not happen for another 50 years! In the early 1990's, Jim joined the PRCA, and added pro rodeos to his travels. He worked mostly in North and South Dakota, Montana, and Wyoming. He picked up at all the big rodeos in the Badlands Circuit and was selected six times to pick up for the Badlands Circuit Finals. He was proud of the fact that he was always well mounted, that he was never badly injured, and sale on Tuesday, in Ekalaka. He and Karen got to watch Mitchell High School play football at the Brookings University stadium. Their grandson, Kellan Odell was on the Mitchell team playing against Brookings High School, and they got to watch him play in the game on YouTube. Charlie went again to Justin Kerr's equipment and cattle sale, on Saturday, and visited with lots of people there. Bobbie and Sam Cordell served a great lunch, but that is all that Charlie bought. On Sunday, Charlie and Karen went to church at the Methodist Church in Camp Crook. They had lunch at the Corner Bar with Pete Anderson and Dixie Garr. That afternoon, they came back to the Camp Crook community center for the fiftieth anniversary party for Rod and Yvonne Yoder. It is surprising how fast the years travel past, and how the world changes so quickly. Charlie and Karen had a great time at the party, visiting with friends they had not seen for awhile. It was so good to see them all again, and people came from miles around to help Rod and Yvonne celebrate. The snow waited until the party was over, but on the way home, Karen turned on the windshield wipers at time or two. By the time it was dark, some snow was in the air, and soon the dog was soaked and came in shaking off lots of water. Karen and Charlie have kittens to give away, again, if you need one or two or three.

It's good to know that you are unique; just like everybody else.

Chutes For Charity Elects New Officers and Announces Plans

Black Hills Roundup Chutes For Charity elected officers at its September meeting, and proceeded with its business of helping community members during some of the most tragic times of their lives. Denise Adams was elected president, Lorrie Kimball – vice president, Rhonda Schmidt – secretary, and Bev Watson – treasurer. The new officers are from Belle Fourche, SD, even though the charitable organization serves the wider northern Black Hills area and has volunteers from other communities.

Barb Williamson, outgoing president, was recognized for her outstanding leadership and volunteerism to Chutes for Charity. She served as president since September 2019. “Barb’s positive impact on Chutes for Charity will be part of its success for years. She helped us find new ways to engage and support our community. An example is the highly successful wine tasting in Spearfish, progressive bingo events, and greater visibility to a wider audience.

Chutes for Charity also established plans for upcoming fundraising events, including: 2022 October 28: Cowboy Too’s “When The Work’s All Done

This Fall!,” (6pm - 9:30pm), Belle Fourche Community Hall; Cowboy’s Too is again donating proceeds to Chutes for Charity and the organization will be serving dessert November 15: Progressive Bingo at Branding Iron Social Club, Belle Fourche (doors open 6pm) 2023

January 17: Progressive Bingo at Branding Iron Social Club, Belle Fourche (doors open 6pm)

Spring/Summer: Chutes for Charity’s first event in Harding County, hosted at Over The Edge Grill & Bar, Camp Crook, SD

June: Sandy Klarendbeek’s Art and Wine in the Backyard in Spearfish; amazing local art and a free glass of wine with proceeds to Chutes for Charity June: Golf Tournament

Summer: Community garden/yard tour, replacing the Holiday Tour of Homes, which had a great run but also was prone to challenges with weather and scheduling conflicts

Other events are also being considered. To stay current on Chutes For Charity, be sure to like its Facebook page, facebook.com/chutesforcharity. If you know someone in the community in need, especially with medical expenses, send an email to Chutes4Charity@gmail.com or a message through its Facebook page. A fully completed application and references are required.

In 2009, the Black Hills Roundup established Chutes For Charity. This non-profit extension of the Black Hills Roundup provides help and hope to local families facing unexpected emergencies. Profits from events and donations go directly to those in need. Chutes for Charity has given help and hope to hundreds of families in the Northern Hills area when they needed it the most. Donations have exceeded $400,000.

Looking Back in Belle

125 years ago
Belle TIMES
November 4, 1897
Returned to Sioux City
John Pierce, who has made his come in Lead the greater part of the past year, left for Sioux City, his old home, where he will probably be fully occupied in the future. This does not signify that the Pierce deal, which concerns Lead so much, has been abandoned or called off, but that Mr. Pierce is realizing something far beyond what he ever expected out of the enterprises that he integrated in Sioux City a few years ago, and out of the property that he has held there for so long. There are no new developments in regard to the big mining deal that Mr. Pierce has been at work upon here. Mr. Giles, one of Mr. Pierce's friends, a capitalist of great wealth and influence, has been over the ground personally, in company with Mr. Twombly, the expert who represents the syndicate, and has gone east again. Mr. Twombly is still looking after the deal at this end.

State Auditor's Office
The office of the state auditor is the scene of much trouble these days. The office of Insurance Commissioner is the direct cause of all the mischief. Again the wisdom of our state legislature is shown in levying tribute on insurance companies for failing to properly direct the disposition of the proceeds. Thousands of dollars have been collected but there was no statute directing that the money be turned over to the state treasurer and consequently remained in the auditor's hands. Date was left in the office showing that proceeds had been received and the receipts signed by the state auditor gone out. Hipple received during his term as shown by the examination of the state examiner, nearly $10,000 and Mayhew $2,500. The office has been in charge of C.H. Anderson since the organization of the state. Hipple, Mayhew and Anderson were put under arrest on charge of embezzlement. Wednesday Hipple was bound over to appear before the next term of district court. That the amount involved will have to be made good there seems to be no question. The charge that the Governor is pressing the case from a political standpoint is groundless. It is time that a halt was called in the ship-shod course of state officers.

Change at Harness Shop
Monday of last week C. R. Wells and son, Fletcher, purchased the Wells Harness and Saddle Shop from J. L. Wells and took possession the same day. C.R. Wells is one of the real old-time harness and saddle makers of the Black Hills country, and has been in business in Belle Fourche at intervals since the town was started over thirty years ago. For the past few years he was been in active charge of the shop for his son, John. L. Wells.

Radio Fans

The radio bug, or craze, has begun to have its effect in this territory, as quite a number in Belle Fourche have the fever. At present there is only one receiving station in operation, belonging to C. A. Henderson, but it will only be a short time before there will be many more installed. The Tire and Battery Service Shop expect to receive their radio outfit within a few days and many are waiting to see it, as it is one of the newest on the market. It is the Armstrong super-regenerative set, and does not require an outside aerial; an inside loop of copper wire is used instead. There are numerous makes of radio receiving sets on the market at the present time, and prospective buyers are on the outlook to see which make works best out here before buying. If the next year's advance in Radio hits the pace of the past year, Radio will be as common as telephones, phonographs, etc.

Delco plant to Camp Crook
The Delco electric lighting plant arrived in Belle Fourche and will be taken to Camp Crook where it will be installed in the Model Garage. The plant is large enough to supply current for the several business houses in Camp Crook, in addition to supplying the garage.

BUTTE COUNTY IS APPROACHING NO DEBT STATUS
$11,000 Payment November First Retires '37 Issue – Last of '28 Bonds Due in 1948
According to a statement coming from County Treasurer Carl Wiessner Tuesday, Butte county is approaching the no bonded indebtedness status – in fact, the county treasurer says that the county has virtually reached that stage, since the final bond payment next year on the last of the bonded debt of the county has already enough cash on hand to take care of the 1948 bond bill, which will be the last one on the books. On November first this year, the county will pay the final installment on the 1937 refunding bond series of $88,000. This payment will total $11,000 plus the interest bill. The last bond payment will come June first, next year. It will be for $26,000 on the 1928 bond issue, which was for $360,000. The permanent school fund indebtedness has been paid up. Twenty years ago, the bonded indebtedness of Butte county was past the three-quarter million mark, or $760,000. On November first, this year it will be only $26,000, and as tated above the sinking fund is already sufficient to meet the final 1948 payment.
MINNEAPOLIS BANKER WAS QUEST SPEAKER AT CHAMBER MEETING
While in Belle Fourche Tuesday noon, Charles C. Reiger, Minneapolis, Minn., vice-president of the Marquette National Bank, was a quest speaker at the

by Mary Buchholz

Chamber of Commerce meeting. Mr. Reiger, a former South Dakotan residing at Webster, in his remarks called attention to current national and international affairs, drawing parallel comparisons between economic and governmental events. He sounded several warnings to commercial interests "not to stick their necks out" during the present inflationary period and that a little conservatism in present business expansion would prevent extreme re-trenchment when today's inflationary situation had returned to a more normal basis. It was evident from his remarks that Mr. Reiger was an observing student of current happenings and their relation to governmental affairs.

STATE AND COUNTY OFFICERS RAIDED GAMBLING ROOM
Sunday night law enforcement officers from the state and county made a surprise raid on a city gambling room on Fifth Avenue North, and at the time some twelve persons were engaged in or watching the evening's card game. Hearing for the accused was held Wednesday morning in Justice J. G. Hartwell's court Art Cooper, defendant, was fined $25 and costs, and the equipment seized was ordered held for further investigation. The officers confiscated some gambling equipment, consisting of a card table and some chairs, together with over $113 in cash, and several racks of poker chips. The officials making the raid included State Agent Ray Dillavou, former deputy sheriff of Lawrence county, Sheriff Elmer Conner and Deputy Sheriff Maurice Cavin of Belle Fourche.

that, to his knowledge, while picking up, he never caused any injuries to a cowboy. He worked for Korkow Rodeo, Sutton Rodeo, Mossbrucker Rodeo, and for Burch Rodeo when they joined the PRCA. He still believes the reason he was able to pick up as long as he did was due to two things - good horses and the ability to read livestock.

When Jim and Louise were married, they opted to have a little jackpot roping with a pot-luck supper instead of a formal wedding reception. The roping was followed by a barn dance. It was all so much fun that they decided to do it again the next year. By then, they had added a bucking chute to their arena, so they included bronc riding in the mix. The year after, they bought and installed five chutes. That was the beginning of Wilson Rodeo, which ran for 10 years. It's pretty amazing to look back at the paperwork and see how many guys that rode broncs in the back yard went on to compete at the National Finals Rodeo.

In the mid 1980's, Jim purchased and learned to fly a Brantley B-2B helicopter. He loved flying and hunting coyotes with it. To this day, he comments on "good snow for hunting." The helicopter met its demise while being used to chase wild horses, but Jim survived to tell the story. Now, you can say you know of a guy that has survived helicopter, plane, train, automobile, motorcycle, and horse crashes. But those other crash stories are for another day.

Jim has always been very handy with both saddle horses and teams, and so, he enjoyed helping small local wagon trains for many years. He also ran a branding wagon in the Ridge, Montana area, where he would gather up the neighbors who traded help. They would head out with the wagons and brand for about a week. They usually branded about 4500 calves and traveled a distance of about 20 miles before they were done. It gave local ranchers young and old alike an opportunity to get a taste of what branding was like back when the West was a lot more wild. There are lots of stories from those days!

In 1989, Jim was selected to be the Carter County representative to help wrangle horses and trail cattle on the Montana Centennial Wagon Train from Roundup to Billings. He had the time of his life being involved with handling such a large number of horses and cattle. Later, he was part of the Powder River Wagon Train and Cattle Drive as the Horse Boss. It was a week-long destination vacation, on which they hosted anywhere from 25-80 guests from all over the world. In 2012, the final drive rolled out on that adventure and operations ceased, a victim of rising insurance costs and a lack of well-broke horses.

Another big adventure for Jim was going to Arizona to rope wild cattle. His comment was that there's nothing more exciting than dropping a loop on something that has never seen a human! He not only roped wild cattle, but he also roped most anything that moved, like deer or antelope, for the sport of it. He still carries 60 feet of rope just in case he needs a big loop or a long reach.

For the past 59 years, he has served as a local brand inspector for the State of Montana. He has always gone horseback and helped to gather, as he feels it gives him a better look at the cattle he is inspecting, and a chance to spot livestock that might be in the herd from neighboring ranches. That job is slowly being handed down to

How to Fix a Pipeline When Truth Springs a Leak

I hope your having a good week!
Mine wasn't going so well a few days ago. We had a water leak, creating a muddle in one of our sheds, some time back and when we got it found and patched, low and behold, we no longer had water in a tank and a couple hydrant. To quote Charlie Brown, "Rats!"

A neighbor came over the other day with his backhand trencher and we dug up the line to the tank and ran a new line to another water system. In the process we found rock. I mean ROCK! That will happen on occasion around this place. Nothing like up in the Black Hills where I imagine you are amazed when you don't find rock! But, we are out 60 miles from the Black Hills, and yes, we have sandstone outcroppings on the hill sides and along the creeks at times. But for some reason I am always startled when we find very much, underground, on the flats. By now you would have thought I would learn. Anyway, we got the big, numerous rocks, dug up and pounded a trench thru it and hooked onto the newer water line and Glory be, we again have water in the tank! (I haven't yet checked the two hydrants. I am scared to!)

Yup, it don't take a lot to make me happy. When things work as they should, I am pretty content. When they don't, I am puzzled, dismayed and on the fight. So.. it should come as no surprise when I watched a video this morning of the White Houses Press Secretary, when asked about the Strategic Oil Reserves being opened up, and the comment being made that the President had asked the oil companies to lower their prices, and "why would they be willing to do that?" To which the Press Secretary asked, "Why wouldn't they?" The reporter then said, "Because he is against producing oil" or some such. She then replied, "What makes you say that?" And the reporter than stated, "Because he said he wanted to cut oil production." Said it? Hell, it was one of the main things he ran on in the election!

Please forgive me for giving more details what went on next. I was too dumbfounded. Here is the person who is supposed to know everything about the administration or at least know how to answer any question she is asked, and she claims she doesn't know this? Has she been hiding under a rock? Or is she just a liar? Either way, she needs to be fired.

Could we not return to doing what we used to do, and hiring and promoting people who do not lie and do have enough intelligence to at least know what their bosses stand for? Kind of like someone who works at this paper saying, "I don't know what gets published in the paper!"

Here is a quote we all should embrace.. not sure who said it originally, but I think it's pretty spot on right now, "How about we let the adults be in charge and fix this mess."

Reminds me of a quote attributed to Albert Einstein. "The more I am around people, the more I like my dog!" And as Will Rogers used to say, "I don't make it up folks, I just read it in the papered report on it!"

Have a great week. And don't lie!

PROTECTING SOUTH DAKOTA KIDS

Legalizing marijuana will have these unintended adverse effects:

Increase in Teen Suicides
Marijuana-associated suicides in Colorado have more than doubled since legalization in 2013.

Increase in Human Trafficking
National media has exposed the human trafficking & black market activities in states with legalized marijuana.

Increase in Addiction
Marijuana and cannabis products are 10-to-40 times stronger than 40 years ago.

Increase in Teen Usage
Teen marijuana and cannabis usage has dramatically increased where marijuana is legal. Average age of first-time marijuana user is 14-years old.

Decrease in Social Justice
Legalizing marijuana hurts rather than helps underserved communities.

Decrease in Users' Physical Health
Marijuana users have seen an increase in heart attacks, and death rates are up to four-times higher than for non-users.

Increase in Poisoning
Legal cannabis sold as edibles increases poisoning in children and teens.

Increase in Auto Accidents
Traffic deaths in legal Colorado where drivers tested positive for marijuana increased 138%.

Increase in Workplace Accidents
Employees who tested positive for marijuana had 55% more industrial accidents, 85% more injuries, and 75% greater absenteeism.

Increase in Black Market
In 2021, legal cannabis sales were ~$25 billion while black market sales reached an estimated $75 to $80 billion.

Marijuana is not recreational, it is RECKLESS

“Building Main Street, not Wall Street”

Be Bold – The Time to Lead is Now!

Clayton Christiansen, a great business mind and Harvard Business School Dean once said, “The reason why it is so difficult for existing businesses to capitalize on disruptive innovations is that their processes and their business model that make them good at the existing business model actually make them bad at competing for the disruption.” When you couple this statement by Christiansen with an article I recently read in Forbes, you will have a recipe for disaster that is looming for many local communities.

The article in Forbes encouraged their readers to take advantage of shopping online via ecommerce. While it touted Amazon and their Wall Street friends, no reference of any local community was to be found. If this was a one-off piece, one could ignore it as an oversight, but unfortunately, that is not the case.

I’ve seen and read similar pieces in Bloomberg, Reuters, AP and countless other mainstream media sources, imploring readers to spend money with all their Wall Street cronies. Make no mistake, when I selected the column title, “Building Main Street, not Wall Street”, it was for a very distinct reason. Communities will have difficulty building Main Street while being pummeled by Wall Street. While intentional or not, Wall Street is coming after every dollar from your community they can get their hands on. The pressure from their shareholders is increasing. This ecommerce attack which is in its infancy will spell disaster for many local communities across the country.

Don’t think for one-minute big government with sweet-heart deals from Wall Street lobbyists will come to your rescue. As the lockdowns showed, by in large, local businesses were forced to shutter their doors while many of the Wall Street and corporately owned businesses were deemed essential and continued to stay open, and in most cases, thrive. The real kicker is many local governments blindly followed this path unknowingly destroying their local business base while becoming a major exporter of local dollars to Wall Street. Communities must view this as war, rest assured, your opponent on Wall Street does.

What can local communities do, in light of this ecommerce assault on their local base?

First, sustainable community initiatives need to be led from the top. Community leaders must lead, and they must act now. By community leaders, this means city leaders, business leaders, the chamber, civic clubs or organizations, media, and other city influencers. They need to convene a special meeting with ‘saving local businesses’ as the sole topic and begin to strategize their path forward for local business.

Secondly, leadership needs to come up with community wide initiatives to assist locally-owned businesses. At this point, it may prove difficult to enact something that is effective by the Christmas shopping season, but getting the process started is a must. Always remember, even if you fall a bit short, anything will help.

Thirdly, these initiatives should be employing year-round efforts, not just a token “Shop Small Saturday” or “Christmas Bucks” type of program. Those programs are a start, but won’t do a thing to build loyalty, habit, and long-term sustainable shopping patterns throughout your community. Think year-long promotions, incentives, games, contests, and so forth. This is where a solid partnership between local chambers, news-media companies, and business can create synergies and build foundational support.

Lastly, don’t be afraid to reach out for help. There are many communities that have done some outstanding things in support of their local business base. Most are more than willing to share their ideas and strategies. In fact, simply send me an email and I will provide many ideas, suggestions, and thoughts to get you started. The key to success is to get started. Commit your community to answer the battle cry and not succumb to inaction and lack of initiative. Anyone can lead during the good times; the mark of great leaders are those leaders that step-up during the tough times and lead. Six-time MVP Michael Jordon always wanted the ball when the game was on the line, he was willing to carry the team when they needed him the most. The role of community leadership is to provide that leadership during crunch time as well. The time has come to lead!

The Vore Buffalo Jump: A Local Archeological Treasure

In the late 1960s when the interstate highway was being constructed near the South Dakota Wyoming state line, some highway engineers became concerned. Something was wrong. The ground under the proposed highway was unstable.

To learn more about what the problem might be, soil tests were conducted. Core samples brought up bison bone, in fact, so much bison bone that archeologists from the University of Wyoming were invited to conduct excavations.

What the archeologists discovered during the summers of 1971 and 1972 was a natural sinkhole, with well-preserved bison bone deposits as well as other artifacts; a treasure trove of information.

Although bison jumps and traps are common in the area, the site known as the Vore Buffalo Jump (VBJ) is of special interest to archeologists and historians.

Because the VBJ is a sinkhole, and deeper than most other jumps in the area, artifacts have been unusually well preserved allowing archeologists to advance their understanding of the Native American cultures.

The sinkhole comprises hundreds of discrete layers of sediment, deposited annually. These layers, known as “varves” can be counted like tree rings and in combination with other dating methods, archeologists have been able to determine when each the first seven of the twenty-two bison jumps at the VBJ occurred.

Archeologists have been able to determine how many bison were killed in a mass hunt, something that hadn’t been possible at other bison jumps studied. Additionally, archaeologist have discovered bison skeletons that had not been butchered. There were occasions when more bison were killed than they could butcher before the meat spoiled. Evidence such as the remains of scavengers such as grizzly bear and wolf-dog hybrids, have been found in the hole. Among plains tribes, the bison hunts, almost all of which occurred in the fall, would provide food and supplies necessary to survive a winter. Anything that the hunters didn’t or couldn’t carry out remained in the sinkhole. Bison hides became clothing and shelter, bones were fashioned into tools, sinews, hooves and even brains had a purpose. Extra meat was dried, and often combined with chokecherries and bone marrow before being dried and preserved. The buffalo jump hunts took place before horses and guns were readily available to plains people. Those items began to populate the plains.

Although only about 10% of the Vore site has been excavated, 4 tons of bison bones and 22,000 artifacts have been collected. The repository for these treasures is at the Vore Collection at the University of Wyoming. Courtesy Photo

The Vore Buffalo Jump is located halfway between Sundance, Wyoming and Spearfish, South Dakota. From Belle Fourche, visitors can reach the site by traveling west on I-29 to exit 199. The VBJ is just three miles east on the access road and easily recognized from the signage. Courtesy Photo

In the absence of guns and horses here’s what the hunt might have looked like: A lone young man, (definitely someone who was athletic and could run fast) would act as a decoy disguised with a bison robe skin. The decoy might have placed himself between a herd of bison and the precipice of the jump. His job was to lure the bison toward the jump while other tribe members surrounded the herd on the back and flanks. When signaled by the decoy, the “flank team” would run after the bison to push them toward the decoy.

Participating in the bison jump must have been fast, exciting and especially terrifying for the decoy. To avoid being trampled to death, the decoy would have to find quick cover, or get out of the, as the thundering animals ran over him to their capture and demise below. As the bison landed in the pit, broken legs or other injuries rendered them immobile. Tribal members waiting below have killed any bison remaining alive using bows and arrows. Archaeologists estimate that from approximately 1500 to 1880 at least 4,000 bison were killed at the site. As evidenced by layers of excavated bison bone the site was used 22 times. About 225 bison were killed during a hunt, and subsequently butchered in the same area about the size of a basketball court.

The VBJ is located halfway between Sundance, Wyoming and Spearfish, South Dakota. From Belle Fourche, visitors can reach the site by traveling west on I-29 to exit 199. The VBJ is just three miles east on the access road and easily recognized from the signage. The site is open from June 1 through Labor Day. Guides take visitors through the site, which is handicapped accessible. Restrooms are available. School groups tours are welcome off-season.

The Vore Buffalo Jump is managed by an eight-member non-profit board. A seat on the board is reserved for a member of the Vore family, the original homesteaders of the land. When the significance of the site was realized, the Vore family donated the land to create the Vore Buffalo Jump Foundation (VBJF). Ted Vore, who lives in Belle Fourche serves on the board as treasurer.

A meeting of the VBJF is held every fall that is open to all VBJF members. Members are invited to attend, and those interested can become members prior to the meeting. The annual membership is $50; members are not charged admission for tours during the summer. A biannual newsletter is included. This year, the meeting is scheduled for October 29 at 10 AM at the VBJ. Tours of the site will be offered beginning at 9 AM.

Show Up

Time to find out where and when to Show Up this fall! Follow your favorite fine arts events in our community right here in the Beacon’s Fine Arts.

BFACT’s Vintage Hitchcock Radio Play, OCTOBER 29th, 7 PM, Venue 519: The show will take you to the “live” performance of a radio drama, complete with vintage commercials, sound effects, and multiple voices by individual actors. This show is perfect for Halloween weekend - a triple feature of the classic Hitchcock stories, The Lodger, Sabotage, and The 39 Steps. When I spoke to the director, Heather Pittman, this week she offered her behind-the-scenes insight: “This show is unlike anything we’ve performed before and probably something local audiences haven’t had a chance to experience. This is Hitchcock - so it’s serious suspense and drama but with his characteristic hint of flippant nonchalance.” And what does she think will be the most interesting part of the evening? “The second story especially is a masterwork of suspense that may leave the audience a bit shocked.”

Many past students and faculty at Belle Fourche Middle School will remember the amazing support and sincerity of local news reporter, Faye Kennedy. She encouraged the students and staff each year by covering the program in pictures and words that brought the whole community together. Her observations from the very first year allowed the young program participants to see their work through her insightful eyes.

“Kennedy’s Comments” – Belle Fourche Post & Bee By Faye L. Kennedy, November 1997

I would surmise there wasn’t an adult in the audience with dry eyes as the Belle Fourche Middle School brass played taps and the servicemen and women rose to their feet and stood at attention during the Middle School Veterans’ Day program, Nov. 11.

It has always been a puzzle to me why, on Veterans’ Day, the veterans put on the observance. I recall when the veterans, year after year served breakfast to a mass of people, 500 or more, on what was then called Armistice Day. If there was any type of ceremony or special speaker program, it was performed by the veterans. They made all the arrangements and did all the work.

This year that all changed when Middle School students honored the veterans at an exceptional program. This is the way it should have been over the many years.

Veterans gave up years of their lives, and some gave their lives to protect the freedoms we are blessed with today. Any tribute should be to them, not by them.

You hear today’s youth lack memorization ability. This was not obvious as the students recited several poems and sang history selections. All were done to perfection and with patriotic pride.

The chorus and band members’ renitions brought one’s patriotism to a new high.

The auditorium at Belle Fourche Area Community Center was packed with students and adults. The last announcement was that the students leave in quietude as an honor to those who served their country. You hear a pin drop as they filed from the auditorium.

Yes, things have changed. It was as it should be, and the tributes, coming from our youth, gave it special meaning.

The school, the teachers, coordinators, band and chorus directors are to be commended. “Excellent” was the comment most often heard from the adult audience.

The program gave one a feeling that is difficult to put into words. The best interpretation would be: The students portrayed what everyone was thinking – “I am proud to be an American.”

Lueders Food Centers carry The ORIGINAL Kimball Popcorn Ball.

The best and most unique popcorn balls available today are made in the heart of small-town America – Kimball, South Dakota. Their unique recipe has evolved into two deliciously inviting variations: original, honey (made with South Dakota honey) and caramel.

There is a legend that the popcorn ball is actually a product of the Nebraska weather. It supposedly invented itself during the "Year of the Striped Weather" which came between the years of the "Big Rain" and the "Great Heat" where the weather was both hot and rainy. There was a mile strip of scorching sunshine and then a mile strip of rain. On one farm, there were both kinds of weather. The sun shone on this cornfield until the corn began to pop, while the rain washed the syrup out of the sugarcane. The field was on a hill and the cornfield was in a valley. They syrup flowed down the hill into the popped corn and rolled it into great balls with some of them hundreds of feet high and looked like big tennis balls at a distance. You never see any of them now because the grasshoppers ate them all up in one day on July 21, 1874.

Life's Journey and Work in Progress

BISMARCK, N.D. – Local Newell resident David Ollila was asked to speak during the Saturday noon meal in Bismarck, N.D. on October 8 at the annual Steer, Inc. missions conference.

Ollila is well known for his knowledge in livestock, and soils, as well as teaching in the Newell school district as the ag instructor for many years.

Ollila was added as a South Dakota Soil Health Coalition staff member in March of 2020. He was the SDSU Extension Sheep Field Specialist for many years. He lives with his family near Newell where they raise sheep and manage a diverse crop and forage operation.

On this weekend in North Dakota, he was a little out of his element, but learned how to share one more facet of his life with those gathered for this luncheon, which included many Bismarck area locals, Steer, Inc. staff, and farmers and ranchers from the area.

Ollila share more about his personal and private life, but was willing to open up about his faith in Christ.

"It's a life journey and a work in progress," he said, as he spoke to the gathering. "I had to learn that God is bigger than all our tragedies, our losses and our failures. Evil doesn't win."

Ollila, along with his wife Holly and children Finn and Tate, and married son Ethan and his wife Amanda, shared a personal glimpse into how he has grown over the years in his walk. He credited some of the change to his mento and friend and "adopted family," Bruce Brunner and his wife Colleen.

"I had to learn that God works together for good for those who are called according to His purpose," said Ollila, quoting scripture. "Not to those who are ignoring His call and doing whatever they want. This can only be achieved through a loving relationship (with Christ)." Ollila said that in a God-less life, there's collateral damage, things that happen and events that people become involved in that aren't a good testimony.

"Moving forward from a performance driven life (old self) to a Gospel centered life, (new self), and submitting our will to God, He will redeem us, and transform us into heavenly creatures who are in harmony with Him."

Ollila said God offers grace and mercy, again and again and that he had to learn to submit to God's will, to lay down his own ideas about how life should be, his goals and ambitions, and anything he held at a higher priority than God.

"I learned that I will not necessarily see the 'good' in this life. This life is not all that there is. We are promised more through His resurrection."

From D1 Commission

In fact, he told the commission, the present loader is continually losing power.

"Repairs in the past would still barely make it go," he said.

"I don't think it's worth putting in another $15,000 to $20,000 in a 30-40 year old machine. There comes a time when a worn out machine gets replaced," said Wetz.

Youngberg questioned Parker if he kept maintenance records. Parker assured him that he kept them and they are accessible to any council member to see.

Commissioner Don Adams voiced his concerns that perhaps the commission was moving too fast. However, he said that waiting would probably not be best either.

A motion was made by Mayor Wetz and seconded by Adams. A roll call vote revealed Yes votes by Commissioners Adam and Tennis, Mayor Wetz and a Nay vote by Commission Youngberg.

Ordinance 01-2020 was repealed that established the "Municipality to pay advanced payments and claims that are due before a regular meeting" not to exceed $20,000. A new ordinance was put in place, Ordinance 09-2022, which changes the dollar amount for payments to $35,000. This allows the Finance Officer to pay bills in a more timely fashion.

Two bids were received for propane delivery to the town of Newell. Olson Propane submitted a quote for propane delivery from November 1, 2022 through April 30, 2023 for 6,000 gallons at a cost of $2.15 or posted cash price if lower. Enning Propane sent a quote of $1.60 per gallon. The Enning Propane quote was accepted.

Building permits were granted to Matilyn Oakes at 111 5th St and Tim Toavs on Amherst St.

Cara Muckridge, the student services advisor, Superintendent Andrew Fergen and board members Dusty Braun and Sara Brunner were all involved as well. Boom Concrete provided the concrete one they got to that phase. This part of the construction was getting on toward evening and little light as they were wrapping up the project.

The old equipment has been put on the surplus list and will be sold via silent auction on Wednesday, October 26 at 4 p.m. by the bus barn.

Kudos to those who worked hard all day long, to those who leaned on shovels (you know who you are) and those who came and went during the day as well as those who provided food and beverages for the workers.

the long weekend from Friday through Saturday night with many great speakers including Beth Guckeberger, author of "Throw the First Punch," Brad Buser, founder of Radius International, and Crawford Loritts, who holds many titles the most recent as former senior pastor of Fellowship Bible Church in Roswell, GA.

The Ollila's enjoyed rubbing shoulders and listening to many missionaries from around the world, serving in some of the most difficult areas. They plan to return to the conference in the future and maybe try to get some lamb on the menu for meals.

"We are thankful for the bounty in life that God always provides," said Ollila. But for his family, they will share the Great Commission, sharing God's Word and salvation with others.

Reub and I went to the Smorgasbord supper at the Rosebud Church last Sunday night and ate some really delicious food. When we had eaten way too much, we went up to Lester and Sharon Longwood's place after supper and joined Todd and Anna Buer, John and Corinne Erickson, and Duane Harris for Bible study.

Casey, Taz and Trig and a bunch of neighbors went to the Hackamore Monday morning to help Doug and Clint Doll sort off their steer calves to sell.

Reub's cousin, Joan (Lenerville) Schell from Longmont, Colorado, lost her husband Joel Schell, 85, on September 12. Joel's funeral was October 10th in Longmont. Joan and Joel both grew up in Reeder.

Seth Otis, age 45, passed away in Tempe, AZ. He is the son of Bill and Linda (Vroman) Otis. Services for Seth were held Thursday, October 20 at the Cornerstone Christian Center in Avondale, Arizona.

We lost a couple friends this week.

Wendell Earl Weaver, age 93 and formerly from Bison, died peacefully Sunday, October 16, 2022 at his home in Spearfish with his family by his side. Wendell's funeral services were held Monday, October 24 at the Fidler-Isburg Funeral Chapel in Spearfish with burial at the Rose Hill Cemetery.

E.R. "Woody" Penor, age 81 of McIntosh and formerly from Bison, passed away on Thursday, September 15, in Casa Grande, AZ. The Memorial Service is tentatively scheduled for Friday, November 4, at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in McIntosh with a time of fellowship and luncheon following. Burial will be at Rabbit Butte Cemetery south of Bison.

Reub and I went to Sturgis for Mary Lou Marty's funeral Tuesday afternoon and got to see a lot of old friends and family. I grew up with all five of the Marty kids and spent a lot of time on the Marty ranch when I was a kid. My father grew up with Bill and John Marty in the Slim Buttes and my grandfather was a good friend of their grandfather.

Before Mary Lou's funeral, we stopped to visit Reub's brother Doug at the hospital. Sandy Dan's wife Lorri was also in the Sturgis hospital and we visited her after we went out for lunch with Sandy Dan. Lorri has now been transferred to the Monument hospital in Rapid City, where she had surgery Sunday morning that went well.

Wednesday morning Doug Doll and Trig went to help Jim Evans ship calves and Dan, Ty and Jesse Hotchkiss also came to help. Patsy Wilkinson, Lori Besler and I quilted at the church that day and got more quilts sewed together. While I was gone Reub tilled three of my raised bed gardens with Knox watching because Knox loves farming and watching Grandpa Reub.

We went to Hettinger Thursday morning for Reub's appointment with Dr. Ackerman to get shots in his bad shoulder. Kellee (Clanton) Hollenbeck is Ackerman's nurse and Reub always has a good visit with the former Harding County girl. He asked if she knew about the fire near Billy Clanton's ranch and she did – she was actually at her brother's place while the fire was going!

I had a good visit with my old friend Allen McIntyre while I was waiting for Reub at the clinic. Back when Allen's father, Bill McIntyre, ran the KNDC radio station in Hettinger we used to listen to the radio every morning to hear the hospital report and their talk show, "This, That and The Other Thing", which was really entertaining! Bill McIntyre was a friend of my father, Bryce White, and they certainly told some interesting stories.

After we left the clinic, we ate lunch and then drove to Lemmon to visit Tony and Dorothy Holt at the nursing home. We got to play Bingo with Tony in the activity room while we were visiting and I even won once. While we were gone Olson Propane brought us another propane tank and dug the line from it to the new generator that James Sandgren set up for us so we won't lose electricity when the power goes off.

Jace and Kami Jenson brought Keen down Friday afternoon to stay at Taz and Amanda's house for a couple days while they attended a wedding. Taz and Amanda's kids sure have fun with their little cousin and Copper is really good at keeping watch over him.

Doug, Clint and Beau Doll, and Bill Holt came to help these guys sort off the heifer calves and haul them home to the lot up at the old place. Casey, Taz and Trig were working over there and Reub stayed here to open the gate for all the horse trailers that brought the heifers to the lot. Missy and Amanda cooked lunch for all of us after they got all the heifers hauled home.

Rosie Hotchkiss' parents, John and Alexandra Douglas came from Scotland to visit and they came to church Sunday morning with Ty and Rosie.

I just finished reading Jody (Shea) Kerzman's book, "Good News" and I highly recommend it. Jody is the daughter of Duane and JoAnn Shea and is a reporter on KFYY-TV in Bismarck, ND. I talked to Brock Greenfield this week and he let me know that he is coming up this way next week to put up some yard signs for his campaign for School and Public Lands commissioner. I served in the legislature with Brock and he is a good guy. Election Day is November 8, so don't forget to vote to save this nation. If you don't vote, you have no reason to complain if you don't like what the politicians are doing, both in the local elections and the national elections.

I'll leave you with these:

The Northwestern State Bank people started Monday to break ground for their bank building on the corner of Girard Ave. and 3rd Street. The basement will be completed this fall and if the season remains open considerable work will be done on the building this winter.

Drinking liquid from a bottle the contents of which he was ignorant, caused the death of Chris Anshutz, aged 39 years, at the home of a farmer south of here. Anshutz had gone down to the barn in the early morning and was in good health. He saw the bottle standing on a shelf and drank its contents. Nothing was thought of the act until a few hours later, when he commenced to show symptoms of a serious illness.

Messers' Ruff, Snyder and Jones of Nisland and Charles Yoder of Newell are bringing their horses to the Newell track this week on Friday and Saturday. They expect to pull off a few interesting races. The Nisland fellows, it is said, have a longing to beat that Aune mare and the prospects are good for some excitement at the race track this week. The track has been cleaned up and dragged in preparation for the coming of the races.

The Women's Club met with Mrs. C.A. Woods Thursday afternoon, October 5. The club is especially interested in the school's having hot lunches this winter. Both teachers and pupils need them. The ladies are busy sewing for a bazaar to be held soon. Wait and buy your aprons there. The Club will meet with Mrs. Alexander on Thursday afternoon, the 19th.

A "no conviction" term of Circuit Court closed in Buffalo last week with acquittal for Henry McCleny and Elmer Sankey in cattle theft charges and for Dudley Hanson on assault of a County Assessor. The Livingston Case in cattle stealing has been postponed until the next term of court.

One of the worst snow storms in many years swooped down in this section of the state Tuesday night and continued in all it's fury Wednesday, piling huge drifts in many cases over 6 feet high. A heavy fog or mist on Tuesday covered the ground and sidewalks and a drop in temperature the mist froze on windshields and made traveling hazardous. Fears were felt for many stockmen who were reported as being on the trail with either sheep or cattle. Reports are some cattle loss but sheep are dead, piled up in draws.

Elmer Milberg, manager of the local Gamble Store, was high bidder for the stock in the J.J. Christian Store; however, before possession is given the sale must have been approved by the probate court at a hearing to be held within a few days. Five bids were filed with S.D. Buchholz, Executor of the Christian Estate for the stock of new and secondhand goods. Bids offered on the building were all so far below the appraisalment that none of them were considered. Mr. Milberg informs us it is his intension to offer the greater part of the good at public auction sale at an early date.

Mr. & Mrs. Livingston Edward took their son Alan to Rapid City Wednesday to place him under Doctor's care for a badly infected throat. Mr. & Mrs. Howard Kinghorn took their youngest daughter, Shirley also to Rapid City last Friday where a tonsillectomy was performed on her Saturday morning. They returned home Monday.

Funeral services of Charles Sterling Russell, 40-year-old Sulphur rancher who died of polio last Thursday at Hot springs, were conducted from the First Congregational Church in Newell. The progressive and popular Sulphur rancher had been ill for but a few days before entering the West River Crippled Children's Hospital & Polio Center at Hot Springs the previous week, suffering from what was believed bulbar polio. Russell was born, April 26, 1912 in Butte County and lived his entire life here. Residents from over a wide area of Butte, Meade and Perkins Counties attended the services, and most businesses were closed in his honor. It was described as the largest attended service ever witnessed in Newell.

The first Western Jr. Home Economics Show held in connection with the Western Calf Show at Rapid City included judging of a wide variety of ready-to-wear school clothes. Mona Fields, Newell entered all contests but the dairy demonstration and rated red in each division. Diane Greenwalt, Nisland, entered only in the bread demonstration and rated red. The livestock judging team was Mona and Nina Donahey, Kathy Swan, Bruce and Gary Gottfredson, Cliff Crago and Dwight Knuteson who all won blue ribbons.

Leroy Teal, local farm laborer, was assessed a fine of $5.00 and costs, when arraigned on a public intoxication charge before Newell Magistrate Harry Cunningham. He was also ordered to either leave town with his family or straighten up to become a law-abiding citizen. Teal and his wife and mother-in-law were apprehended by City Police Chief Don Moore and Deputy Everet Munroe on the charges Thursday afternoon.

Dogs which have been following children to the Newell Schools and creating disturbances there recently will no longer be tolerated on the school grounds, Newell City Police Don Moore warned this week. City Ordinance which requires licensing of dogs also prohibits dogs from running-at-large. As a result all dogs straying to the school yards will be picked up, held in impoundment for 2 days and will then be promptly destroyed. Besides claiming dogs from the police, owners will also have to pay holding charges of $3.00 per day.

Nisland Park Benches; A Long Journey

Judy Dague
Contributing Author

The idea of park benches for the Town of Nisland came to life during a fundraising event the Fall of 2020 while several of the Nisland Arpan Fire and Rescue auxiliary women were together at the Nisland Fire Hall. Tracy Seieroe, a Nisland resident, has wanted to see a park bench in front of the Nisland VFW Hall for several years now, not only for others to enjoy, but a place to rest while she weeds the flower gardens at the hall. The Newell Improvement Corporation, which I was a grant writer for at the time, had held a monthly meeting where we talked about doing projects in the neighboring communities of Nisland and Vale to do improvements in those towns too, as well as Newell. While the Newell splash pad project was on hold waiting for a plumber to install the water lines, the Newell Improvement Corporation members could be working on other things.

Tracy Seieroe attended a Nisland Town Council monthly meeting to get approval in January 2021; I attended the February meeting to confirm they wanted park benches and determine who would install them. The town board was pleased at the prospect of this donation to their community and had some folks speak up to volunteer their labor.

I solicited several corporations to fund the park bench project and received notice that there has been an overwhelming request for donations and that they would not be able to fund this project at this time. I decided I would donate a park bench on behalf of my insurance agency, Northstar Insurance LLC. Pioneer Bank and Trust in Belle Fourche decided they would donate for the other park bench in April 2021. Runnings in Belle Fourche offered to cover the shipping charges.

The park benches were ordered through U-Line Company that delivers to Runnings in Belle Fourche, which ended up taking six weeks for the benches to be manufactured due to the covid19 pandemic. The shipping cost for those two benches cost as much as one of the benches! I delivered the benches prior to a Nisland Town Council meeting and council members packed the boxes one by one inside to be stored in the VFW Hall until the volunteers could assemble and install these benches. Due to volunteer coordination issues, the Town of Nisland ended up hiring a contractor for some concrete work elsewhere in town, who said he would fit it into his schedule to do the assembly and install of the benches.

It was August 2022 when Paula Heidrich from the Town of Nisland called to say the contractor had arrived so I could get pictures of the contractor placing the first bench near the VFW Hall flower garden. The town council decided the second bench should go near the basketball court behind the VFW Hall. It was September 2022 before the concrete work to anchor the benches was completed.

The plaques were done by JJ's Engraving LLC in Rapid City to give credit and thanks to the park bench sponsors Runnings of Belle Fourche, Pioneer Bank and Trust of Belle Fourche, and Northstar Insurance LLC of Nisland. The engraver JJ's did a beautiful job and had them done within three days of ordering, the cost of the plaques was donated by Northstar Insurance LLC.

I am so glad this project is done! Now time for a sit on a park bench!

Another Gator Victory

NEWELL – Newell Lady Gators hosted the Takini Skyhawks on Monday, October 17 in Austin Auditorium and came away with a win to keep the streak alive. They took their opponents down in three quick sets.

To give credit, the Skyhawks worked hard against the Irrigators, but Newell's head coach, Tysha McDonald started and played some of her second string a good chunk of the game.

Kelsi Clements started the game and during her first time serving racked up 10 points in a row with the help of her teammates. That gave the first set to the Irrigators, 25-6.

Takini came back in the second game to fare a bit better as Newell saw several served goes beyond the out of bounds. The Gator's allowed Takini to stick with them but still took the second match 25-22.

Things pretty much all went the home team's way during the third and final set as Taylor Gaer pounded down ace after ace in two different times at the line. The other serves allowed Megan Jackson and Jaelyn Wendt the chance for some hard kills and great blocks. Clements, BeJae Tesch and Stacy Mahaffy all got playing time, as did Sophia Johnston. Kaira Stomprud kept things lively as the Libero zipped in and out of the game to keep the Skyhawks on their toes. It was all for naught though, as Newell took the third set 25-11, and the game 3-0.
